1963 REGULAR SESSION

SENATE DAILY JOURNAL

FIRST LEGISLATIVE DAY

FIRST CALENDAR DAY

IN SENATE

Monday, January 7, 1963

The hour of 12 o'clock m. having arrived, Hon. Glenn M. Anderson, President of the Senate, in accordance with Article IV, Section 2, of the Constitution of the State of California, called the Senators to order and announced that the 1963 Regular Session of the Legislature of the State of California was about to convene, and informed the Senators that the Officers of the Senate during the 1961 Regular Session of the Legislature, J. A. Beek, Secretary; John F. Lea, Minute Clerk; and Percy H. Kenealy, Sergeant at Arms, were in their respective places in the Senate Chamber as required by Section 9150 of the Government Code.

PRAYER

By invitation of the President, the following prayer was offered by Rev. Father Keith Kenny, of the Catholic Youth Organization, Sacramento Diocese.

Almighty and Eternal Lord, whose bounteous hand has so magnanimously endowed our State with breathless beauty and verdant fertility, we beg Thee to be equally generous in endowing those called to guide this sovereign State to her destiny.

Today, this legislative body once again is assembled to be about the business of state. Make us ever mindful, O God, of our responsibilities here, for more than ever before we need Your guidance and Your assistance now, as the eyes of the world behold us today, the greatest State of the greatest nation in the world of the free. As this Senate goes now, so marches the world.

Give us then far-sighted wisdom, a keen sense of justice, unfaltering courage, tireless dedication, and complete humility; so that in all our deliberations, we will ever be the true servants of the peoples of this State, diverse in ethnic origin, in language, and in creed, but free Californians all.

Lord, bless this Senate, our Governor, this Legislature, these mountains, valleys and shores, this people, this California. AMEN.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG

Senate Arnold led the Senate in the pledging of allegiance to the Flag.

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

In order to avoid unanticipated reversions of appropriations for contingent expenses, the Senate Committee on Rules may designate the appropriation from which payment shall be made pursuant to allocations to interim committees or for other purposes. Right to Address the Senate

37. No person other than a Member of the Senate or the President thereof, shall address the Senate while it is in session but the Senate may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole and while sitting as such committee may be addressed by persons other than members.

Questions and MotionsAmendments to Bills

38. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee or offered from the floor, such amendments shall be submitted in quadruplicate.

Adoption of amendments to any bill in the Senate prior to third reading, other than by roll call, shall not preclude subsequent consideration in committee or on the third reading of the bill, of such amendments or any part thereof by the Senate.

Motion to Lay on the Table

39. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

Division of a Question

40. If a question in debate contains more than one distinct proposition, any Senator may have the same divided.

The Previous Question

41. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall require a majority vote of the Senators present; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendment shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote.

Call of the Senate

42. Upon a motion being carried for a call of the Senate, the President shall immediately order the doors to be closed, and shall direct the Secretary to call the names of the absentees as disclosed by the last previous roll call. Thereupon, no members shall be permitted to leave the Senate Chamber except by written permission of the President pro Tempore or in his absence of the presiding officer. Those members who are found to be absent and for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear, or may be sent for and then taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms whenever found, or by special messenger to be appointed for that purpose. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a roll call of the Senate and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided.

A call of the Senate may be ordered after the roll has been called and prior to the announcement of the vote.

No recess can be taken during a call of the Senate. During a call, the Senate may consider and transact any matter or business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had during a call of the Senate, except that during a call which was ordered for the purpose of procuring sufficient attendance for the conduct of business of the Senate in general and not for any other purpose, such call may be made to apply also to not more than one item of business by motion made and adopted by a majority vote of the members present after the roll has been called and prior to the announcement of the vote on such item of business. Under such circumstances, when the call of the Senate is dispensed with as to the item of business to which it is so applied it shall be deemed dispensed with as to the purpose for which it was originally made. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the announcement of the vote upon the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business, the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

Reconsideration

43. On the day on which a vote has been taken on any question a motion to reconsider the vote may be made by any member.

The motion may be considered on the day made or on the succeeding legislative day but may not be further postponed without the concurrence of 27 members.

No vote on a Senate bill may be reconsidered on or after the last day fixed for the consideration of Senate bills prior to adjournment and no vote may be reconsidered on the last day of the session.

When reconsideration of the vote by which any bill was passed has been demanded the Secretary shall not transmit it to the Assembly until the demand has been disposed of or the time for reconsideration has expired, but if the bill has already been transmitted to the Assembly the demand for reconsideration shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the bill. This motion shall be put to a vote immediately without debate and if not adopted shall preclude a demand for reconsideration.

A demand to reconsider the vote on any debatable question opens the main question to debate and the vote on the reconsideration shall be on the merits of such main question.

Voting by Senate

Rescinding

43.5. No action whereby a bill has been passed or defeated may be rescinded without the concurrence of 27 members.

Voting on Roll Call

The names of members shall be called alphabetically.

No Senator shall be permitted to vote or change his vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excused From Voting

45. When a Senator declines or fails to vote on call of his name he may, after completion of the roll call, and before the announcement of the vote be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which question shall be decided without debate. Unless the Senator is excused from voting he shall be required to vote.

Voting by Presiding Senator

46. When the President pro Tempore or any other Member of the Senate is presiding over the Senate he shall vote on roll call the same as though he were not presiding.

CALIFORNIA STATE PERSONNEL BOARD
801 CAPITOL AVENUE, SACRAMENTO
November 29, 1962

Edmund G. Brown
Governor of California and Members of the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California

GENTLEMEN: The State Personnel Board, in accordance with Government Code Section 18712, submits this report on matters relating to civil service personnel under the jurisdiction of the Personnel Board.

The Legislature, in delegating to the Personnel Board the authority to set and adjust salary ranges for civil service employees, has directed the Personnel Board to: (a) consider proper internal salary relationships between state classes; (b) consider the salaries for comparable service in private employment and in other governmental agencies; and (c) keep expenditures for salary adjustments within the appropriation limits provided by the Legislature (Government Code Section 18850).

The following summarizes the salary situation:

1. On December 15, 1961, the board, in its report to the Governor and the Legislature, recommended that funds be appropriated sufficient to (a) provide a 5 percent general increase for practically all state employees to be effective January 1, 1962, and (b) meet the need for special salary adjustments.
2. The Legislature appropriated funds for a 6 percent general increase effective April 1, 1962, for state employees whose salaries did not exceed $15,000. The Legislature increased this limit on July 1, 1962, from $15,000 to $19,800.
3. Special salary adjustment funds were appropriated in the amount of $2,625,000 from the General Fund with commensurate amounts from the special funds, including provision for the Highway Patrol classes. This appropriation fell substantially short of meeting the inequity adjustment needs reported by the Personnel Board of $8,770,000 from the General Fund and commensurate amounts from special funds.
4. Special salary adjustments were granted in July, 1962 and following for employees in those classes in which the need for such adjustments was most urgent. The need for numerous additional adjustments remained unmet.
5. Surveys of industry salaries conducted by the Personnel Board in October, 1962 showed that the salaries of state employees were approximately 2.4 percent behind their industry counterparts in the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas. If the present trend in salary increases continues in industry, the salaries for a large number of state occupational groups will be 5 percent or more behind industry salaries paid in Los Angeles and San Francisco by July, 1963.
6. Most local governmental agencies and the federal government have increased salaries during the 1962-63 fiscal year. A comparison of the salaries of the 24 percent of state employees in governmental type classes whose counterparts are found only in these other public agencies indicates that a large number of these state classes have fallen behind their counterparts in the other large jurisdictions.
7. Survey data support a one-step salary increase for about one-quarter of state employees, two-step adjustments for about one-half of state employees and no increase for about one-quarter of state employees.
8. The largest group of employees for whom salary increases are not currently supported are those in clerical classes. Special adjustments for these classes in recent years to meet rates paid by other employers have established state clerical salaries at a level equal to or above those paid in private industry and by other public jurisdictions. It is unlikely that salary increases will be supported for most clerical classes by July, 1963.
9. A large number of employees for which two-step adjustments are required results from the fact that funds appropriated for inequity adjustments in fiscal year 1962-63 fell substantially short of meeting the inequity adjustment needs reported by the Personnel Board.
10. In addition to the improvement in the salary structure for psychiatric technician classes to be effective on January 1, 1963, the recommendation for salary increase funds for the 1963-64 fiscal year includes sufficient funds to provide an additional two-step increase for these classes. The two-step adjustment is being recommended to avoid increasing the salary differential between psychiatric technicians and correctional officers, with the expectation that duties of a custodial, clerical or nonpatient care nature will be eliminated from the psychiatric technician series. Employees in the psychiatric technician series represent about one-fourth of the employees for which two-step salary adjustments are being recommended.

Based on these considerations, the following recommendation for salary increase funds for fiscal year 1963-64 is submitted. The recommendation provides only for civil service employees. The cost of retirement contributions has not been included. Estimates of salary increase needs for employees of the University of California and the State College System, and other exempt employees are not included.

The estimated total cost of salary adjustments recommended for the 1963-64 fiscal year will be $23,400,000 from the General Fund and $20,800,000 from special funds. To provide a two-step increase for the psychiatric technician classes, $5,400,000 is included in the General Fund estimate to avoid increasing the salary differential between these classes and correctional officers.

Salaries paid to department heads in the California state service lag far behind those for comparable positions in industry, the State of New York and major California local jurisdictions. A critical problem of compaction in exempt and civil services salaries has resulted from the inadequacy of the statutory salaries of top state executives. In order to compensate top executives commensurate with their responsibilities and to relieve the current compaction problem, state statutory salaries need to be increased.

In addition to information on salaries, this report covers some of the important problems and aspects of personnel management in state service, which may be summarized as follows:

1. Difficult recruiting problems continue, especially for technical and professional groups such as engineers, nurses, auditors, librarians, psychologists, teachers, psychiatrists, and social, psychiatric, and correctional case workers. To improve its recruiting efforts, the Personnel Board has continued its affirmative steps to protect the principle of recruitment and hiring on merit alone by eliminating unfair discrimination wherever it appears, and by utilizing all sources of qualified personnel without regard to race, religion, age, sex, politics, or immaterial physical handicaps. Funds appropriated by the Legislature have enabled the Personnel Board to inaugurate a program to further the utilization of handicapped persons in the state civil service.
2. Legislation providing state sponsorship of a program for medical and hospital coverage for state employees and the coordination of the State Retirement System with the Federal OASDI System has resulted in significant improvement in the State's employee benefit package. To maintain a balanced employee benefits program comparable to programs in private industry and other public jurisdictions, however, there is evidence of the need for further improvements in the State's employee benefits. Some of the needed improvements discussed in the report are provision of premium pay for overtime, vacation credits on a graduated scale related to length of service, inclusion of major medical benefits in the health insurance plan and increase of the state contribution to this plan.
3. The principal training activities of the Personnel Board during the past year included a management development program, specialized training, agency training programs, supervisory training, and driver safety training.
4. The first year's experience with the formal system for adjusting employee grievances within state departments and the Personnel Board's adoption of rules relating to the administration of employer-employee relations in state service are discussed in this report.
5. The responsibility for taking disciplinary actions rests with the operating departments with the right of appeal to the Personnel Board. The actions taken are summarized in this report.

Respectfully submitted,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by this Grand Jury of the County of Sonoma for the 1961-62 term that review is urged to be made by the Congress of the United States and Legislature of the State of California of present legislation and national and state administration in the welfare field with the object of reducing federal and state regulation and administration rules and details to a minimum in order to relieve the costly administration with which public welfare programs are now burdened; and freedom be allowed to the local agencies such as unlimited use of money management as an alternate to direct payment aid, particularly in the field of Aid to Needy Children, as a means of reducing waste and abuse within the programs.

Thank you Senator Burns:

Governor Brown, United States Senator Claiborne, Fellow Constitutional Officers, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Speaker pro Tem, Chief Justice Gibson, Members of the Legislature, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Twenty years ago I was first sworn in here at the Capitol as a State Legislator on a similar occasion—although I don't believe the sun was shining so brightly as it is here today. The years between have been filled with many happy, exciting, and nostalgic memories—memories of challenges—challenges seemingly becoming larger and larger, year by year, as our State and nation grew, as our society became more and more complex—more demanding. And yet, year by year we have witnessed even greater progress, as our State pushes ever forward.

At no time during these twenty years have we seen a greater demonstration of decision, of achievement—than during the past four years under the leadership of Governor Pat Brown.

I remember during my inaugural remarks following the Governor's address four years ago that I predicted his administration would come to be identified as, "the one that drew New Lines of Vision, New Goals for a Greater California."

You will remember, Governor Brown stated that his administration would never stay on "dead center," nor would it blindly stumble, but would always move forward meeting each crisis head-on.

Well, this is what we in California have witnessed these past four years: An administration that has moved forward boldly, meeting each crisis head-on. I don't have to relate the record: The Master Plan for Higher Education, sound fiscal responsibility, the California Water Program, the Civil Rights Program, all in all, a humane and just administration. It has been, without doubt, the greatest era of achievement in California's history.

I am proud of whatever part I have been able to take in these achievements. I know of the great teamwork demonstrated by our legislators: the Assemblymen, their leaders; the Senators, their leaders; together with the Constitutional Officers of the State—all under the decisive, determined, and aggressive drive of our great Governor.

So much for the past.

I'm sure when we hear the Inaugural Address that Governor Brown is about to give, that it will give us the feeling that although we have witnessed a glorious four years of accomplishment—that this is actually the beginning, the real beginning of the Golden Era of California.

An era of increased business and prosperity;

An era of confidence;

An era of greater building and greater growth.

All this toned with a new emphasis, a new cultural setting, blended with California's splendid tradition and history of the past.

It is with pride that I give you California's great Governor—Edmund G. "Pat" Brown.

ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR

INAUGURAL MESSAGE TO THE CALIFORNIA STATE LEGISLATURE

By

EDMUND G. BROWN, Governor

Delivered to the Senate and Assembly in Joint Session, January 7, 1963

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, fellow constitutional officers, members of the Legislature, my fellow Californians:

Since we met here four years ago, many historic changes have taken place in this growing, golden state. First among them is California's emergence as the largest of the 50 states of the union. The western rim of a continent, which a century ago was as much legend as land to a handful of pioneers, now assumes the role of leader on that continent.

Leadership is never an unmixing blessing. I know there are those among us who yearn for things as they used to be, or at least as we see them now through the haze of memory. Who does not sometimes share a longing for the day when the only cars on the silver hills of my native San Francisco were cable cars? Who did not mourn the passing of a San Diego youngster's lizard preserve?

But nostalgia has never been a way of life for Californians.

We have always been pioneers and sons of pioneers, a vigorous, dynamic people who respect tradition, but scorn the status quo.

Through the turmoil of change, and sometimes chaos, Californians have pressed on toward the good society—not for the few, not for the many, but for all.

Offered chances to lie at anchor, we have chosen full sail. Offered comfort, we have chosen challenge. Offered leisure, we have chosen the extra effort that meets not only present but future needs.

In the spirit of California's history then, we are here today to bear a lantern for the future, not carry a torch for the past.

We are here to prove that a civilization which can create a machine to fulfill a job can create a job to fulfill a man.

The world now looks to California as a beachhead on the future, with all the future's promises—and perils.

You and I are here to help realize the promises and to diminish the perils.

The last four years have demonstrated that we have resolve and resources in abundance.

Under the banner of responsible liberalism, we have moved strongly and confidently.

The California Water Project, which once threatened to divide our state, now unites it.

We are on schedule with a bold program to duplicate in ten short years a tuition-free system of higher education which already is the best in the world.

Our public schools have begun shoring up their curricula to meet the stern demands of an age in which the only public cost greater than education is ignorance.

Men and women of all races are guaranteed equal access to jobs under a law you and I wrote together four years ago.

We have new master plans not only for education but for highways and parks, hospitals and mental health clinics.

Our social welfare programs place new emphasis on the principle that those receiving public assistance want a chance for honest work, not government charity for life.

Our social insurance programs for the unemployed, sick and injured, have been returned to their earlier proud position in the vanguard of the states.

The economy which supports all these programs, and is, in turn, supported by them, leads the Nation.

In the last four years we have created more new jobs in more new enterprises than any other state. Our personal income has risen far faster than that in the rest of the Nation. And our leadership in research and the technology of the new space industry is measured by the envy of other great states which failed to make the public investments in education, water, highways, recreation and other government services which nourish and sustain our leadership.

Let me underscore that all this has been done with sound, prudent financing. Fiscal responsibility has been, and must continue to be, our first concern.

My annual budget message will be delivered to you later this month, but I assure you now that once again it will be balanced; that it will call for tax reforms but no new or higher taxes; and that it will honor my pledge to seek elimination of income taxes for families of four or more now earning less than $5,700 a year.

I list these achievements not out of complacency, but as a reminder that we have reason to be confident of our ability to build and advance together.

The tasks of the last four years have not been easy, but the years ahead offer no easier problems or simpler solutions. And from this inaugural vantage point, it seems to me that the very accomplishments of the past may obscure the difficulty of the tasks ahead.

In 1959, there was a great and growing consensus on our highest priority problems and their solutions.

We differed on details, but most Californians agreed then that we needed more revenues, a state water plan, a fair employment practices act—and a good many other things now achieved.

With the old priorities behind us, however, I am not certain that we have reached a similar community of understanding, a comparable consensus on the new priorities before us.

Progress now, more than before, calls for bold, controversial leadership.

Let me say now that I intend to offer such leadership. And I therefore will invite and expect disagreement, not for its own sake, but for the health of our commonwealth.

When there is no consensus, only urgency, I will speak out.

I will not seek controversy, but I will not fear it.

My concern is not with personal prestige, but with public progress.

My concern is not with special interests, but with the general interest.

If members of this legislature or the citizens of California disagree, I will respect that disagreement, but I will continue to press the issue toward consensus and resolution.

The legislative process not only achieves, it educates. Let you and me and the people of California learn from one another by speaking out of the fullness of our experience and conviction.

The greater the debate, the more thorough the education, and the more effective the workings of our democratic process.

I will now indicate, briefly, the principal areas of challenge and my proposals for resolving those challenges. The details will be spelled out in subsequent special messages and specific legislation I will submit to you in the near future.

I.

Again, as in the past, I assign first priority to public education, with the emphasis on primary and secondary schools.

No other major state can claim a higher percentage of college graduates or a lower percentage of high school drop-outs, yet the shocking fact remains that one in four of our children does not finish high school. We clearly still have a tremendous task ahead of us.

Perhaps the most crucial area of reform, and the most difficult, is in the method of financing public education.

Too many taxpayers in too many districts now bear a disproportionate burden of school costs. We must legislate further means of tax equalization. I will again recommend to you enactment of a county-wide equalization formula, and propose, further, that all new state funds for education go into equalization rather than basic assistance. The state, using its broader tax base, should help ease the property taxpayers' burden, and I pledge that we will provide substantial new state contributions in the forthcoming budget.

Next, to guarantee that we do not train our young men and women for occupations that may no longer exist after they graduate, we must overhaul our entire system of vocational training, adding a new and higher level of technological instruction.

Many vocational courses have not been changed in 20 or 30 years and are wasteful of both parents' dollars and students' time. Updating of such courses will reduce drop-outs and guarantee our youth a greater degree of job security.

For those who already have left high school without graduating, I propose a pilot youth conservation work program which will combine outdoor work with an opportunity for additional education.

We must also give special attention to children who live in an economic atmosphere hostile to learning. Too often the rate of accomplishment in low income area schools is far below what it could be.

We must assume responsibility for helping local districts develop special assistance programs for the culturally disadvantaged in both urban and rural settings.

I will also ask you to approve funds to improve library services throughout the state, and I will submit legislation to create a state-wide educational television network. The latter is an urgent need, particularly in meeting the requirement that all public schools begin teaching a foreign language in the school year of 1965.

II.

Despite our achievements of the past four years, there is another area in which action is critically needed. With nearly 90 of every 100 Californians today living in a city or a suburb, it is clear that our state can only be as healthy and strong as our cities.

I therefore propose that we give a high priority for action in the next four years to those problems which state government shares with government at the local level.

Until recent years, Americans were free to push west and build new cities when the old became too crowded or too blighted. But California is the last frontier. It is here or nowhere, now or never, that men will stand up to the challenge of the city.

As we move to meet the challenge, let us remember that cities are not civic centers or planning maps, but men, women and children. It is not the city that suffers from smog but people.

It is not the city that is cheated of a full, rich life by slums, it is the people who live in the city.

Many local governments in California are moving with imagination and vigor to meet the challenge of the city.

Where they fail, the reason often can be summed up in three words: Too much government. Overlapping agencies of government breed waste and inefficiency as surely as slums breed crime. Yet there is no law to curb such abuses of home rule as the formation of cities solely to avoid taxes on industrial property. Therefore, I urge you to enact laws to end the haphazard formation of new cities and service districts.

I ask you again to approve legislation under which units of local government would join to provide various services on a regional basis.

To lead fuller lives, urban citizens need fast, safe transportation to and from work. Three San Francisco Bay area counties have approved a rapid transit system which will set the pace for the entire nation. The Metropolitan Transit Authority of Los Angeles has completed plans for a 58-mile rapid transit system to serve that area. During this session, the MTA will ask for changes in its enabling act to permit a limited taxing power to clear the way for construction. I have studied the proposal and find it sound. I urge you to approve it. The people of Los Angeles need it.

The people of our cities need sound land planning to protect neighborhoods, encourage industrial growth and preserve open space. Most local governments now have master plans but they stop at the county line. I urge you to enact laws which will encourage regional planning.

Under present laws, city governments often pay bonus prices for new schools, roads, parks and sewage systems because a minority of voters have the power to block approval of bond issues. I urge that you take steps to cut the affirmative votes needed to pass a locally-sponsored bond issue from 66 $\frac{2}{3}$ per cent to 60 per cent.

Decent housing is fundamental to decent cities. During the next 18 years, California must build more than 5,000,000 residential units to provide adequate housing for our growing population.

The Governor's Advisory Commission on Housing Problems will release a report soon which documents disturbing trends in California housing, and offers concrete proposals for reversing those trends. I urge you to study the report. I will send you a separate message asking for specific action at a later date.

III.

We will reach the ambitious goals we have set for ourselves only if we exploit to the fullest our economic potential. In order to achieve full employment, we must accelerate our efforts to attract new industries; to maintain a secure and skillful work force; create new foreign and domestic markets for the products of our farms and factories, and maintain our first rank in tourism.

To this end, I propose creation of the Office of California Development which will combine the present functions of the Economic Development Agency and the World Trade Authority and undertake new efforts to promote California tourism, both in this country and abroad.

Development of the European Common Market, and the opportunities and perils it poses for California agriculture and industry, require that we extend and expand our efforts to win new markets. Tourism, already one of California's major industries, will similarly benefit from central planning and direction.

To prepare the work force for our rapidly shifting technology, I propose that our present Committee on Automation and Technological Developments be given statutory recognition as a full commission.

Its labors can, and will, insure that higher productivity does not mean a lower standard of living. It would determine the new skills we will need in the future to insure that California's work force remains equal to the demands of the space age.

I believe, too, that we must increase social insurance minimums, and move more vigorously to retrain the disabled worker as well as the worker displaced by automation.

To this end, I will propose a grouping and expansion of all vocational rehabilitation functions in state government in the single department in the Health and Welfare Agency.

IV.

As in so many fields of government, California is pioneering new methods of treatment for the mentally ill, our number one health problem. I ask you today to extend the programs under which we have reduced the number of mentally ill in our hospitals and increased the number of patients who are able to live useful productive lives in their own communities.

To that end, I will submit legislation to increase the state's contribution to new local mental health programs under the Short-Doyle Act from the present 50 per cent to 75 per cent.

California also pioneers in welfare programs. During the first term of this administration, new emphasis was placed on rehabilitation of people on government assistance and the results are gratifying. I anticipate major recommendations for further changes in the content and administration of our welfare programs in the final report of the Governor's Commission on Social Welfare Problems. I will submit a special message dealing with those recommendations after I have analyzed the report.

V.

Four years ago, we created the Office of Consumer Counsel to protect the public from fraud and other abuses in the market place. It has been an effective guardian of the public interest.

But important areas remain in which the legislative process can be brought to bear to give the consumer still further protections.

It is my personal conviction that present statutes governing interest rates are obsolete—that the public pays too high an interest premium. Many home owners lose, rather than gain, by early repayment of loans. I believe maximum interest rates for charge accounts and other loans are also excessive and I urge that you re-examine existing law in this field.

I am equally convinced that the cost of natural gas is too high and that we have a responsibility to implement demands for lower rates.

We must also address ourselves to reforms in the savings and loan industry.

We must apply greater control both to the issuance of charters and to the operating practices of savings and loan associations.

VI.

California is the most beautiful state in this nation. Because we hold this resource in trust for the future, it is not ours to conserve or squander as we see fit. I propose several steps to make sure we are not as reckless with this asset in the future as we have been in the past.

When a man throws an empty cigarette package from an automobile in California, he is liable to a fine of $50. When a man throws a billboard across a view, he is liable to be richly rewarded. I believe that litter and clutter can both destroy beauty. I ask you, therefore, to apply strict controls on the placement of billboards. This one step alone will produce great dividends in scenic beauty which is now hidden from the people.

Winston Churchill has said: "We shape our buildings and then our buildings shape us." If this were literally true, the people of California in this generation would be a curious collection. I do not believe good design and economy are incompatible. I do believe the State of California must take the lead in a campaign to improve the quality of architecture in this state, both public and private.

I intend to insist on the highest quality of design for state buildings and I urge your cooperation toward that end.

One of the most important elements in the construction of our 5000-mile scenic highway system will be the preservation of natural landscape along the system's route. To aid in this venture, I ask you to amend state laws to permit the purchase of scenic easements which would serve our purpose at a considerable saving of taxpayers' money.

I urge you to place a bond issue on the 1964 ballot for the purchase of park and beach land for future development. The supply of land, especially along our coastline, once seemed endless in California. It now seems meager when measured against the growth in future years. Last year, 4,000,000 people use our state parks. In just 20 years, that figure will reach 11,000,000.

I will send detailed recommendations to you for a park and beach program and the methods of financing it in the near future.

I believe, also, that the state should actively foster interest and participation in the performing and graphic arts in California. I will support legislation for that purpose.

In 1962, California agriculture grossed $3 billion for the fourth consecutive year and we must be vigilant to protect our position as the nation's leading farm state.

One major aid to agriculture is the California Water Project. Not only will it make new supplies available for farming, it will furnish water for new industries and millions of new residents who will provide expanded markets for food and fiber.

I believe water development must be pursued at all levels of government, federal, state and local. For that reason, I urge you to encourage local district development by further liberalizing the Davis-Grunsky Act.

I also ask you to take new steps to broaden the guarantee of pure water in California. I propose that the State Water Pollution Control Board and the nine regional boards be consolidated under one State Water Quality Control Board.

This administration intends to give high priority to fish and wildlife development wherever water projects are built. Further, under the Porter-Dolwig Act, we will continue to improve ground water levels in the Central Valley, the coastal area and Southern California.

VIII.

In the field of highway safety, my proposals are not new to you. I have made them repeatedly and earnestly. I will continue to offer them as long as I am Governor.

In the year just past, more than 4,000 persons met violent death in traffic accidents in California—a senseless and shameful slaughter. Every year, the growing toll gives a new urgency to the problem.

Once again, I ask that you permit radar speed control by the California Highway Patrol; the use of a trial number of patrol cars without distinguishing markings; and chemical tests in drunk driving cases. I urge also that seat belts be made mandatory in all automobiles.

IX.

There has been no overall revision of our substantive criminal law during the 90 years since the California Penal Code was adopted and no overall revision of criminal procedure in 35 years. The mass of court decisions required to interpret the code since 1872 should alone indict its contents.

I urge the Legislature to take the initiative in this vital work to assure California a forward, enlightened and just criminal law with fair and expeditious procedures.

Two years ago, you enacted the most advanced narcotics control laws in the Nation, which are now the model for other states. But increased penalties for narcotics sales have forced many peddlers to turn to the sale of dangerous drugs. I therefore urge you to recognize that the peddler of dangerous drugs is a threat equal to the peddler of narcotics and to make the penalties for their sale comparable to the penalties for illegal sale of narcotics.

The program of compulsory treatment for addicts which we enacted in 1961 is proving itself a valuable weapon in the fight against narcotics. I ask you now to amend the law to permit confinement of persons under the age of 18 for treatment now available only to adults.

I am, as you know, concerned that our present legal definition of insanity is obsolete in the light of advanced scientific knowledge. A distinguished commission has recommended changes and I will present specific proposals to you at a later time.

You are all aware of my position on capital punishment. I do not believe it deters crime. I do believe it degrades man.

In almost 20 years in public life—as District Attorney, as Attorney General, as Governor—I have upheld my sworn duty to enforce the death penalty. But, with the passing of time, my own conviction has grown stronger that capital punishment affronts the conscience of man. Most often we execute the felon whose skin is darker than our own—whose position in life is lower than our own. And, to our shame, we let live the felon whose crime we believe less odious because he is more like us.

I will ask this legislature to enact at least a moratorium on capital punishment, substituting for it the sentence of life imprisonment without possibility of parole and retaining the death penalty only where necessary to protect the staffs and inmates of our penal institutions.

X.

On January 1, 1863, an order signed by President Lincoln promised all slaves in warring states that they would be "forever free." One hundred years and one week have passed since the Emancipation Proclamation became law. In conscience, we cannot say today that we have redeemed Lincoln's promise.

Four years ago, you and I prohibited discrimination in employment because of race, creed or national origin, but further action is now necessary.

I ask you to strengthen and extend existing law against discrimination in housing by expanding the Fair Employment Practices Commission into a Human Rights Commission with authority to move against discriminatory practices in housing.

In the same spirit, we must work to eliminate de facto segregation in our public schools and I promise to give the State Board of Education my full support in its efforts in that direction.

This spring, I will issue an executive order to all state administrators in the form of a "Governor's Code of Fair Practices." Its intent will be to wipe out all vestiges of discrimination in state government. In addition, I urge you to require all persons and business licensed by the state to adopt strict policies against discrimination.

XI.

I recommend most strongly, that we turn our attention to the code governing political activity in California. Most of our laws are a half-century old, written in the Hiram Johnson administration to correct abuses which no longer exist. Their practical effect today is to inhibit rather than encourage broader participation in our political life.

The excessive cost of the recent campaigns for both major parties is evidence that an overhaul of our political procedures is long overdue.

As a further step toward election reform, I believe we must enact a purity of elections statute which would require that candidates report not only a list of contributors but the amount of each contribution.

Finally, I urge that California become one of the first states in the nation to ratify the proposed Amendment to the United States Constitution, which outlaws the poll tax in all states.

XII.

State government and the rules under which it operates need constant re-examination and revision to remain responsive to the will of the electorate.

We have taken massive strides toward the streamlining of state government in the last two years, and I plan to seek your approval of another series of major reorganization steps at this session.

We should also proceed with the simplification of the State Constitution through methods made available by voter approval of Proposition 7 in November.

We must act in this session to establish reasonable exceptions to sovereign immunity of the state and local governments against damage suits, but we must also establish careful limits.

The potential added cost to the taxpayers of services provided by the state will otherwise mount many millions of dollars annually.

I also ask again for an end to a special privilege written into our condemnation statutes. Under present law, utility property needed for water projects is given special status; which results in excessive costs, delays, and difficulties in obtaining such property.

I ask that the present law be repealed, and that such condemnation proceedings be carried out exactly as when non-utility property is needed for water project development.

In concluding this series of recommendations, I offer one more that could easily prove to be of transcendent importance in the modern history of California.

Our present structure of taxation at the city, county and state levels is based on relationships determined decades ago.

This system, in my judgment, now places too great a share of the burden on local property taxpayers and often distributes that burden unevenly.

As a result, local school districts, cities and counties have turned increasingly to the state to finance or help collect the taxes for what they themselves recognize as local responsibilities and functions.

In many cases, citizens can no longer identify the taxes they pay with the purpose for which they are spent, or the officials charged with their expenditure.

For these and many other equally pressing reasons, I will ask the Legislature to join with me in establishing a joint Tax Commission to undertake a comprehensive review of our entire tax structure and to recommend reforms and revisions which will adjust it to a new era of California history.

The Commission should advise us before the 1964 election of what constitutional amendments should be presented to the people at that time.

By 1965 we should be ready to meet this great and overriding problem on a mutually informed basis.

You have heard my proposals for new legislation—my assignments of priority for the long session before us. The Legislature will initiate programs of its own in these and other areas.

In the system of checks and balances traditional to our government, we may often disagree.

But I am confident we will agree more often than we will disagree. And I say this in the presence of legislators of the opposite political party brief weeks after one of the most vigorous political campaigns in the history of our state.

We are partisans but we are also men of good will and common dedication. In the session before us, we may argue the best method of doing a thing that is good for California but we must never argue the necessity for doing it.

In whatever partisan disputes we may have, the people of this state are a vital third party and must always have the last word.

Let me conclude by saying that the future all men want—a productive life in harmony with neighbor and nature—will not be wrought in our lifetime. The clock of man's destiny ticks off centuries, not seconds.

But here and now we can put our hands to good work. What we do here may not have its full impact on our own lives. Our children and their children will be the better judges of what we do.

They will measure our actions by the security of the lives they live; by the wisdom they acquire; by the way they invest their leisure; by the quality of the very air they breathe.

Let us accept no limitations except those of our own imagination and enterprise. Let us say: This golden state—a symbol of man's striving toward a better life—shall not only lead our nation, but deserve to lead, in the challenging time before us. Let us determine, with God's guidance, to be equal to this splendid prospect.

GENTLEMEN: Attached is a report by the Southern California Hospital Planning Committee and the San Francisco Bay Area Regional Hospital Planning Committee, developed in compliance with Section 431.8, Chapter 1754, Statutes of 1961. The statute directed these committees to report their activities to the Legislature and to the Advisory Hospital Council.

The State Advisory Hospital Council received the report December 6, 1962 and adopted the following resolution:

The California Advisory Hospital Council receives with appreciation the report of the Southern California Regional Hospital Planning Committee and the San Francisco Bay Area Regional Hospital Planning Committee, submitted in compliance with Section 431.8, Chapter 1754, Statutes of 1961.

The activities and report of the committees will provide valuable assistance to the Advisory Hospital Council in statewide planning of hospitals and related health facilities. The experience of these committees provides a sound basis for further development of planning methods involving greater local community participation.

The Council recognizes the tremendous volume of work involved in a study of community health needs and resources and appreciates the contributions of the committee members in the diligent consideration of these problems. The development of a joint report containing viewpoints on which agreement of all members was achieved is especially appreciated. The council also recognizes the valuable assistance and service which the committees have provided local communities.

The Council agrees with the findings and recommendations of the committees. The council is cognizant of the tremendous problems involved in the assessment of needs for health facilities and the development of effective planning objectives. The council also recognizes the need for continuous study and looks forward to continuing relationship with regional planning committees, if the Legislature considers it desirable to extend the legislation.

Respectfully submitted,

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH
BERKELEY 4, CALIFORNIA, January 9, 1963

Hon. Hugh M. Burns, President pro Tempore
State Senate, Sacramento

Hon. Jesse M. Unruh, Speaker
State Assembly, Sacramento

GENTLEMEN: In compliance with the 1961 Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 72 relative to air pollution, I take pleasure in submitting this report, "The Diesel Vehicle and Its Role in Air Pollution." Resolution No. 72 directed the department to obtain data on pollutants and irritants from diesels and to define maximum allowable emissions for smoke, odorous compounds and other pollutants from diesel powered motor vehicles.

During the past several years, the Legislature has taken significant steps toward the control of motor vehicle emissions which are recognized as major contributors to photochemical smog in California. In 1959 it directed the State Department of Public Health to establish a state program to control emissions from vehicles and in 1960 it created the Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board to test and to approve control devices.

As will be noted in the ensuing report, much still needs to be learned about air pollution from diesels. Their exhaust cannot always be evaluated by the same procedures that are in present use for gasoline powered vehicles. Only limited data are available on emissions from diesels, their role in air pollution and their effects on health. Little is known about the control of the odorous compounds. Exact answers to these questions require additional investigation.

Nevertheless, it is known at this time that diesels present special kinds of air pollution problems, chiefly those concerned with smoke, odor and irritation of the eyes, nose and throat. Almost everyone, at one time or another, has been annoyed by the plumes of black smoke and the odor from diesels. Any statewide program to control the emissions from motor vehicles, therefore, must also take into account the special problems associated with the operation of diesel vehicles on our streets and highways.

Very sincerely yours,

MALCOLM H. MERRILL, M.D.
Director of Public Health

Senate Resolution No. 15

Expressing sympathy to Senator Stephen P. Teale, and memorializing the memory of Barbara Baker Teale, Stephen Joseph Teale and Peter Jeffrey Teale

WHEREAS, The members of the California Senate, as well as the people of the State of California generally, were shocked and grieved to hear of the tragic accident occurring on December 20, 1962, which deprived Senator Stephen P. Teale of his two sons, Joseph and Peter, and of his beloved wife, Barbara; and

WHEREAS, Barbara Baker Teale was born at Ventura, California, in 1918, graduated from Compton College and the Los Angeles College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, where she became acquainted with Stephen P. Teale, who was at that time a student in the institution, and to whom she was married in 1945; and

WHEREAS, Barbara Teale accompanied her husband to Calaveras County, where they began the practice of their profession at West Point and founded a hospital; and where Barbara Teale became a member of the General Advisory Committee on Crippled Children's Services, President of the Calaveras County Tuberculosis and Health Association, and Secretary of the Forty-first Medical Society; and

WHEREAS, Barbara Teale became a devoted mother of two sons, Stephen Joseph Teale and Peter Jeffrey Teale, bright, sturdy boys who were occasional visitors to the Senate, whose members they impressed as fine future Americans, and both of whom lost their lives in the same accident which resulted in the death of their mother; and

WHEREAS, Individuals intimately familiar with the affairs of the California Senate for many years can remember no single event which has occasioned more sorrow to the members of this body, nor one which has evoked more of a feeling of brotherly sympathy for any one of its members than is now being manifested for their distinguished and beloved fellow member, the bereaved husband and father to whom fate has dealt the tragic blow of depriving him of all of his dear ones at once; and

WHEREAS, Realizing the futility of words to convey the depth of feeling engendered in their hearts, his fellow members still desire to express their understanding of his sense of loss to the best of their ability; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the members and officers of this body desire by this resolution to express to their beloved member, Stephen P. Teale, their heartfelt sympathy in his tragic bereavement; and be it further

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Rodda:

Senate Resolution No. 16

In honor of the memory of Judge Peter J. Shields

WHEREAS, On September 28, 1962, Judge Peter J. Shields, the grand old man of the Sacramento judiciary, ended his life and went to his reward at the ripe old age of one hundred years; and

WHEREAS, Judge Peter J. Shields was born on April 4, 1862, in California, at a long obliterated Sacramento suburb near Mills; graduated at seventeen from Christian Brothers College in Sacramento, and studied law, reading in the office of Judge Amos P. Catlin; and

WHEREAS, Judge Shields became the law partner of Hiram W. Johnson; was elected to the superior bench in Sacramento at the age of thirty-eight; and was father of the agricultural college at Davis, which he founded, almost single handed, in 1906; and

WHEREAS, His notable achievements and influence many times caused his friends to seek to place his name in nomination for a position on the higher state courts or political office, all of which friendly suggestions he refused to follow, feeling that his service belonged to the people of Sacramento County; and

WHEREAS, Judge Shields was active in community life, notably in promoting the Boy Scout movement; shared his personal philosophy and wisdom with the public through annual birthday messages which received wide circulation in the local press; was a friend and supporter of the McGeorge College of Law, and advisor to unnumbered young people groping their way through the maze of youth, and endearing himself to people in all walks of life by his kindly and sympathetic understanding; and

WHEREAS, Judge Shields was married in 1901 to Carolee Wiltsee of Sacramento, an accomplished pianist who aided him in much of his work and doubtless contributed to his longevity; and

WHEREAS, The passing of Judge Shields, even though occurring at the zenith of five score years, will be felt as a great loss to the community and to the large number of people to whom he was a constant source of inspiration and encouragement; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California. That its members and officers mourn the passing of Judge Peter J. Shields, recognize his career as one which should be an example to the youth of the community, and desire by this resolution to express their veneration for the character of Judge Shields, and their sympathy to surviving relatives; and be it further

Resolved. That when the Senate shall adjourn this day it shall do so in memory of Judge Peter J. Shields; and be it further Resolved. That the Secretary of the Senate be directed to present suitably prepared copies of this resolution to Mrs. Peter J. Shields and to other surviving relatives of Judge Peter J. Shields.

COMMUNICATIONS

STATE OF CALIFORNIA WELFARE STUDY COMMISSION
 722 CAPITOL AVENUE, SACRAMENTO 14
 January 1, 1963

Hon. Hugh M. Burns
President pro Tempore
State Senate
Sacramento, California

Pursuant to Section 143.10 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, the Welfare Study Commission herewith submits its final report.

The establishment of the commission reflected an awareness on the part of the Governor and the Legislature that public welfare has become over the years a major activity and responsibility of the State of California and its counties. State and local operations in the welfare field must necessarily be influenced by the development of national policy as Congress reshapes the terms upon which the federal government will share the costs of certain categories of aid. Nevertheless, there remain for determination in California questions of public welfare policy both difficult enough and significant enough to absorb our closest attention. Yet, despite increasing public concern with the cost of welfare programs and frustration over their continuing proportions in a basically healthy economy, there has not been, before the work of the commission, another comparable effort, in California or elsewhere, to analyze systematically the needs, goals, and performance of a comprehensive set of public welfare programs.

Our work has comprised two major areas: first, we have sought to define the goals appropriate for public welfare in California, as set by the needs and expectations of our people and the fiscal resources of government; second, we have studied in depth current practices in welfare administration, so that where better management is possible reforms can be proposed.

I cannot omit mention of the devotion to the public service shown by the members and staff of the commission in the course of this work; their willingness to invest endless hours in the study, their anxiety to find truly realistic answers to complex questions, and their good humor in controversy have made the tasks of the chairman unexpectedly light and pleasant.

We hope that our study will contribute to California's continuing efforts to improve all its peoples' chances in the pursuit of happiness and a decent, productive life.

Respectfully submitted,

WINSLOW CHRISTIAN, Chairman
Welfare Study Commission and Members, California State Assembly

State Capitol
Sacramento, California*

GENTLEMEN: A report submitted by Surgeon General Luther L. Terry at the National Conference on Air Pollution in Washington, D.C., Dec. 10 indicated that air pollution "may be costing the nation more than $7 billion each year." At the same time, the report went on to commend California for its program to reduce motor vehicle-created pollution.

The California Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board is happy to be responsible for this pioneer program. The board has made steady and encouraging progress since its organization in July, 1960. It wishes to acknowledge the dedication of individual members and the many private groups and individuals who have been associated with the board. They have given encouragement, sound advice, and much of their time to the mutual goal of returning clean air to California. We believe that with such leadership we have moved that goal closer.

In accordance with the directive contained in Chapter 3, Section 24386.5 of the Health and Safety Code, submitted herewith is the second Report of the Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board. This report covers the activities, problems and accomplishments of the board during the period from January 1, 1961, to January 1, 1963.

Respectfully submitted,

CITY OF LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF CITY CLERK, ROOM 195, CITY HALL
December 18, 1962

Mr. J. A. Beek
Secretary of the Senate
State Capitol
Sacramento 14, California

GREETINGS: I hereby certify that the following resolution was adopted by the Council of the City of Los Angeles at its meeting of December 18, 1962.

"WHEREAS, The bluff facing the Pacific Ocean extending from Potrero Canyon on the east to Temescal Canyon on the west and commonly known as the East Pacific Palisades and as the Via de las Olas area has been the location of numerous landslides; and

"WHEREAS, A sensational slide occurred at this location on February 3, 1956, which slide buried State Highway 101, Pacific Coast Highway, to a maximum depth of 40 feet; and

"WHEREAS, Because of public demands for remedial action to protect human life and private property, AB 4129 was passed by the State Legislature and approved by the Governor and became Chapter 2009 Statutes of 1957 which appropriated $300,000 for investigations and studies regarding the control and correction of landslides along Highway 101 in and north of the City of Santa Monica and became effective September 11, 1957; and

"WHEREAS, Pursuant to this Act the Director of Public Works of the State of California organized a Palisades Landslide Study Committee composed of engineers in the State Highway Department and engineering representatives from the City of Los Angeles, the City of Santa Monica and Los Angeles County and in addition a Task Committee was formed for the study; and

"WHEREAS, The Committee engaged the services of the consulting engineering firm of Moran, Proctor, Mueser and Rutledge for the major part of the study and during the study by the consulting engineering firm two additional spectacular landslides occurred at the East Pacific Palisades, one of which was on March 26, 1958, producing a fall of approximately 150,000 cubic yards and while the State Division of Highways was engaged in clearing Highway 101 a second landslide on March 31, 1958, produced a fall of approximately 780,000 cubic yards resulting in the death of a State Highway employee and the relocation of Pacific Coast Highway seaward from its former location; and

"WHEREAS, Moran, Proctor, Mueser and Rutledge filed their completed report July 28th, 1959 and the Palisades Landslides Study Committee filed their report titled, 'On Investigation and Study for Control and Correction of Palisades Landslides' dated December 21, 1959; and

"WHEREAS, Subsequently, pursuant to Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 11, March 25, 1960, in the 1960 First Extraordinary Session of the State Legislature, an additional report titled, 'Recommended Procedure and Financial Analysis of Alternative Methods of Accomplishing Remedial Measures for Control of Landslides Along Highway U.S. 101 in and North of the City of Santa Monica, Los Angeles County, California' was submitted by the State Departments of Public Works and Finance; and

"WHEREAS, These reports contain statements pertaining to such hazardous conditions, one of which statements being, 'that grave danger to life, limb and property, and the threat of a major disaster with consequent heavy loss of life, will continue to lurk along Highway 101 until remedial measures are effected'; and

"WHEREAS, While extensive studies have been made and various reports, some as listed above, have been completed recommending remedial measures for the control and correction of landslides in this area, no physical corrective measures have been initiated to date; and

"WHEREAS, The Board of Public Works of the City of Los Angeles has determined that before any specific action can be taken for a stabilization program to eliminate the hazards in this area there must be consolidation of ownership under the Board of Public Works; and

"WHEREAS, The City of Los Angeles owns approximately 19.5 acres within the area of the East Pacific Palisades, and the State of California owns approximately 12.8 acres in the same area, part of which is under the control of the State Division of Highways and part of which is under the control of the State Division of Beaches and Parks.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, That the City Council and the Mayor acting in behalf of the citizens of the City of Los Angeles hereby memorialize Governor Edmund G. Brown and the State Legislature to take the necessary actions to transfer jurisdiction of the said State-owned properties to the Department of Public Works of the City of Los Angeles at no cost and that this be given first priority in the order of business for the 1963 Regular Session of the California State Legislature; and

"Be it further resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Governor, Assembly and Senate of the State Legislature and, in addition, to the Senator and all State Assemblymen from the County of Los Angeles."

Respectfully yours,

GENTLEMEN: The University of California Medical Center Department of Pharmacology in San Francisco, in compliance with the request stated in Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 65, presents herewith comments on antibiotic drugs, particularly chloramphenicol, together with conclusions and recommendations.

Report of Department of Pharmacology, University of California, San Francisco, on the Relationship of the Drug Chloramphenicol to Fatal Aplastic Anemia in California

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 65 requested the Department of Pharmacology to make a study of several drugs and recommend such restrictions on the use of these drugs as deemed appropriate. The report was requested by the 30th day of the 1963 Regular Session.

Following the receipt of a copy of this resolution in June, 1961, the chairman of the Department of Pharmacology entered into discussions with Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, Director of Public Health; Dr. K. F. Meyer, Hooper Foundation; Senator John F. Thompson; Senator John A. Murdy, Jr.; and Drs. Philip K. Condit and Kathryn M. Smick, California State Department of Public Health. Inasmuch as great duplication of effort in gathering pertinent data was not desired, and inasmuch as the study was to be limited primarily to the drug chloramphenicol, the correct role of the Department of Pharmacology seemed to be that of expressing its opinion on the subject after a perusal of the comprehensive data presented by Drs. Smick and Condit and their colleagues in the State Department of Public Health, and by Senator John F. Thompson for the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Public Health and Safety.

Members of the Department of Pharmacology have for many years expressed, and will continue to express, the point of view in teaching students of the Schools of Medicine, Dentistry and Pharmacy, as well as in postgraduate extension courses, that chloramphenicol is a very valuable antibiotic drug when used properly in the treatment of some specific major infections, but that its use may be associated with serious blood disorders, including aplastic anemia and bone marrow depression; that the drug should not be used prophylactically or for minor ailments; and that studies of blood and bone marrow should accompany the use of the drug.

The results of the studies by the Department of Public Health and the Senate Fact Finding Committee are consistent with the above point of view. The Department of Pharmacology, therefore, endorses the recommendations of the Senate Fact Finding Committee that:

- (a) "There is no indication that legislation is needed at this time for the restriction or control of chloromycetin or its use, or for any antibiotic drug. Senate Bill No. 35 is not believed feasible in original or amended form, at this time."
- (b) "The California Medical Association and the American Medical Association should be asked to take immediate steps to better inform and to better police their members in regard to the drug chloromycetin. A program of education is needed, with proper warnings against use of this drug for minor infections. A program to improve the reporting of aplastic anemia cases, to emphasize the need for more thorough and more frequent blood and bone marrow checks, is indicated. The CMA and the AMA should be asked to investigate and report on any and all prescription drugs of a dangerous or toxic nature at regular intervals, both to physicians and to pharmacists."
- (c) "Steps should be taken by the medical profession and by the pharmacists to provide that there shall be no refill of any prescription of any so-called dangerous drug unless the patient and the physician consult and the physician writes a new prescription. Where called for, the physician should be obligated in some manner to repeat laboratory testing of the patient before a new prescription is written. Provision should be made, however, for a physician to order in the original prescription one refill, possibly for half the original amount, where necessary and indicated."
- (d) "The California Department of Public Health should be authorized to keep a closer check on all so-called dangerous drugs, particularly antibiotic drugs which are known to have possible toxic reactions, and should be authorized to proceed as necessary in order to protect the public interest in all phases of the testing, prescribing and use related to such drugs."

The Department of Pharmacology also endorses the assertion made by the Department of Public Health that there is a need for intensified research to be undertaken into the causes of blood dyscrasias by scientists who work either in basic science laboratories or in clinical settings, and by those who study human populations. Pharmacologists, generally considered to be basic medical scientists, probably will best be able, with proper support, to contribute in this program primarily through studies on the mechanisms by which chemical compounds can affect the growth of actively reproducing tissues such as bone marrow, the involvement of enzymes in these mechanisms, and the assessment of the comparative effects on these systems of compounds having certain physicochemical relationships to each other. Studies of these types, while yielding results valuable in the slow development of our understanding of cell growth and division, are usually not of immediate value in finding answers in the realm of legal medicine. However, it is with considerable insight of the basic biological questions involved that the Pharmacology Department endorses the recommendations of the Department of Public Health and the Senate Fact Finding Committee and expresses willingness to review further this or any other matter upon which opinions may be desired.

COORDINATING COUNCIL FOR HIGHER EDUCATION

SACRAMENTO 14, CALIFORNIA, January 15, 1963

Hon. Glenn M. Anderson
President of the Senate and Members of the Senate
Senate Chamber, Sacramento

Hon. Jesse M. Unruh
Speaker of the Assembly and
Members of the Assembly
Assembly Chamber, Sacramento

GENTLEMEN: Assembly Concurrent Resolution 106 adopted at the 1961 General Session of the Legislature provided that,

" . . . The Trustees of the California State Colleges, the Coordinating Council for Higher Education and the Regents of the University of California co-operate and work with the State Department of Finance in making a study to find ways and means of making substantial increases in the salaries, working conditions and fringe benefits of the professors in California's state colleges and university, during the next six to eight years if their study substantiates the need for such increases . . . "

The resolution further directed that the council compile the results of the studies for submission to the Legislature.

Estimates of faculty salary needs, improvements in working conditions, and fringe benefits for an extended period of time, require the development of data not heretofore available. For this reason, the council, in co-operation with the segments of public higher education, has gathered information on an extensive basis which, when analyzed, will provide significant guide lines for the future in regard to working conditions, fringe benefits, and salary levels considered to be most important by newly employed faculty members. The data obtained through the study is currently being processed by computers and will be capable of analysis in the immediate future. Results of the study will be then reported by the council to the Legislature at the current session.

In addition, the council has recently considered the levels of faculty compensation required in the next fiscal year for the California State Colleges and the University of California. Council recommendations were transmitted to the Governor and the Department of Finance in December. A summary of this report will be included in the council's 1963 Budget Report to the Legislature to be submitted to the Legislature soon after receipt of the Governor's Budget by the Legislature.

Sincerely,

JOHN R. RICHARDS, Director

Hon. Glenn Anderson, Lieutenant Governor
President of the Senate

DEAR SIR: Section 27160 of the California Vehicle Code directed this department to develop standards and specifications for maximum permissible limits of motor vehicle exhaust noise for various classes of vehicles and to establish methods of determining compliance with such limits.

In accordance with this directive the department contracted with Bolt, Beranek and Newman, Inc. to conduct a comprehensive study of motor vehicle exhaust noise.

Submitted herewith is a report which contains technical data from the test program in which more than 500 noise measurements were performed on a total of 26 passenger cars, sports cars, motorcycles, and trucks.

The test program defined:

- (1) The noise produced by the test vehicles under various operating conditions.
- (2) The current practice and obtainable limits on truck muffling.
- (3) The minimum noise produced, exclusive of exhaust, by the various classes of vehicles operating under highway conditions.

This report is presently being reviewed by representatives of the University of California, Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering, and the Department of Public Works, Division of Highways, Materials and Research Department, who will forward for our consideration their comments and recommendations.

Very truly yours,

BRADFORD M. CRITTENDEN, Commissioner

GENTLEMEN: AS requested by Senate Concurrent Resolution Number 27, 1962 Session of the Legislature of the State of California, the attached report, dealing with the feasibility of placing the program of driver education and driver training in the hands of the Department of Motor Vehicles, is submitted. Both departments agree that the only feasible place for offering driver education and driver training is in the schools.

cc: Mr. Tom Bright

Report and Recommendations to the Legislature
Made Jointly by the Department of Motor Vehicles and the Department of Education in Response to
Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 27
Adopted by the Senate and Assembly
March 31, 1962, and April 3, 1962, Respectively
January 2, 1963

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 27 requested the Department of Motor Vehicles and the Department of Education to co-operate in a study on the feasibility of transferring driver education and training from the California School System to the Department of Motor Vehicles. This study considered the feasibility:

- (1) From the standpoint of educational philosophy.
- (2) From the standpoint of practical financing.
- (3) From the standpoint of public interest and attitude.

Recommendation Prepared as a Result of the Requested Study and Following the Public Hearing on July 26, 1962

The departments determined that the transfer of the project out of the Department of Education was not feasible from standpoint No. 1.

The departments considered the practical operation and financing of the project not feasible from standpoint No. 2.

The attitude at a public meeting held in Los Angeles showed that the public was preponderantly against transferring the program out of the schools. It was therefore determined not feasible from this standpoint.

The joint recommendation of the Department of Motor Vehicles and the Department of Education is that the program not be transferred from the California school system to the Department of Motor Vehicles because it is not feasible.

Both departments join in presenting a discussion of considerations involved in each of the standpoints listed on the preceding page as follows:

(1) Educational Philosophy

From the standpoint of philosophy it seems that the Department of Education has been established as the agency responsible for educational programs. Education Code Sections 252-253 require the Superintendent of Public Instruction to execute the policies of the State Board of Education and to superintend the schools of the State and through authorizations and mandates accorded to the Department of Education, he is responsible for supervision of the conduct of programs of instruction in the public schools. Instruction in the public schools includes both the teaching of college preparatory studies and skill subjects such as industrial arts, agriculture, business courses, and driver education.

Channels of communication are well established between the Department of Education and the offices of superintendents of schools and school districts. They observe the directives of the Superintendent of Public Instruction with respect to teaching of mandated subjects and required or prohibited instruction. It is the responsibility of the Department of Education to be informed in methods and mechanics of education.

On the other hand, it is the responsibility of the Department of Motor Vehicles to maintain facilities for the issuance of automobile registrations and drivers' licenses, examining applicants for drivers' licenses after they have obtained the necessary skills.

The California Vehicle Code does authorize rendering assistance to the driver instruction program when it provides for the assignment of qualified employees of the Department of Motor Vehicles to advise with the State Board of Education and with the governing boards of districts on the preparation, establishment, and conduct of courses in automobile driver education and automobile driver training in secondary schools.

The position of the Department of Motor Vehicles in connection with licensing and its other obligations appears contrary to the principle of actually conducting educational classes. The departments have determined that from this standpoint it would not be feasible to transfer driver education and training to the Department of Motor Vehicles.

(2) Practical Financing

From the standpoint of practical financing, it must be considered that there are 596 senior and four-year high schools in California. All provide driver education; most provide driver training. There are fewer than 150 Department of Motor Vehicles offices. None has facilities for teaching either driver education or driver training. To provide facilities for driver education and driver training would involve great expenditures, apparently in excess of $600,000 and would still offer driver education in only one-quarter as many locations as there are schools. It must be recognized that the Department of Motor Vehicles has no logical liaison with the various school districts and should have no basis for compelling any district to make available facilities for this educational work.

Most schools have the opportunity of very attractive loan or leasing arrangements for instruction vehicles, but it is considered likely that these would not be available to the Department of Motor Vehicles. To match the vehicles now in use by the various schools, without considering operating costs but considering replacement reserves, would be in excess of $4,000,000.

It is suggested by the resolution that the Department of Motor Vehicles employ public school instructors during off-school hours to teach driver education and training, but it must be remembered that a work week is limited and it will probably be impossible to obtain the services of such instructors for all of the off-hours that the Department of Motor Vehicles might use them. In 1961-62, there were 247,592 students who received driver education in the public schools and 137,632 received driver training. The furnishing of facilities and instructors for this volume and for this task performed other than in the public schools would be tremendously expensive.

It would appear that as facilities and a method of recruitment of instructors are already available, and as a method of securing vehicles for instructional purposes, frequently on very economical terms is also available, that the departments are well justified in determining that from the practical standpoint and the standpoint of practical financing that a transfer of driver education and training from the California School System to the Department of Motor Vehicles is not feasible.

(3) Public Interest and Attitude

On July 26, 1962, a meeting was held in Los Angeles to give the taxpayers of California the opportunity to express their views on the subject. Studies have shown approximately 90 percent of the people are in favor of driver education in the schools and the testimony at the July 26 meeting supported the findings made in the studies. During the meeting, 18 speakers were heard. Of these, 17 supported retention of the program in the public schools. One speaker represented 62 member groups in the California Committee for Driver Education. Some of the groups for which he spoke, such as the California Federation of Women's Clubs and the California Association of Business and Professional Women, represent a very sizable segment of the population. Some organizations, such as the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Federated Safety Councils of California, the automobile clubs and the insurance companies, although members of the California Committee for Driver Education, chose to speak for themselves in supporting driver education in the schools. The only group in favor of placing the program under the control of the Department of Motor Vehicles was the Driving School Association of California. This is an organization of private, commercial driving schools.

From the standpoint of interest and attitude, the public is strongly in support of driver instruction in the schools, under the direction of the Department of Education—not the Department of Motor Vehicles.

For philosophical and practical reasons and because the general public strongly favors the retention, expansion, and improvement of driver instruction in the schools, the Department of Motor Vehicles and the Department of Education recommend that this program be retained in the public schools under the direction of the Department of Education because its transfer to the Department of Motor Vehicles is not feasible.

To: Lieutenant Governor Glenn M. Anderson,

Presidents Association

Subject: Library Books for California State Colleges

The following is a resolution passed by the California State College Student Presidents Association, meeting in session at Fresno State College on December 15, 16, 1962. WHEREAS, The Trustees of the California State Colleges recently accepted a report entitled "Proposed Program for Library Development—California State Colleges"; and

WHEREAS, This accepted report would require an initial collection of 50,000 volumes to be provided for each new college with at least 4,000 additional volumes provided each year until enrollment reaches 1,000; and

WHEREAS, The accepted report would provide a 40 volume-per-student level to be reached over a 10-year period;

Therefore be it resolved, That the California State College Student Presidents Association, meeting in session at Fresno State College on December 16, 1962, heartily endorse the plan of library book expansion contained within the report and further urges the Legislature of the State of California to act favorably in regard to the funding of this project.

COORDINATING COUNCIL FOR HIGHER EDUCATION
SACRAMENTO 14, CALIFORNIA
January 14, 1963

Hon. Glenn M. Anderson
President of the Senate and
Members of the Senate
Senate Chamber, Sacramento

Hon. Jesse M. Unruh
Speaker of the Assembly and
Members of the Assembly
Assembly Chamber, Sacramento

GENTLEMEN: Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 133, adopted at the 1961 Regular Session of the Legislature, directed the Trustees of the California State Colleges and the Coordinating Council for Higher Education to undertake a joint study of the subject matter of Assembly Bill No. 504 of the 1961 Regular Session and of the need and feasibility for establishment of a State College in San Mateo County and to report to the 1963 Regular Session of the Legislature.

The Donahoe Higher Education Act (Education Code Section 22703) provides:

"The Coordinating Council shall have the following functions, advisory to the governing boards of the institutions of public higher education and to appropriate state officials; . . . (3) development of plans for the orderly growth of public higher education and the making of recommendations on the need for and location of new facilities and programs."

The act further provides, in Section 22501, that:

"It is hereby declared to be the policy of the Legislature not to authorize or acquire sites for new institutions of public higher education unless such sites are recommended by the Coordinating Council for Higher Education."

In order to carry out these provisions, the council has adopted procedures requiring that any new proposals for institutions take into consideration, at a minimum, the following general factors:

- (1) The overall needs of the State for higher education;
- (2) All existing facilities, both public and private; and
- (3) The differentiation of functions as set forth in the Donahoe Act.

The procedures of the council are presented in full in the attached document, pages 16-19.

The council has also stated that new proposals will be governed by the following principle: "Each new facility shall be located and established where the need is greatest for the proposed facility as delineated in the Master Plan for Higher Education and subsequent revisions, and where it will be of maximum service to the people of the State."

The Master Plan called for the Coordinating Council to undertake studies in 1965 and again in 1970, if applicable, to determine the need for new state colleges and new University facilities. However, in light of ACR 133 and other requests for the study of specific areas, a statewide study has been initiated by the council staff in co-operation with the staff of the Trustees of the California State Colleges and the University of California. The Department of Finance has been asked for certain new projections consisting of updated statistical series essential to any new study.

The council study, which will be submitted to the Legislature not later than April 15 of this year, will consider not only the San Mateo area but other areas in the State as well.

Sincerely,

JOHN R. RICHARDS, Director

THE RESOURCES AGENCY OF CALIFORNIA
DEPARTMENT OF WATER RESOURCES
1120 N STREET, SACRAMENTO, January 17, 1963

Hon. Joseph A. Beek
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR MR. BEEK: I have the honor to transmit herewith Bulletin No. 111, entitled, "Sacramento River Water Pollution Survey." The investigation described in the report was authorized by Chapter 1999, Statutes of 1959 and by subsequent actions providing for appropriations from the General Fund.

This report concludes that water quality of the Sacramento River is eminently satisfactory for present beneficial uses. The increases in dissolved mineral concentrations that do occur are related to irrigation practices. Below Sacramento, dissolved oxygen levels are approaching the minimum values set for fish.

The future increased utilization of Sacramento River waters requires an adequate program of water quality management. To this end, specific recommendations for water quality monitoring and for special investigations are presented.

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM E. WARNE, Director

WHEREAS, the San Francisco Giants in five short years since adopting San Francisco in 1958 as their new home, have captivated the hearts of thousands of Bay Area fans, most recently under the inspirational leadership of Manager Alvin Dark; and

COMMUNICATIONS

2151 BERKELEY WAY, BERKELEY 4, CALIFORNIA
January 11, 1963

Hon. Hugh M. Burns, President pro Tempore

State Senate, Sacramento

Hon. Jesse M. Unruh, Speaker

State Assembly, Sacramento

GENTLEMEN: In compliance with Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 38 (1962) I am pleased to transmit herewith a report relative to venereal disease in California.

Respectfully submitted,

MALCOLM H. MERRILL, M.D., Director of Public Health

Letter of transmittal ordered printed in the Journal, and the report filed with the Secretary of the Senate.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE
SACRAMENTO, January 21, 1963

Hon. Glenn M. Anderson

President of the Senate

Hon. Jesse M. Unruh

Speaker of the Assembly

GENTLEMEN: In accordance with the requirements of Section 11011 of the Government Code, submitted herewith by the Department of Finance, is the "Annual Report to the State Legislature on Surplus Proprietary Lands."

On August 13, 1962, the department instructed each State agency, under the subject "Annual Inventory and Report of Excess State Land," to review all lands under its jurisdiction and submit a report thereon to the Department of Finance. The instructions read in part as follows: "The report will in all cases include a statement that a review of all lands owned by the agency has been made, and will list those lands determined to be excess. Lands previously reported as excess . . . shall not be included in the current report."

In response to the above, the various agencies have declared three properties comprising 70.8 acres to be surplus to their foreseeable needs. These properties, having an estimated value of approximately one quarter of a million dollars, are described in detail in the body of this report. It is recommended that bills be passed in the manner prescribed in said Section 11011 by each house of the Legislature, in this, its current session, authorizing the sale, exchange or other disposition of these properties. The Department of Finance has caused such bills, now before you, to be introduced for this purpose.

Since the present surplus property disposal program was established by the Legislature in 1951, the Department of Finance, through its Property Acquisition Division, has completed real estate transactions producing a total revenue of $7,474,591. Although there have been some major transactions in which the purchaser was another governmental agency, the majority of these surplus state lands have been returned to private ownership and local tax rolls. Transactions concluded in the past calendar year produced $642,100. This latter amount includes proceeds from the sale of six parcels to state agencies operating almost entirely on funds derived from vehicular or gas tax funds. All parcels conveyed in fee to private purchasers were first made available to the various state and local governmental agencies, unless legislation authorizing their disposal directed conveyance to specified parties. All sales, except those to other governmental jurisdictions, were consummated under open competitive bidding conditions.

In addition to the disposal of surplus state lands, the Property Acquisition Division is also charged with investigating surplus federal properties to ascertain whether they can be used by state agencies. The General Services Administration of the United States government, in administering its program for disposal of installations and property no longer needed for federal use, first offers these properties to public agencies before exposing them for sale on the open market. If there is a state need, and depending on the State's intended use, discounts on the purchase price (fair market value) ranging to as high as 100 percent, may be obtained. In that there is an existing program need for these facilities for which capital outlay funds would otherwise be appropriated from tax revenues, the parcel so acquired represents a savings, or in effect, a "reverse income" to the State. During this calendar year twenty properties were investigated. Acquisition of two federal installations, comprising 9,505.7 acres, was completed. These properties were acquired with a 100 percent discount resulting in a savings of state funds in the amount of $12,204,000. Negotiations are in process for the acquisition of one parcel which would result in additional savings to the State of $500,000. A summary of federal surplus properties offered to the State last year, and of the land acquired, is contained in Supplement "C" of this report.

In accordance with the program initiated last year by the Property Acquisition Division, surplus properties of the Division of Highways and the Reclamation Board, which two agencies are exempt from the provisions of Section 11011, are first made available to other state agencies before being offered for sale on the open market. These properties, as a rule, are unique in location, size and shape, and often have limited ingress and egress. The majority of them are, therefore, not adaptable to other agency use. However, this program is important and worthwhile, as it protects the State from disposing of properties that might possibly be needed for continued state use. Thirty-six parcels were brought to the attention of the Property Acquisition Division by these agencies and were investigated by the division.

Your attention is directed to Supplements "A" and "B" herein, which respectively set forth in detail all parcels disposed of in 1962, and the status of those yet unsold.

Respectfully,

HALE CHAMPION, Director of Finance

Letter of transmittal ordered printed in the Journal, and the report filed with the Secretary of the Senate.

DEPARTMENT OF PARKS AND RECREATION
SMALL CRAFT HARBORS COMMISSION
State Office Bldg. No. 1, Sacramento 14
January 22, 1963

Hon. Hugh M. Burns
President pro Tempore
State Senate, Sacramento

Hon. Jesse M. Unruh
Speaker
State Assembly, Sacramento

GENTLEMEN: In compliance with the 1961 Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 48 requesting a study of harbors of refuge, the Small Craft Harbors Commission takes pleasure in submitting this report "California Small Craft Harbors and Facilities Plan Interim Report on Coastal Harbors of Refuge." Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 48 requested the Small Craft Harbors Commission to conduct a survey to determine the need, location, and major components needed for harbors of refuge along the California coastline for small craft and to report their findings and recommendations thereon to the Legislature.

This report establishes the need for a program incorporating the development of thirteen (13) new and improvement of four (4) existing harbors of refuge.

This program will provide a chain of coastal harbors of refuge spaced approximately 35 miles from one another over the length of our 1100-mile coastline.

The commission wishes to emphasize that the basic criteria for this program is the provision of safety for commercial and recreational boats. In addition, there are other benefits which accrue to the communities and regions in which harbors of refuge are developed.

The cost of this program reflects the fundamental requirement that a harbor of refuge be a place of safety in storms. Therefore, the estimate of capital expenditure required for new refuge harbors or for improvements to existing ones was based on the minimal items necessary to achieve this end at given sites.

This report is the initial phase of the "California Small Craft Harbors and Facilities Plan" which will be completed in November 1963. The purpose of the total plan will be to guide the Small Craft Harbors Commission's programs for development of harbors and boating facilities, both coastal and inland, as regards their financing and priority of development.

The commission in presenting the findings of the attached report emphasizes that the harbors proposed therein are in the strictest sense refuge harbors and should be financed as such notwithstanding other commission programs for developing additional coastal and inland commercial and recreational harbors.

Sincerely,

JOHN P. SCRIPPS, Chairman
Small Craft Harbors Commission

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
STATE EDUCATION BUILDING, 721 CAPITOL AVENUE
SACRAMENTO 14, January 21, 1963

Hon. Hugh M. Burns
President pro Tempore of the Senate
State Capitol Building
Sacramento 14, California

DEAR SENATOR BURNS: The 1962 Session of the California State Legislature adopted Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 29, a copy of which is enclosed. This resolution directed that the State Department of Education undertake appropriate studies so that the textbooks in use in this State will give due regard to sound intergroup relations. The resolution further directed the department to convey to textbook publishers the Legislature's concern that children in California achieve an education suitable in a democratic society composed of peoples of diverse racial, ethnic, and religious identities, and report back to the Legislature at the 1963 General Session what steps had been taken to accomplish this.

With respect to the first directive, namely, the undertaking of appropriate studies so that textbooks will give due regard to sound intergroup relations, the principal responsibility for this lies with the California State Curriculum Commission. The resolution adopted by the Senate was considered by the Curriculum Commission at its meeting on May 16, 1962. The commission members are familiar with the content of the resolution, and plan to take it into consideration in their evaluation of textbooks in the future. At the time when the commission discussed this resolution in public meeting there were present numerous representatives of textbook publishers. These representatives heard the discussion and are, of course, familiar with the nature of the resolution.

At the May 16, 1962 meeting of the Curriculum Commission, and as a direct result of their discussion of S.C.R. No. 29 there was added to the criteria to be used in selecting history and geography textbooks for the fourth grade, a phrase taken directly from the Senate resolution as follows: "The book shall be designed to 'develop an appreciation and respect for the cultural heritage of the many peoples that constitute the American nation'."

At the time of the May, 1962 meeting of the Curriculum Commission, it was agreed that in connection with future adoptions appropriate ideas from the Senate resolution should be included in the criteria for textbooks. These ideas will relate not only to history, geography, civics and related social studies, but to all textbooks that offer opportunity for developing an appreciation of the contributions of various minority groups. For example, reading and literature books do offer such opportunity, and criteria for their selection should take into consideration the purposes of Senate Resolution No. 29.

Relative to the second directive contained in the resolution, namely, that publishers should be notified of the Legislature's concern, shortly after its adoption copies of the resolution were mailed to all publishers who normally submit textbooks for state adoption. Through their attendance at Curriculum Commission meetings, representatives of the publishing firms have been made even more aware of the purpose of the Legislature in adopting the resolution, and of the intention of the Curriculum Commission to keep these objectives in mind in future textbook adoption.

Respectfully yours,

MAX RAFFERTY

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 29

CHAPTER 58

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 29—Relating to School Textbooks

(Filed with Secretary of State April 9, 1962)

WHEREAS, One of the most essential lessons that American youth should learn is that we are a nation built upon the magnificent contributions of men and women of diverse racial, ethnic, and religious backgrounds; and

WHEREAS, In the absence of this understanding our children fail to comprehend that our greatness as a nation is rooted in a recognition of individual God-given human dignity, in an appreciation and respect for the cultural heritage of the many peoples that constitute the American nation, in an awareness that the various racial groups in our society have each equally contributed men and women of worth to our nation who have suffered and died to build a sound democracy, and that each now seeks a life of dignity and achievement within the highest American tradition of individual freedom and aspiration; and

WHEREAS, Many school districts in California find their earnest efforts to achieve this essential educational goal made more difficult because textbook publishers fail adequately to portray the contribution of such groups as the American Negro, the Latin American, and the Oriental American to the growth of American democracy, and, further, often fail to depict in illustrations any minority group Americans in normal settings, thus giving rise to stereotypes that are equally harmful to the proper education of children of the majority and the minority groups; and

WHEREAS, Just treatment, equality of opportunity and mutual understanding among the racial, ethnic and religious groups within our society is absolutely essential to the future of California; and

WHEREAS, The Curriculum Commission is doing a conscientious job in selecting the best textbooks from those currently available, but it is felt that a thorough study of the treatment of minorities in textbooks would help to focus upon any shortcomings now existing in this regard and bring about effective remedial steps to correct such shortcomings; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly thereof concurring, That the State Department of Education is directed to undertake appropriate studies

so that the textbooks in use in our State give due regard to sound intergroup relations; and be it further

Resolved, That the State Department of Education is directed to undertake appropriate steps to convey to textbook publishers the Legislature's concern that children in California achieve an education suitable in a democratic society composed of peoples of diverse racial, ethnic, and religious identities, and report back to the Legislature at the 1963 General Session what steps have been taken to accomplish this; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Director of the State Department of Education.

UNITED STATES SENATE COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS
January 15, 1963

Hon. Glenn M. Anderson
President of the Senate
California Legislature
Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT: As you know, the 87th Congress approved the submission to the states of an amendment to the Constitution prohibiting the imposition of a poll tax or any other tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections.

I am confident that you share with me and the other Senators who coauthored this resolution the belief that this archaic tax, which has disfranchised countless Americans, must be prohibited once and for all at the earliest opportunity. Late in 1962 the States of Illinois and New Jersey ratified this amendment by joint resolution. I hope that the members of the State Senate of California will do likewise, and I urge that this matter be given their early attention so that the representatives of our State might unanimously go on record in favor of the proposition that there should be no financial bar to the exercise of a citizen's right to vote.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,

THOMAS H. KUCHEL, United States Senator

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS

MR. PRESIDENT: Pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 214, read and adopted June 16, 1961, at the Regular Session of the Legislature, and pursuant to Senate Committee on Rules Resolution No. 7, adopted September 15, 1959, the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Labor and Welfare submits the second portion of its fact finding report on California's farm labor problems.

The committee wishes to gratefully acknowledge the invaluable assistance rendered by the many agencies, groups, and individuals who have, through their testimony and by submitting material at the committee's request, contributed immeasurably to both Part I and Part II. Above all, however, we express our gratitude to the many working agricultural people—farmers and hired farm laborers—for their aid. For it is the individual farm worker, employer and employee both, whose economic and social well-being is most immediately affected, about whose future we hold the ultimate concern.

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That Newton, Carl and Lawrence Cope, who own and operate "The Firehouse," are commended for the service which they have rendered the people of Sacramento and the State-at-large in making available to the general public a structure of such great historic significance; and be it further

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

SACRAMENTO, January 29, 1963

Hon. Hugh M. Burns
President pro Tempore of the Senate
Hon. Jesse M. Unruh
Speaker of the Assembly

Pursuant to Division 5, Part 1, Chapter 2, Article 1.3, Section 3211 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, the Coordinating Council on State Programs for the Blind herewith submits to the Legislature its 11th annual report covering the period from January 1, 1962 to December 31, 1962.

We believe the work of the council has furthered the principle contained in the statute creating the council; namely, provide for the co-ordination of the functions and programs of the various state departments insofar as such functions and programs affect the blind.

We trust this report will be of assistance to the Legislature.

Respectfully submitted,

COORDINATING COUNCIL ON STATE PROGRAMS FOR THE BLIND

MALCOLM H. MERRILL, M.D., Director
State Department of Public Health
MAX RAFFERTY, Director
State Department of Education
JOHN M. WEDEMEYER, Director
State Department of Social Welfare

Membership, Organization, and Functions of the Council

During the 12-month period covered by this report, January 1, 1962 to December 31, 1962, the Council members were:

MALCOLM H. MERRILL, M.D., Director, State Department of Public Health
ROY E. SIMPSON, Director, State Department of Education
JOHN M. WEDEMEYER, Director, State Department of Social Welfare

The council met four times during the year to further the co-ordination of State programs for the blind. The chairmanship rotated among its members, and as in previous years the Coordinating Committee on State Services for the Blind served as a working committee, reporting to the council at these quarterly meetings. The committee membership was as follows:

Department of Education

Ellen Brennan, Supervising Home Teacher-Counselor of the Adult Blind
Francis W. Doyle, Deputy Superintendent; Chief, Division of Special Schools and Services
Allen G. Jenkins, Administrator, Orientation Center for the Blind
Berthold Lowenfeld, Superintendent, California School for the Blind
Andrew Marrin, Chief, Vocational Rehabilitation Service

Dorothy L. Misbach, Consultant in Education of the Visually Handicapped
 S. W. Patterson, Assistant Chief, Division of Special Schools and Services
 Anthony E. Septinelli, Vocational Rehabilitation Service
 Virginia S. Simpson, Blind Section Librarian
 Charles W. Watson, Chief, Bureau of Special Education

Department of Public Health

William D. Simmons, Supervisor, Prevention of Blindness Program

Department of Social Welfare

Lillian McClure, Assistant to the Chief, Division for the Blind
 Perry Sundquist, Chief, Division for the Blind

Major Items Considered by Coordinating Council

In the 1962 report to the Legislature the council listed, among major needs for the future, provision of a central clearinghouse and depository for equipment, apparatus, and specialized study materials essential to the efficient and economic functioning of programs for the visually handicapped. The report went on to point out that the importance of this program would increase as the wave of young blind children (retrolental fibroplasia) entered high school where there are no state-adopted text books. The Coordinating Committee has given consideration to this matter for the council over the past year. As a result the council reports:

1. There are approximately 2,100 visually handicapped pupils enrolled in the public schools of California of which 1,400 are blind under the legal definition.
2. The education of these blind and partially seeing pupils involves not only special methods of instruction but a wide variety of specialized items including:
 - a. Braille textbooks, supplementary books, reference books, dictionaries, magazines, pamphlets, bulletins.
 - b. Large print textbooks, supplementary books, reference books, dictionaries, magazines, pamphlets, bulletins.
 - c. Sound recorded study materials including books, magazines; and talking book machines as well as the necessary recording and playback equipment.
 - d. Raised maps and globes, and tangible apparatus for teaching mathematical and physical concepts.
 - e. Braille writing slates and stylii, Braille writing machines, and large print typewriters.
 - f. Magnifying devices and equipment.
3. Making specialized items available to pupils enrolled in special education programs in California has never been standardized, centralized, and co-ordinated. A number of public and private agencies and organizations are engaged in providing items essential to the education of visually handicapped pupils.
4. The authority and financial support for providing specialized items varies widely. It includes private support, voluntary agency, state and federal programs. There is duplication in providing some items and failure to provide other items for pupils at different times in different parts of the State. To prevent duplication and gaps in providing specialized and expensive materials and equipment to visually handicapped pupils and to make provision for cataloging, housing, distribution, and repairing materials and apparatus requires some immediate plan. A statewide unit should be given the responsibility, authority, and financial support essential to do this job.

Therefore, the council takes this opportunity to direct the attention of the Legislature to the critical need for a central clearinghouse and depository for specialized items essential to the education of visually handicapped pupils enrolled in the public schools of California. The proposal to establish such a statewide unit within the Department of Education and the necessary budget for this starting with the 1963 fiscal year is strongly endorsed.

Review of Departmental Programs

I. Education Programs for the Visually Handicapped

A. Field Services for Blind Preschool Children and Their Parents in Southern California.

At the year's end, 84 children were served by two visiting teachers, Field Service for Preschool Blind Children. Both teachers were located in Los Angeles and divided the Southern California area between them. Of the 84 children, only 9 (11 percent) are blind as a result of retrolental fibroplasia while 89 percent are blind from other causes. This is a marked reversal from the peak years (1950-53) of retrolental fibroplasia when it caused almost 75 percent of the blindness among preschool age children.

The most important causes of blindness in a known group of preschool children are optic atrophy—17 children (20 percent); congenital cataracts—16 children (19 percent); retinoblastoma—8 children (9.5 percent); brain damage—8 children (9.5 percent); glaucoma—7 children (8 percent); various other causes—13 children (16 percent). Remarkable in these statistics is the comparatively large number of retinoblastoma cases (malignant tumor of the retina). This increase may be due to a greater rate of survival of children after removal of the affected eye or eyes.

B. California School for the Blind

The California School for the Blind provides education for blind, partially blind, and deaf-blind children from kindergarten through high school. It functions under the Division of Special Schools and Services of the State Department of Education as a part of the public school system of the State. The school aims to assist blind children in gaining a knowledge of the realities around them, to instill in them the confidence to cope with these realities, and to give them the feeling that they are recognized as individuals in their own right. It is the school's policy to have all senior high school students (10th through 12th grades) attend public high schools in Berkeley or Oakland, while they receive reader's service, guidance, tutoring, and room and board at the California School for the Blind. This arrangement is designed so that students can gradually adjust to working, associating, and competing with their seeing peers.

At the end of the 1961-62 school year, 20 students left the school. Of these 3 graduated, 13 went to public school programs for visually handicapped children in their home communities, 2 finished their education, and 2 moved out of the State.

In September 1962, 136 students returned to the school and 16 were newly admitted. Thirteen more pupils were admitted later on, while 4 others were released, which resulted in an enrollment of 161 on December 31, 1962.

The three students who graduated in June 1962 were an outstanding group. They had attended the California School for the Blind through the 9th grade and were enrolled at Oakland Technical High School for their 10th, 11th, and 12th grades. At the end of their studies they took college entrance examinations and all three were successful in being admitted to the colleges of their choice: Stanford University, University of California, and San Francisco State College. They presented a scroll to the California School for the Blind bearing the following text:

"To: Doctor Berthold Lowenfeld
From: 'Three Wise Guys'
Subject: Our Years at California School for the Blind

"Dr. Lowenfeld, you and your staff have watched us grow from the time we first arrived at the school. Our first hesitant moves toward self-sufficiency were guided by you. Our problems were handled with understanding, kindness and directed discipline. Our hopes were nurtured, our ambitions fostered to the extent that we would eventually be able to take part in all phases of communal life. From study to sports to artistic development—these have been brought to us through your supervision and directed by your staff. We are leaving after all those years.

"It is difficult to look back and see us as we were. It is with humility that we look forward to furthering our education at Stanford, California and San Francisco State.

"To you, Doctor Lowenfeld, to your staff and to all those who so ably assisted us, we pledge a continuity of our efforts that brought us to graduation from high school and our entrance in the college of our choice. Forgive our last juvenile touch, but don't forget your 'three wise guys.'"

C. Visually Handicapped Children in Public Schools

The service of one consultant is made available to school districts and to offices of the county superintendents of schools maintaining programs for blind and partially seeing students. The mandatory annual registration of legally blind students enrolled in public schools according to Public Law 922, the act "To Promote the Education of the Blind," became effective in 1957. The following figures indicate the annual increase in the numbers of legally blind students enrolled in public schools from January, 1957 to January, 1962:

Of the 1432 legally blind students registered in 1962, 689 use braille, 666 use large print, and 77 use both braille and large print.

In recent years the majority of programs for blind and partially seeing students have been initiated on a supplemental basis in which visually handicapped students enrolled in regular classes have available the supplemental services of resource or itinerant teachers. Seventy district or county operated special programs staffed with 185 special teachers served 1,760 visually handicapped pupils. Of the 1,760 visually handicapped students 525 registered as legally blind and 518 registered as partially seeing used large print making a total of 1,043 students functioning as partially seeing. Two educational counselors through a total of 416 visits continued to bring a direct service to 285 visually handicapped students in communities where special programs have not been established. Through their encouragement new programs were initiated in five communities.

The responsibility assumed by the Department of Education in the production, distribution, and recall of braille and large print basic textbooks for grades one through eight made it possible for public schools to maintain learning opportunities for visually handicapped students equal to that of their seeing peers. Volunteer and paid transcribers continued to produce in braille, large print, and sound recorded form supplemental texts and materials needed by high school and junior college students. Two regional meetings and one state meeting for transcribers and educators provided an opportunity for exchange of ideas. The responsibilities of the senior clerk handling the detail of the annual registration of visually handicapped students, the processing of the American Printing House apportionment secured through this registration, and the bookkeeping involved in "clearing" the textbooks needed by students and schools continued to grow.

Following exploratory discussions during the year the office of the Alameda County Superintendent of Schools was successful in securing a three-year grant under the research demonstration provisions of the Federal Vocational Rehabilitation Act for a pioneer project of teaching orientation and mobility skills to blind junior and senior high school students.

D. Readers' Service for Blind College Students

During the fiscal year 1961-62, 72 students used the Readers' Service for Blind College Students at an expense of $28,456. Of these students, 33 were graduate students and the others pursued undergraduate studies or did summer session work. The average amount used per student for the fiscal year was $395.22. As in the previous years, all college students who were accepted as eligible by the Vocational Rehabilitation Services received readers' assistance from them under cost participation of the federal government.

E. California State Library - Books for the Blind

At the end of the year there were 3,894 active borrowers, an increase of 180 over last year.

During the calendar year 1962 there was an increase of 7 percent in the circulation of Braille, Moon type and Talking Book records. A total of 18,854 volumes in Braille and Moon type and a total of 123,527 containers of Talking Book records were circulated making a grand total of 142,381 volumes and containers. The circulation of embossed-type books rose by 18 percent this year continuing the upward trend which was first evidenced during the calendar year 1959. The Talking Book circulation increase was 6 percent, as compared with a 12 percent increase for last year.

The large percentage increase in the Braille book circulation may be attributed to more active borrowing by blind children. This is the result of an intensive program to inform all resource teachers and parents of blind children of our service to encourage children to read during summer vacation.

II. Training, Vocational Rehabilitation and Work Opportunities

A. Field Rehabilitation Services for Adult Blind

This service is designed to assist blind and deaf-blind individuals in their physical and psychological adjustment to these handicaps through instruction and counseling based upon the individual's needs. All service is directed toward the goal of helping the blind person regain lost skills and to learn new skills so that he may have the opportunity of reaching his potential as a self-sufficient, contributing member of society.

Instruction is offered in the techniques of daily living including mobility, methods of communication (Braille reading and writing, typing, longhand writing), personal grooming, and household arts.

During the past year this program has been carried out by 20 teacher-counselors working in the homes of blind persons in assigned areas. Although the greatest portion of time is spent in the home situation with the blind person and his family, it is of interest to note that teacher-counselors have during this past year extended services to individuals confined to California Men's Colony, California Institute for Women, Deuel Vocational Institution, and Folsom State Prison. A considerable amount of work has also been accomplished with patients at Agnews, Metropolitan, and Stockton State Hospitals.

During the year the average active pupil load per month for teacher-counselors as a whole has been 350 persons for whom a plan has been established and specific services are being offered to help him reach his goal. No blind person is considered an active pupil until the teacher-counselor has made a fourth visit. A total of 792 contact calls were made, 258 persons were added as new pupils and 324 pupils were dropped having completed plans or no longer needing teacher-counselor services. Braille lessons were given to 4,442, 2,645 lessons in orientation and mobility were offered, 872 lessons in typing, and more than 6,369 counseling sessions were held with blind persons and their families.

B. Orientation Center for the Blind

The Orientation Center provides training and guidance for active and productive lives for blind individuals from all segments of society. During this year 34 students were newly enrolled. Of 42 students whose orientation program was terminated in this period, 8 are taking further academic training, 3 further vocational training at the school; 3 are self-employed, 7 are employed by others; 5 are housewives; 1 is unemployed; and 13 are retired, ill, deceased, or of status unknown.

Total enrollment for 1962 was lower than usual due to complications of removal of the center from the old site made necessary by its purchase for highway use. Since the new plant is not built it is anticipated that enrollment for 1963 will also be curtailed by the limited facilities in temporary quarters.

C. Vocational Rehabilitation Service

The Vocational Rehabilitation Service closed the year with 146 blind people successfully rehabilitated and placed in employment, a substantial increase over last fiscal year.

Our Business Enterprise Program, which includes vending stands, snack bars and cafeterias, did a gross sale business of $5,745,031; 222 licensed operators earned an annual income of $1,228,393, which averages out to $481 per month per person.

An interesting case of a blind person who has gone into an unusual field is that of a young man who graduated from the University of California under our sponsorship with a major in physics and a minor in engineering. Though totally blind he completed his work at the University with a high scholastic record. He was interested in electronic data processing and in spite of many favorable interviews no job was forthcoming. As a result of continuous effort on the part of the rehabilitation staff, Stanford Research Institute agreed to give him an opportunity to try out as a programmer, in spite of the fact that many companies felt that this would be impossible for a blind man. He has been successfully employed on the job for several weeks, and it is believed that he is well on his way to success. This may mean the opening of other employment possibilities for qualified blind people.

The Vocational Rehabilitation Service is continuing to maintain a central file of blind persons in California who are employed. In spite of the fact that there is some movement in and out of the State the number continues to grow. Following is a distribution of the types of work being followed by a thousand blind persons on whom we have a record:

D. California Industries for the Blind

The three Production Centers for the Blind reported total sales for the fiscal year of $2,419,175. This reflects an increase of approximately 10 percent from the preceding year and is due primarily to increased sales to the federal government as a result of added military activity, and the effect of the program to "buy American" for overseas bases.

Wages paid to the blind and handicapped totaled $400,276, a small increase over the prior year but a reduction from the past several years due to the department's policy to confine the Industries for the Blind work to productive operations and to transfer less skilled workers to the Opportunity Work Centers. The department has continued to approve increased wage rates for the workers whenever possible, has made retroactive wage adjustment when funds were available from current operations, and during the current year, approved a 7½ percent special wage payment payable monthly to all workers who are on the job 75 percent or more of the time available to them. One of the problems that has been encountered in recent years has been absenteeism when workers had earned the maximum allowed under the aid program for their individual case. The special payment, based on hours worked in relation to time available, has tended in part to alleviate this problem.

During the past year several meetings have been held between representatives of the various groups within the department who are serving the blind in an effort to achieve better co-ordination of the entire program. Particular emphasis is being given to the proper evaluation of persons seeking the department's services for the first time in order that the initial service will be most beneficial to his individual requirements. A program has also been developed with the Vocational Rehabilitation Service serving the Los Angeles area which has resulted in advantage to several additional blind persons of working or training in the Los Angeles Center, California Industries for the Blind.

Carrying out the suggestions made by the Coordinating Council on State Programs for the Blind in its 1958 report to the Legislature, the policy of the department continues to limit production as much as possible to goods which can be sold to governmental subdivisions and selected items which can be sold to private industries competitively. The central office marketing staff has done considerable basic research into products, prices, and packaging. Many contacts have been made with agencies purchasing our products and, with the co-operation of the Legislative Analyst and the Assembly Subcommittee on School Purchasing, we are planning to better serve California schools with many of our items. Subcontract work has continued to receive attention in the Los Angeles area, although its volume has fluctuated somewhat with the current decline in aircraft manufacture.

The Oakland Center moved in November to a new location on Gilman Street in Berkeley and is now known as the Berkeley Center. This was made necessary by plans of the Division of Highways to initiate freeway construction on the former site. The center now has a shop and warehouse facility of approximately 58,000 square feet and an office area of 5,000 square feet. The building was designed and constructed to serve the needs of the Berkeley Center and for the first time in the operation of a center in the Bay area, all operations including adequate warehouse facilities are under one roof.

The San Diego Center is very much in need of enlarged facilities and recommendations have been made to consider this part of the department's capital outlay program. This center is presently operated partly in state-owned and partly in leased facilities with the warehouse located some distance from the production center. The need is urgent for a more efficient type of operation in San Diego.

E. Opportunity Work Centers

To furnish blind and other handicapped persons with an opportunity to supplement their income through useful employment in a variety of activities, the State Department of Education operates three Opportunity Work Centers in Berkeley, Los Angeles, and San Jose.

For persons who cannot be employed on a regular basis in private industry or in the California Industries for the Blind the Opportunity Work Centers operate on approximately a six-hour instead of a full factory eight-hour day.

Earnings now stem almost entirely from subassembly work for private industry. This constitutes a great variety of jobs, requiring many sets of muscles and the ability to adapt to many techniques. Backbone of this business is repeat orders offered as a result of satisfactory work done within the time limits specified.

The only handicraft which has not succumbed to foreign competition and the machine is chair caning, which continues to bring in a good steady, repeat business for all centers. However, the dollar volume is under 10 percent of the total, and in the two centers of most growth—Berkeley and Los Angeles—it is considerably less than this percentage figure.

During the past calendar year, payments to approximately seventy-five workers in all centers amounted to $58,074.24, an increase of 11 percent over 1961. As a result of a 45 percent increase in the volume over last year the Berkeley Center's present quarters proved inadequate and larger quarters have been rented.

III. Social Welfare Programs for the Blind

- A. California has three social welfare programs for the blind: Aid to Needy Blind; Aid to Potentially Self-supporting Blind Residents; and Prevention of Blindness. The first two programs are administered by the State's 58 county welfare departments and supervised by the State Department of Social Welfare. The Prevention of Blindness Program is directly administered by the State with the enthusiastic co-operation of the counties.

The objective in the administration of welfare aid to the blind in California is not merely to determine who is eligible and who is ineligible under the statutes, but also to fashion these programs into effective instruments which will provide substantial help to needy blind men and women in an effort to decrease dependency—physical, social, and economic.

1. Aid to Needy Blind

This program provides financial assistance and other services to those blind persons who do not have sufficient income or other resources with which to purchase the necessities of life. Many of these persons have been self-supporting sighted men and women and blindness has occurred at an age when remunerative employment had already ceased. In November, 1962, 12,233 persons received an average grant of $113.11 and an average medical care payment of $12.92.

2. Aid to Potentially Self-supporting Blind Residents

This program provides financial assistance, with liberal property and income exemptions as incentives to those blind persons who have a plan to achieve self-support so that they may be encouraged to become independent of public assistance. In November, 1962, 302 persons received an average grant of $141.14 and an average medical care payment of $5.97.

3. Prevention of Blindness

This program provides medical eye care for recipients of Old Age Security and Aid to Totally Disabled as well as for applicants and recipients of Aid to the Blind when such care might restore vision or prevent further loss of sight. The program is primarily a surgical one covering all the expenses incident to such care and including the surgeon's fee and the cost of hospitalization. During the year it is estimated that 451 eye surgeries have been performed, of which 425 were cataract surgeries. It is estimated that about 94 percent of these surgeries resulted in improved vision; and in about 85 percent of the cases vision was so greatly improved that the patients were no longer eligible for Aid to the Blind.

B. Progress during the current year

Following is a brief summary of major achievements in the social welfare programs for the blind during the year:

1. As a result of legislative action, the minimum grant of Aid to the Blind was increased on January 1, 1962, together with provision for an annual increase commensurate with increases in the cost of living. Even more important, provision was made for the first time for meeting special needs of blind persons who do not have income with which to meet such needs.
2. During this period the department has restored eyesight for more persons under its Prevention of Blindness program than ever before. By financing the costs of the program chiefly from the medical care fund, recipients of Old Age Security and Aid to Totally Disabled have been afforded the benefits of the program (as well as applicants for and recipients of Aid to the Blind) without having to become applicants for Aid to the Blind.
3. During the past fiscal year, 44.1 percent of all discontinuances in the Aid to Potentially Self-supporting Blind Residents program were made because the recipients had achieved self-support. The successful plan for self-support was that of trades and professions for 36.7 percent; independent business enterprises for 24.5 percent; vending stands for 20.4 percent; and miscellaneous employment for 14.3 percent of those discontinued because they had achieved full maintenance. The plan for self-support was unknown in 4.1 percent of the cases.
4. A new eye examination form was devised in connection with determination of degree of blindness which requires an eye tension test for all adult patients. This is essential in diagnosing glaucoma, a serious eye condition often progressing without pain or other symptoms, and thus insuring prompt treatment to prevent further loss of sight.
5. During the past year there has been a steady, if small, monthly decline in the statewide caseload in Aid to the Blind. While several factors are involved, it is known that the continuous and accelerated efforts to decrease dependency through restoration of sight under the Prevention of Blindness program and through the achievement of self-support by some blind persons under the Aid to Potentially Self-supporting Blind Residents program are contributing factors.

- During the period covered by this report the Legislature for the outright support of the Department of Public Health in the field of blindness; the Department of Public Health has been able to carry out a program of research and development in the field of blindness which has resulted in the most significant advances made in the programs in over a quarter of a century.

IV. Prevention of Blindness Program

- A. The State Department of Public Health continues a statewide program for the prevention of blindness, emphasizing the need for the prevention of blindness.

The Department of Public Health has been able to carry out a program of research and development in the field of blindness which has resulted in the most significant advances made in the programs in over a quarter of a century.

- B. The Department of Public Health has been able to carry out a program of research and development in the field of blindness which has resulted in the most significant advances made in the programs in over a quarter of a century.

The major feature of the year's activity was the rapid development of programs. Plans for the use of categorical aids in maternal and child health and the preparation of a wide range of consultation and material help. Twelve local health departments included in their plans for the use of these funds are significant causes of blindness in Californians: in a rapidly expanding and increasingly technological society, good vision is a vital element of community life. Blindness is about age six; in a population with an increasing segment of the social intent to keep this group independent and glaucoma is the leading cause of irreversible blindness among adults.

Blindness from both amblyopia and glaucoma is preventable. The key in the leadership of the health department can provide the mechanics, i.e., education, case-finding, and followup which will reduce the toll of blindness the past year these aspects of its responsibility in prevention of blindness:

community programs: local health departments and professional groups, volunteer groups, and the State Department of Public Health are active in many areas in California. Their common need is for consultation, assistance in the establishment of standards for programs, and help in developing a range of program aids such as exhibits, pamphlets, information kits, and seminars.

Numerous projects and studies are part of this aspect of the State's program.

2. The State Health Department is the recipient of a substantial grant under the Neurological and Sensory Disease Program of the U.S. Public Health Service to conduct a survey of the nature and distribution in the treatment, and rehabilitation of these disorders will be surveyed.

2. As volunteer transcribers continue to produce textbooks needed by visually handicapped students, it annually becomes more obvious that a central unit at the state level for cataloging, housing, repairing, and circulating the hand produced copies is mandatory. The need for this unit will increase as the elementary grade students reach the secondary level where no state series of adopted textbooks has been provided.
3. As cited in previous years better ways must be found for providing a service for visually handicapped children with multiple problems. An increasing number of these children are of school age, no longer have a preschool service extended to the parents, and are not enrolled in public schools due to the multiplicity of the child's problems and the lack of a good basis for providing the financial assistance needed. A survey should be conducted to locate these children and pilot projects initiated to establish ways of administering to their needs. This is an urgent need.

13.6. The Senate Committee on Rules is the committee provided for in Section 9126 of the Government Code. The balance of all money in the Senate Contingent Fund, including money now or hereafter appropriated by the Legislature, except such sums as are specifically made available for purposes other than the expenses of designated interim committees, is hereby made available to the Senate Committee on Rules for any charges or claims it may incur in carrying out the duties imposed upon it by these rules or by Senate or joint resolution.

14. The Committee on Rules shall propose to the Senate such schedules for regular meetings of the standing committees as will permit a full attendance of their members without conflict of committee engagements.

The committee may also propose such special committee meetings or special schedules of committee meetings as will facilitate the business of the Senate. Such schedules may provide a special schedule of committee meetings or upon certain days of the week or to meet any special condition which may arise.

Each standing committee may meet at the State Capitol and do any and all things necessary or convenient to enable it to exercise the powers and perform the duties herein granted to it and may expend such money as may be made available by the Senate for such purpose; but no committee shall incur any indebtedness unless money shall have been first made available therefor.

The chairman or vice chairman of the Senate Committee on Rules may designate any one or more of the Members of the Senate as a Senate interim committee to attend funerals in appropriate circumstances. The chairman or vice chairman of said Committee on Rules or any Member of the Senate designated by either of said officers may incur such expense as may be necessary for the purchase on behalf of the Senate of suitable floral pieces for any such funeral.

All expenses incurred pursuant to this resolution are hereby ordered to be paid out of the money allocated from the Contingent Fund of the Senate to the said Senate Committee on Rules and disbursed, after certification by the chairman or vice chairman of the committee, or by the committee's disbursing officer appointed and designated therefor by the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

the number of copies needed; and whether or not the report shall be printed in the Journal. In no event shall more than 1,000 copies of any factfinding committee report be authorized by the Committee on Rules on the first printing, exclusive of the Journal copies, if the report is to be printed therein, unless the Committee on Rules finds and determines that there is a special need for that report in greater numbers.

Upon determination by the Committee on Rules that additional copies of a Senate factfinding committee report are required at any time following the first printing of the authorized number of copies, the Committee on Rules may authorize one or more additional printings in the numbers found by it to be necessary and may make funds available therefor.

The State Printer shall hold the type for each Senate factfinding committee report for a period of 90 days from the date of the first printing or for such time as the Committee on Rules deems necessary.

A rule requiring a two-thirds vote on any question may be amended only by a two-thirds vote on one day's notice, and a rule requiring a two-thirds vote may be temporarily suspended only by a two-thirds vote.

All proposed amendments to these rules shall, upon presentation, be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate.

Introduction and Reference of Bills

Introduction, First Reading, and Reference of Bills

22. Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall send it to the Senate desk.

The Committee on Rules shall check all Senate bills prior to introduction and all Assembly bills before reference to committee and shall designate the committees to which they shall be referred. The provisions of Rule 12 referring to the assignment of bills are intended as a guide to the committee but are not binding upon the committee.

Under the order of Introduction of Bills, the Secretary shall assign a number to each Senate bill, shall read it the first time, shall read the name of the committee to which the bill has been assigned by the Committee on Rules, and unless otherwise ordered by the Senate without debate the assignment of the bill shall then be complete and after printing the Secretary shall deliver the bills to the committee so designated.

Under the order of Messages from the Assembly the Secretary shall read each Assembly bill the first time, shall read the name of the committee to which the bill has been assigned by the Committee on Rules, and unless otherwise ordered by the Senate without debate the assignment of the bill shall then be complete and the Secretary shall deliver the bill to the committee so designated.

No bill shall be introduced unless it is contained in a cover attached by the Legislative Counsel and unless it is accompanied by a digest prepared and attached to the bill by the Legislative Counsel, showing the changes in the existing law which are proposed by the bill. If any bill is presented to the Secretary for introduction which does not comply with the foregoing requirements of this rule the Secretary shall return it to the member who presented it.

The digest shall be printed on the bill as introduced in distinctive type upon the lower part of the first page thereof.

Introduction of Bills by a Committee

Introduction of Bills at Special Sessions

24. Whenever at any special session a bill is received at the desk, under the order of Introduction of Bills, it shall be referred to the Committee on Rules which shall decide whether or not such bill can properly be considered at the session. If in the judgment of the Committee on Rules such bill can be considered it shall report it back and designate the committee to which it shall be assigned. The schedules and any changes therein shall be delivered to the Senate as soon as convenient in order that due notice may be given to persons interested in the legislation.

No bill shall be set for hearing, nor shall any notice thereof be published, by a Senate committee until the bill has been referred to the committee by the Committee on Rules of the Senate.

Substitute Committee Bills

27. A committee may amend into one bill related provisions germane to the subject and embraced within the title; and with the consent of the author the committee may constitute such bill a committee bill by striking out of the heading of the bill the line "Introduced by" and the name of the author and substituting therefor "Substitute committee bill of the Committee on" and the name of the committee.

Withdrawal of Bills for Amendment

27.5. Upon request of the author of a bill on which no action has been taken other than the original reference to committee, the chairman of the committee to which the bill has been originally referred may, by his individual action taken independently of any committee meeting, cause the bill to be reported to the Senate with the recommendation that amendments submitted by the author be adopted and the bill be reprinted as amended and re-referred to the committee.

Recalling a Bill From Committee

28. The Senate may at any time by 21 votes recall a bill from committee.

Re-reference to Finance Committee

28.5. It shall be the duty of each standing committee to which a bill is referred to determine (1) whether the bill appropriates money, or (2) whether the bill would result in substantial expenditures of state money by (a) imposing new responsibilities upon the State or (b) new or additional duties upon a state agency or (c) liberalization of any state program, function or responsibility. If the standing committee so determines, the standing committee shall report the bill with the recommendation that the bill be referred to the Finance Committee, in addition to such other recommendations as the standing committee deems desirable.

Any member of the Senate may move to refer a bill to the Finance Committee, and the failure or refusal of the standing committee to recommend that the bill be referred to the Finance Committee shall not preclude such a motion by any member of the Senate.

Consideration of BillsOrder of Making Files

29. When bills are reported from committee they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Secretary as follows: All bills when reported to the Senate by the committee shall be placed at the foot of the Second Reading Senate or Assembly File, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the Senate or Assembly Third Reading File, in the order of reading. Unless otherwise ordered by the Senate the File shall be taken up in the following order: Senate Second Reading File, Assembly Second Reading File and Senate Third Reading File, Assembly Third Reading File. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the File, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate.

An inactive file shall be kept to which bills may be transferred at the request of the author, or on motion, and they shall be so transferred when they have been passed on third reading file without action three successive times. Bills may be carried on the inactive file by author and bill number without setting for the title.

Bills may be transferred from the inactive file to the second reading file on motion, and after being read the second time such bills will take their place regularly on third reading file and be available for consideration and passage.

Notices of committee hearings shall be published in the File whenever presented by chairman of committees to the Secretary for that purpose. For such purpose bills will be identified by subject or by number.

Re-reference to Committee

29.1. Whenever the Assembly amends and passes a Senate bill the Legislative Counsel shall, within one day after the bill is passed by the Assembly, prepare and transmit to the Secretary of the Senate and to the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Rules, a brief digest summarizing the effect of the Assembly amendment. The Secretary of the Senate shall cause said digest to be printed in the Daily File immediately following any reference in said file to the bill covered by the digest. No such bill may be acted upon until said digest has been received. If the digest discloses that the Assembly amendment has made a substantial substantive change in the bill as first passed by the Senate the bill shall, on motion of the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Rules, be immediately referred to that committee for reference to an appropriate Senate standing committee.

Special Order

30. Any measure or subject may, by vote of a majority of those voting, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

Messages From the Governor or Assembly

31. Messages from the Governor or from the Assembly may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

Messages from the Governor or from the Assembly may be considered when indicated in the order of business or at any other time by unanimous consent or upon motion.

Engrossing Bills

32. All Senate bills, constitutional amendments and joint or concurrent resolutions shall be engrossed before final action is taken on them in the Senate. Engrossment shall consist of comparing the printed engrossed bill with the original bill introduced and any amendments adopted to ascertain that it is correct. When a bill is reported correctly engrossed it shall be substituted on the file for the original bill.

Enrolling Bills

33. All Senate bills shall be enrolled immediately following their final passage and receipt from the Assembly. An enrolled copy of every such bill, amendment or resolution shall be printed and examined to ascertain that it is a true and accurate copy of the measure as it was passed. It shall then be authenticated by the signatures of the President or President pro Tempore of the Senate and the Secretary or an Assistant Secretary of the Senate and by the corresponding officers of the Assembly and transmitted without delay to the Governor.

DEBATE

Statement of Motion

34. No motion shall be debated until the same be distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated.

Regulations as to Speaking

35. 1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate, he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to speak through the public address system.
2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.
3. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.
4. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except through the presiding officer.
5. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

Order in Debate

36. When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question or order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing by the Secretary of the Senate.

Right to Address the Senate

37. No person other than a Member of the Senate or the President thereof, shall address the Senate while it is in session but the Senate may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole and while sitting as such committee may be addressed by persons other than members.

Questions and Motions

Amendments to Bills

38. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee or offered from the floor, such amendments shall be submitted in quadruplicate.

Adoption of amendments to any bill in the Senate prior to third reading, other than by roll call, shall not preclude subsequent consideration in committee or on the third reading of the bill, of such amendments or any part thereof by the Senate.

Motion to Lay on the Table

39. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

Division of a Question

40. If a question in debate contains more than one distinct proposition, any Senator may have the same divided.

The Previous Question

41. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall require a majority vote of the Senators present; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendment shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote.

Call of the Senate

42. Upon a motion being carried for a call of the Senate, the President shall immediately order the doors to be closed, and shall direct the Secretary to call the names of the absentees as disclosed by the last previous roll call. Thereupon, no members shall be permitted to leave the Senate Chamber except by written permission of the President pro Tempore or in his absence of the presiding officer. Those members who are found to be absent and for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear, or may be sent for and then taken into custody by the Sergeant at Arms whenever found, or by special messenger to be appointed for that purpose. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a roll call of the Senate and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided.

A call of the Senate may be ordered after the roll has been called and prior to the announcement of the vote.

No recess can be taken during a call of the Senate. During a call, the Senate may consider and transact any matter or business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had during a call of the Senate, except that during a call which was ordered for the purpose of procuring sufficient attendance for the conduct of business of the Senate in general and not for any other purpose, such call may be made to apply also to not more than one item of business by motion made and adopted by a majority vote of the members present after the roll has been called and prior to the announcement of the vote on such item of business. Under such circumstances, when the call of the Senate is dispensed with as to the item of business to which it is so applied it shall be deemed dispensed with as to the purpose for which it was originally made. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the announcement of the vote upon the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business, the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

Reconsideration

43. On the day on which a vote has been taken on any question a motion to reconsider the vote may be made by any member.

The motion may be considered on the day made or on the succeeding legislative day but may not be further postponed without the concurrence of 27 members.

No vote on a Senate bill may be reconsidered on or after the last day fixed for the consideration of Senate bills prior to adjournment and no vote may be reconsidered on the last day of the session.

When reconsideration of the vote by which any bill was passed has been demanded the Secretary shall not transmit it to the Assembly until the demand has been disposed of or the time for reconsideration has expired, but if the bill has already been transmitted to the Assembly the demand for reconsideration shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the bill. This motion shall be put to a vote immediately without debate and if not adopted shall preclude a demand for reconsideration.

A demand to reconsider the vote on any debatable question opens the main question to debate and the vote on the reconsideration shall be on the merits of such main question.

43.5. No action whereby a bill has been passed or defeated may be rescinded without the concurrence of 27 members.

The names of members shall be called alphabetically.

No Senator shall be permitted to vote or change his vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excused From Voting

45. When a Senator declines or fails to vote on call of his name he may, after completion of the roll call, and before the announcement of the vote be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which question shall be decided without debate. Unless the Senator is excused from voting he shall be required to vote.

Voting by Presiding Senator

46. When the President pro Tempore or any other Member of the Senate is presiding over the Senate he shall vote on roll call the same as though he were not presiding.

He talked of the conflict with Red China, and the long border between the two countries which complicates their situation. He spoke of the gratitude of India for the help received from the United States, and said their condition of unpreparedness was due to the poverty of the country: they had to make a choice between bread and guns, but that the people of India would never falter in their fight for freedom. The Consul General thanked the Senate for the privilege of addressing the body.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATEMENT ON CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

By

Governor Edmund G. Brown

To the Senate and Assembly of the Legislature of California:

I ask this Legislature to enact a moratorium on capital punishment.

It is my personal conviction we should abolish the death penalty entirely. I am willing, however, to set aside temporarily my opposition to all state executions in order that we may put this highly emotional and divisive issue to the test of a moratorium. I would hope that even the most adamant defenders of capital punishment would, similarly, accept this opportunity to prove their case.

There is now before you a proposal to limit imposition of the death penalty the next four years to those who commit first degree murder after a prior conviction for the same offense; to those who commit first degree murder involving two or more victims; to those who murder in the course of a kidnaping; to those who murder while in lawful custody, and to those who murder a peace officer or a person assisting a peace officer in the performance of his duty.

I support this proposal and will carry the case for its enactment not only to this Legislature but to all the citizens of California.

But let this be understood. I accept the five exemptions not because I believe they will deter the crimes in question. I accept them because they remove the most common objections to total abolition. It is better that we move one step away from the barbaric practice of capital punishment than not move at all.

I.

The trend among humane and forward-looking state and national governments is toward diminution of the death penalty. Even jurisdictions which refuse to abolish it have become increasingly selective in its application. In the three decades since 1930, the national average of state executions has shrunk from 167 to 72 a year.

Yet California, a model for the nation in social and correctional reform, continues to run counter to the trend. We have led all other states the past three years in the number of executions. In the years 1960 through 1962, 28 persons were put to death in our gas chamber. But there were only eight executions in New York—a state similar to ours in population, ethnic concentration and socio-economic structure. We had 11 executions last year alone and New York had none.

Is it not time to ask ourselves why California broadens its application of capital punishment in an age when most states and nations are turning away from it as an effective deterrent to capital crime?

You know where I stand. I oppose capital punishment because it weakens the very society it is meant to protect; because it shames the public conscience and denies the entire rehabilitative concept of modern penology.

I oppose capital punishment because it is more vengeful than punitive; because it is more an act of hate than of justice. We kill the murderer because we fear him, not because he is beyond rehabilitation or control. We kill him not for his crime but in the blind hope that others may not commit his crime.

And we can take no pride from the knowledge that we often equate the darkness of a man's crime with the darkness of his skin—his right to live with the rightness of his status in life.

I oppose capital punishment, too, because it brutalizes man; because a society that takes human life cannot invest its citizens with respect for human life.

To those who invoke the ancient code, "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth," I answer that society must live by an ethic and an intelligence above that of the homicidal psychotic. The murderer most often kills in the heat of passion and with only a moment's forethought. But we who judge him kill coolly and with long premeditation.

Let us invoke, rather, the Biblical commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," and apply it as rigidly to the State as we now apply it to citizens of the State.

I recognize there is no clear consensus among us on the moral justice or injustice of capital punishment. Nor is there consensus on the compassion we should or should not feel for those who have died, and who now await death, at our hands.

For that reason, I will not center my present argument for a moratorium on the controversial grounds of public morality or pity for the lowest members of an imperfect society. Rather, I will confine my case in chief to that which is not debatable in the light of reason and of historical knowledge:

The failure of capital punishment to deter capital crime.

The unjust and unpredictable enforcement of the death penalty in California.

II.

Punishment is a deterrent to crime only if it is swift and certain. But of all major crimes, the punishment for homicide is most subject to the law's delay and to the inconsistencies of our courts.

The evidence is clear. In 1961 there were 609 homicides in California. Only 106 defendants were found guilty of first degree murder and only 20 were given the sentence of death.

How can it be argued that our gas chamber is an effective deterrent if only one murderer in 30 is actually sent to Death Row?

Of the 20 who did receive death sentences for murder in 1961, only five went to the gas chamber by January 1, 1963. Of the remaining 15, one already has won a reversal of penalty and three more will win reversals if the historical ratio pertains. As Governor, I have given executive clemency to another four, commuting their sentences to life without possibility of parole.

It is probable, then, that only 12 of the 609 murderers actually will surrender their lives to the State. What possible deterrence can there be in a penalty we invoke only 2 percent of the time?

My argument would not stand if we put to death all murderers who were found to be sane. Then, at least, punishment would be certain, if not swift. But I cannot believe a person contemplating murder is much afraid of a penalty he has 49 chances in 50 of escaping.

I will concede our random enforcement of the death penalty in California is not in itself an all-convincing argument against deterrence.

The incontrovertible proof is to be found in those states and nations which have given up the death penalty. In no instance has there been a meaningful increase in homicides after abolition. To the contrary, many states and nations without capital punishment have an incidence of murder below that of contiguous and comparable jurisdictions where the death penalty is in effect.

States without the death penalty, or with minimum enforcement of it, rank among the lowest in homicides. Yet 12 southern states, all of whom enforce the death penalty vigorously, have the highest incidence of murder.

If capital punishment is not a deterrent, what arguments are left to its defenders?

Retribution—society's right to avenge itself against the offender?

Society has no such right. The purpose of punishment is to rehabilitate or control, not destroy.

Self-protection—the certainty that a dead murderer can never repeat his crime?

Recidivism is rare among first degree murderers who are given parole. The bandit or kidnaper is far more likely to commit murder after his release—and the record proves it. Should we, then, execute all who have been found guilty of crimes of violence?

Capital punishment not only fails to deter capital crime but is actually an obstruction to the swift and certain administration of justice.

The reluctance of many juries to impose it often permits the first degree murderer to escape with a second degree or manslaughter conviction.

The division of murder cases into three separate trials for guilt, sanity and penalty is costly to the taxpayer and wasteful of the time and resources of a court system whose calendar is already oppressive.

We confine the issue of sanity almost entirely to murder cases, requiring the services of psychiatrists for both defense and prosecution and giving rise to the persistent controversy over the modern application of the M'Naghten Rules.

Only last week a man went to his death in our gas chamber who was found to be mentally sick but legally sane. The sophistry of such distinctions should torture the conscience of us all.

A moratorium would largely eliminate the sanity phase of murder trials and insure a swifter and more precise determination of crime and punishment.

I believe, too, a moratorium would end our modern equivalent of the Roman Circus, the lurid and emotional atmosphere in which society must render the most awesome of its judgments—life or death for one of its citizens.

Let us restore such trials to their proper setting of order and dignity.

And let us admit the law is subject to error—the ugly chance we might condemn the innocent.

In 1938 a man by the name of John Henry Fry was sent to San Quentin for the willful slaying of his wife. He was under the influence of alcohol at the time of the crime and was uncertain of his own guilt or innocence. But he chose to plead guilty to manslaughter and was given a sentence of 1 to 10 years.

A year later another man was found to be guilty and I issued a full pardon to John Henry Fry.

The point to remember is this. An innocent man could have been sent to his death, on the evidence in the case, had he chosen to plead not guilty and gone to trial on a first degree murder indictment.

III.

Our hit or miss enforcement of the death penalty in California is not unlike a wheel of chance.

We execute a man but let the woman live for identical crimes.

Indeed, the odds against the murderer change with the weapon he chooses. If he shoots his victim, the odds favor his execution. If he bludgeons or poisons his victim, the odds favor life imprisonment.

Even in advance of his trial he gambles with his life. Should he plead guilty and hope for leniency from the court? Or should he plead not guilty and risk death?

There are in Death Row today felons awaiting execution for crimes identical in degree and extenuation to those for which other prisoners are serving life terms with possibility of parole.

The murderer even gambles on the jurisdiction in which he commits his crime. There are counties in California in which juries have never sent a murderer to Death Row.

Is it just that such abstract elements should decide the issue of life or death? I think not.

We come now to one of the most damning indictments of the death penalty. It is a fact that we sentence to death members of minority races, the poor, the unintelligent and the friendless for crimes we are prone to minimize in defendants who are more like ourselves.

The Negro who kills in a robbery is much more likely to die in our gas chamber than the influential executive who kills for community property.

In California last year we took the lives of six Caucasians and five members of minority races. Nationally in 1961 civil authorities took the lives of 42 persons. Of this number 20 were Caucasians and 22 were Negroes—a ratio far out of proportion both to population and division of offenses.

Can we deny that capital punishment imposes a further, and fatal, discrimination against those among us who already are the most common victims of bigotry and prejudice?

As for the poor of all races, it is clear we execute them in disproportionate numbers because they lack the resources to retain the most skillful counsel or to press their cases to the ultimate.

I do not intend this as criticism of our public defenders or of attorneys the courts appoint to defend the indigent. But one has only to compare the extent of appeals in cases involving private as against public counsel to illustrate the point.

I submit to you, then, that a moratorium not only would support the case against deterrence but would banish the inequities that plague our present enforcement of the death penalty. And we must banish them as an act of public conscience.

IV.

I have had to live intimately with capital punishment for all the 19 years of my public life. As District Attorney, Attorney General and Governor, I have upheld the death penalty because it is my sworn duty to uphold it. And I will continue to do what the law commands whatever decision this Legislature may reach.

In my early years as a District Attorney, I was an advocate of the death penalty. But with the passing of time and my close association with hundreds of death penalty cases, I have come to believe that capital punishment is a failure—and the preponderance of evidence bears me out.

This Legislature and I have agreed in the past that prejudice, poverty and ignorance are direct causes of criminal behavior.

We have agreed that we must outlaw racial discrimination; that we must legislate against the slum and the ghetto; that we must improve our systems of vocational rehabilitation, and that we must raise the living standards of all our citizens.

Can we, then, not agree on a more realistic and humane philosophy toward the victims of the very conditions we deplore in common and act in common to improve?

The case I argue is controversial. There is strong public disagreement over the entire question of capital punishment and that disagreement finds its partisans in this Legislature.

But can we not submit our differences to the test of time? Can we not join those states and nations which recognize that no society is infallible in its judgments and that no man is beyond hope—beyond our power and God's to redeem him?

Respectfully submitted,

EDMUND G. BROWN, Governor

BUDGET MESSAGE

By

Governor Edmund G. Brown

To the Senate and Assembly of the Legislature of California:

I present with this message my budget for the 1963-64 fiscal year.

It recommends expenditures of $2,945,027,761 from current income, and $305,374,208 from capital outlay bond issues—a total of $3,250,401,969.

Of that total, $3,167,000,000 represents program commitments already made by the Legislature or the electorate of the State of California through the Constitution, statutes or bond authorizations.

Of the remaining $83.4 million, $30.7 million is for salary increases and $52.7 million is for new program or improved levels of service. Of this last amount $30 million is for additional aid to local school districts.

I emphasize that the new and improved services represent only 1.6 percent of the total budget.

This budget is once again soundly but narrowly in balance. It proposes no new or higher taxes, but requires acceleration of collection of personal income, bank, corporation and insurance taxes to put them on a current basis. The State of California can no longer afford the luxury of permitting payment of some taxes more than a year after it must meet the cost of providing essential services.

This budget conforms to the strictest standards of austerity. Additional hundreds of millions of dollars in requests were eliminated through refusal or drastic scaling down of the amounts sought.

In my judgment, this budget recognizes both the most pressing requirements of our growing population and the necessity of maintaining the traditional quality of government services in California.

This is the largest state budget in the history of the nation, but this State now has the largest population of any state in the nation.

This budget again sets a new record, but every budget in the foreseeable future of California will either set a new record or ignore the minimum annual requirements of our astounding growth.

Despite the sheer size of recent budgets, moreover, it is noteworthy that in the last decade California's tax burden has dropped from a position of 19th among the states in 1953 to 31st today. And its net debt of $2.68 per $100 of personal income is 33rd among the states and compares to an average of all the states of $4.04 per $100 of personal income.

Not only in the last decade, but since World War II, it would appear that California has used its resources wisely to provide the base on which we have built an economy steadily expanding at a more rapid rate than the rest of the nation.

In education, water, highways, social insurance, public health, employment and safety we have invested in programs which have not just repaid us, but have provided unmatched economic dividends.

Personal income for the nation is expected to rise 3.5 percent this year. By coincidence, California's population is also expected to rise 3.5 percent, but the State's personal income will rise an anticipated 5.7 percent. It is this trend which has carried California's share of the national income from 9.24 percent 10 years ago to an expected 11.4 percent this year, again a percentage greater than our proportion of the population.

It is in terms of this remarkable performance of California's economy and of the role played by governmental services in that performance this budget should be evaluated.

Whether the proposed expenditures are in the area of current operating expenditures or in the financing of capital projects, the tests are the same.

Do they economically and efficiently provide direct and necessary services to the people of California today? Do they constitute prudent investments in human and natural resources to meet the long range demands of the future of the leading state in the nation? If the expenditures proposed here do neither, I invite you to delete them.

As in past years, I again seek your counsel on how to produce true economies, economies that do not impair today's needed services or add unduly to the already certain burdens of tomorrow.

I ask you to remember always that ours is a growing family. We have no option but to build and to provide.

Our growth and price increases alone account for an automatic addition of about $135 million or 4.6 percent of proposed operating expenditures.

As for capital projects, they are almost all for growth. Sale of $157 million in water bonds will more than double our pace in the California Water Plan's race against time and population trends. Approximately 85% of the $148 million in state building bonds will go to keep California first in providing facilities for tuition-free higher education.

We must remember also that growth imposes as heavy a burden on local government as it imposes on the State. This budget provides an increase of $153 million in subventions to cities, counties and local districts for education, health, welfare and flood control.

This will raise the total amount of local assistance money spent not by the State but by its subdivisions of $1,652,000,000 or 56% of total operating expenditures.

Look for economies, yes, but not at the expense of necessary functions of government—either state or local.

In the same spirit, I renew my own pledge to economize as fully as possible in the administration of this budget. In my first term of office, our average management savings were more than $24 million a year, and I will do my best not only to maintain that average, but to improve upon it.

I want to add another promise at this time.

Both you and I have encountered steadily increasing difficulty in dealing with the complexities and intertwined detail of the massive itemized budget which accompanies this message.

I commend to your attention the introductory summary program statements on revenues and expenditures in the budget document, but I do not believe they satisfactorily meet this problem.

I intend to submit a budget to you next year which will more clearly establish the lines between operating expenditures and long-term capital investment programs—a budget which will make easier our joint task of searching for economies and measuring program effectiveness against program costs.

At the close of this message, I propose to discuss briefly specific proposals for major new expenditure programs and increased levels of services or local subventions. It will also detail my salary recommendations.

First, however, let us examine projections of revenue from our present tax system and a series of tax reform and conformity measures.

These two elements are essential to the support of the proposed expenditure program, and deserve your fullest consideration.

To begin, although the rate of growth in our economy is substantially ahead of the nation as a whole, it will not move as rapidly during the coming year as it did last year.

The Gross National Product advanced from $518 billion to $554 billion in the 1962 calendar year, a gain of $36 billion. Our projections are based on a GNP of $575 billion in 1963, a gain of only $21 billion. That means a relatively lean year in growth of revenues from California's present tax structure and collection system. While the longer term prospects are good, collections for the 1963-64 fiscal years would leave a gap of about $150 million between revenues and the proposed expenditure program were we to make no changes in our revenue system.

I am recommending to you, however, a series of long overdue reforms in our present procedures for collecting personal income, bank, corporation and insurance taxes which will close the gap, not only for the 1963-64 fiscal year, but for the succeeding fiscal year.

Let it be clear at the outset that there are no new or increased taxes involved in these proposals. To the contrary, I propose to remove 850,000 low income taxpayers from the rolls this year and to forgive one-quarter of all personal income taxes due for the year 1964.

Of these reforms, two are most important.

The first would end California's present unusual system of permitting personal, corporate and bank taxpayers to pay on an installment basis after the date due.

In other words, a man who moved to California in January of this year and immediately received the benefit of all state services, would not have to pay any income tax until April 15, 1964, and even then could pay in two installments thereafter without any additional penalty or interest.

The State would not receive its first payment for 15 months and its final payment for 24 months, yet would be paying the bills for services rendered for the whole 24 months.

No newspaper would or could be as generous to a new subscriber. No other manufacturer or supplier of services could function successfully on such a basis. No union could accept a new member on these terms. Yet we get 600,000 new citizens every year and they are entitled to immediate service—whether educational or institutional, whether in the form of highways or an adequate water supply.

The first major step in this tax reform program would simply be a requirement that all taxpayers meet their full tax for 1963 by April, 1964. Tax collections would then be current on at least an annual basis.

The second major step would be to install a withholding system on July 1, 1964, accompanied by a system for a quarterly estimating and payment system for individuals and semi-annually for banks and corporate taxpayers.

This would operate just as the long-established federal system does, and would, in fact, make the handling of the two tax obligations simpler and easier for the taxpayer.

Since the state income tax has little impact on family incomes under $10,000, and a much lesser impact on incomes above that amount than the federal tax, installation of the withholding tax in mid-year after more than a year's notice would cause little difficulty.

Moreover, because of the extra revenue generated by the acceleration to a pay-as-you-go system, the State could provide a 25% forgiveness, and I recommend that this be done. The forgiveness I propose would amount to $85 million for individuals and $65 million tax credit for banks and corporations which in the past paid a double tax when they started operations in California.

I should note here that 26 of the 32 states having a general personal income tax provide for withholding. Of the 26, only three forgave any part of the previous year's taxes when they began withholding, and all three did so because they coupled withholding with tax increases. I propose no such increase, but I believe the 25% forgiveness is justified nonetheless.

There are other compelling reasons for adopting these measures. Although we in California are proud of our excellent tax enforcement, it is estimated that at least 100,000 Californians leave the State annually, many of them without paying state income taxes before they depart.

In almost every one of the states which have adopted withholding, the new revenue produced has exceeded expectations substantially.

If California is to avoid levying new taxes, it must receive full and equitable return from its present revenue structure and this is the only satisfactory way to insure full compliance at a reasonable cost.

Some have been concerned about the cost of withholding to business. It will cost the State, which employs more than 130,000 persons, only about 30 cents per employee a year, certainly not an amount which would indicate an undue burden on other employers, large or small.

The proposals would solve another difficult problem.

We now not only must wait up to 24 months to collect for today's services, but we must borrow from ourselves in order to maintain a reasonably even relationship between revenues and expenditures within a given year.

We receive the bulk of our revenues in the second half of the fiscal year. In order to keep up with demands in months of minimum revenue receipts, the General Fund must borrow from special funds and repay not only the principal, but the interest which would have accrued if the funds had been left invested in securities or in bank deposits.

This fiscal juggling as illustrated in the chart below is contrary to all sound money management policy, and the time has come to end it.

IMPROVED PATTERN OF GENERAL FUND INCOME AND OUTGO

This chart shows the improvement in the flow of State General Fund revenue which will result from income tax withholding and current tax payments by banks, general corporations and insurance companies. The revenue trough experienced in the October-December quarter under the present system will be eliminated, and the peak flow of the April-June quarter will be materially reduced by the proposed plan. At the same time revenue receipts in every quarter will more closely align with expenditure requirements of that quarter.

The following table shows what these proposed tax reforms plus a number of supplementary reforms and changes would provide in added revenue for the next two fiscal years.

† Requires constitutional amendment.

‡ No change anticipated at this time.

The most important of the other changes is a proposal to change the handling of our tidelands oil and gas bonuses and royalties.

Under present statutes, most of the revenues are assigned to the California Water Fund.

Because of stepped-up tideland leasing activity, however, more money is going into the California Water Fund than was contemplated earlier or is now required.

I therefore propose enactment of a new statute which would guarantee to the Water Fund the approximately $9 million needed to meet our standing commitments to the California Water Plan, but divert whatever remains from the conservation of natural resources to the conservation of human resources, or, to be more specific, to education.

This will be increasingly important as development proceeds on the rich new Long Beach tidelands area.

If the entire revenue program proposed above is enacted, California will be able to meet its fiscal commitments without hardship through the next two fiscal years.

Since this plan was first set forth publicly, however, concern has been expressed that most of the revenue advantages would be behind us by 1965, and that we would then face a major new tax problem.

Our economic studies show just the opposite. The career economists in the Department of Finance believe that the gap between expenditures and revenues will lessen rather than widen. Instead to today's gap of $150 million, they estimate a gap of perhaps less than $100 million in 1965.

There are three basic reasons for this projection. First, the President's tax cut program, with its favorable impact on our revenues and the nation's growth pattern, would substantially improve the ratio of growth between California's revenues and our expenditures, thus narrowing the present gap. Second, we will have learned how much income tax is being evaded, and have added that extra amount to our revenue projections. Third, we will begin to receive much more substantial revenues from Long Beach and other rich tidelands leases.

It would be foolish to predict now whether or not we will need some additional taxes in 1965.

But it would be even more foolish to increase taxes or impose new taxes today when this two-year program makes it not only unnecessary, but unwise to do so.

By 1965, there is a reasonable chance that there will be no need for additional taxes, or that the need will be minimal.

I recommend that we adopt the changes I propose today, then reappraise our total position in 1965.

In the meantime, however, we must take added precautions to make our position in 1965 as strong as possible. We must keep the expenditure base set forth in this budget firmly under control. Only in this way can we prevent added expenses from erasing the advantages of the added revenues we foresee.

There is yet another excellent reason to defer consideration of any other fundamental changes in our tax structure until 1965.

As I noted in my inaugural message, I believe this session of the Legislature should authorize creation of a tax commission to undertake during the next two years a fundamental analysis of our local and state tax structures and their increasingly complex relationships.

That commission should report both to the budget session next year and the general session of 1965 on possible methods of apportioning responsibilities for support and tax resources equitably among the State and its various subdivisions.

We all know that the property tax, the principal source of local revenue, is frequently burdensome and often unfairly applied.

At the same time we know that this fact continues to force local officials to ask for state tax funds to finance activities which most would agree are local responsibilities.

I will later send you a special message on this subject, but the proposed creation of a tax commission to report in 1965 is one more strong and central reason to adopt the revenue reform recommendations contained in this budget.

Against this background, I now ask you to consider the following noteworthy expenditure proposals:

EDUCATION

In this budget, as in my past four budgets, I assign first priority to public education. The dramatic increases in our school population, and the public's wise insistence on the highest academic standards, compel this emphasis.

I recommend expenditure of $1,233,000,000 for public education from current income—an increase of $98 million. The total figure amounts to more than 42 percent of total revenues for 1963-64. Four-fifths of the increase or $78 million will augment present apportionments for average daily attendance.

Our public schools, from kindergarten through junior college, will have an attendance of more than 4 million in the next fiscal year—a growth of more than 220,000. Under present law, this growth would require an additional state contribution of $48 million. I propose, however, that we add $30 million more to that amount to relieve demands on the local property taxpayer.

But I firmly believe you should not make the additional $30 million available unless you also enact a realistic program of countywide equalization, which in itself would produce still another $25 million a year.

Islands of assessed wealth should contribute their fair share to the cost of public education. The present system enables rich districts to contribute a negligible fraction of assessed valuation to the schools while property owners in poor districts pay three and four times as high a percentage.

Democracy requires that we share the cost of schools just as we share the cost of public recreation or public health.

I also propose that the State strengthen its long-neglected public library system by encouraging regional co-operation and the formation of adequate library service areas. Funds to implement this program have been included, subject to your approval of a formula for distribution of these grants.

Continued growth of our college age students will again require substantial additional support for the University and State College Systems. With 12,000 more students, these institutions will require operating funds of $266 million. Commitments for future enrollments will also require additional classrooms and other educational facilities totaling $125 million from the state building bond issue approved at last November's election. This includes $67.5 million for the University of California and $57.6 million for the State Colleges. I again include a modest amount to establish and encourage faculty research within our State College System, as recommended by the master plan under which we are now operating. Research opportunities must be provided if we are to compete and maintain our position in the intellectual market.

One other educational program will provide the means for a statewide attack on the problem of culturally deprived students who, because of economic, racial, migratory, or other background, fail to realize their educational potential. Leadership within the State Department of Education has been provided to assemble data needed to solve the many facets of the problem, and to conduct research studies in selected school districts. I strongly recommend this program for your approval.

HEALTH AND WELFARE

This budget carries improved programs in the general field of human welfare. It recognizes the need for greater participation in state-local co-operative programs directed toward both mentally ill and mentally retarded persons.

State participation in the Short-Doyle mental health program should be increased by $2,000,000, with the additional money to be applied to new and expanded local programs, including recently authorized multi-purpose centers for the mentally retarded.

Those handicapped, either vocationally or socially, will receive recognition by an increase of $7.5 million in Aid to the Totally Disabled and Aid to Needy Children. This amount will also make a substantial contribution to cost sharing between the counties and the State.

Provision is also made, at a cost of $375,000, for an intensified review and rehabilitation of the industrially injured.

Increased emphasis in this general field also includes special projects for vocationally adaptable mental hospital patients and recipients of Old Age and Survivors Insurance or public assistance to help make them at least partially self-supporting.

WATER DEVELOPMENT

I propose construction of $193 million in State Water Plan projects—more than double the $87 million for the current year.

Of this investment in water facilities, $36 million will come from the California Water Fund and $157 million from the initial sales of water bonds. Inclusion of these self-liquidating bonds in the budget totals, incidentally, is an excellent example of the confusion caused by mixing expenditures from current income with long term capital investment.

Among major expenditures for 1963-64 are $79,998,000 for the Oroville Division, including $29,908,000 for the dam proper; $47,975,000 for the San Luis Project; $17,451,000 for the South Bay Aqueduct, and $15,490,000 for the North San Joaquin Division of the California Aqueduct.

Until now, work on the water project has been largely preparatory. But the coming year marks the beginning of major project construction.

The Oroville Dam will be the largest earthfill dam in the world. The aqueduct system will channel more water to farm, home and factory than any other public project in history.

I can report to you with pride that this plan, historic in conception and scope, is proceeding on schedule, and bids on major units continue to come in under estimate.

AGRICULTURE

The budget contains allocations for research in two areas of vital concern to the future of California's $3 billion agricultural economy. One involves the European Common Market and the other a system of domestic freight rates that I believe to be harmful to California farmers in the national market.

I propose, first, that we employ an economist and staff to protect and promote California agriculture in Common Market and all other foreign trade negotiations.

The federal government is now discussing tariff adjustments with the Common Market and we expect requests from member countries that would impair the marketing position of at least 20 of California's farm products. The staff I propose to create would develop and assist industry in presenting a case against unfair tariffs in Washington. If we can show a damaging impact on our economy from tariff adjustments, I am certain Washington will resist many of the Common Market demands.

I recommend also that we employ a staff to analyze the effects of restrictive interstate freight rates on California agriculture, particularly poultry, dairy and livestock producers.

Definite inequities presently exist and we must move as quickly as possible to present the case for adjustment to federal officials.

Finally, I recommend that we augment our present inspection safeguards against pesticide contamination of milk, fruits and vegetables.

In the current year, we are able to inspect less than 1 percent of such products reaching the consumer, and find excessive contamination in 1 out of 20 inspections.

Employment of seven additional chemists in the Department of Agriculture, and purchase of new testing equipment, will enable us to double the present number of inspections.

SALARIES

The State Personnel Board has made recommendations which would require increases of $62 million if all comparable state employees were to be covered. Of that amount, $45 million would be from the General Fund and $17 million from special funds.

The board has recommended a 10 percent increase for many, a 5 percent increase for some, and no increase for still others.

In view of the difficult financial problems facing the State, I am compelled to reduce the total to $30,750,000, $21,830,000 from the General Fund and $8,920,000 from special funds.

The amount provided will permit 5 percent increases for all those classes designated by the Personnel Board as lagging furthest behind, and another $2,000,000 for apportionment among the other classes to meet inequities causing management problems.

I also propose to submit limited salary increase measures for statutory officials and judges. These measures will be designed to bring these salaries into more equitable relationships with executive and judicial salaries paid in other governmental jurisdictions.

Finally, I propose 5 percent increases in academic salary funds which will be available for independent apportionment by the University of California and the California State College System.

This message has dealt in detail only with broader expenditure categories. But you will find in the budget other proposals of decisive impact on the State and its future.

Among them are creation of a Human Rights Commission, urban affairs and housing, more highway patrolmen, promotion of tourism, educational television, a youth conservation work program, a broader scope of activity for the Committee on Automation and Technology, continued government reorganization, and enhancement of opportunities for minorities through broader emphasis on apprenticeship training.

Following is a summary of the General Fund condition:

GENERAL FUND CONDITION (in Millions of Dollars)
	1961-62	1962-63	1963-64
Beginning Surplus and Reserves, July 1-----	$61.8	$92.6	$18.8
INCOME:
Revenues and Transfers	$1,728.2	$1,845.3	$2,099.7
EXPENDITURES:
State Operations	$607.1	$689.8	$753.5
Capital Outlay-----	16.8	32.1	14.8
Capital Outlay—Bonds	(88.0)	(158.0)	(148.5)
Local Assistance	1,073.5	1,197.2	1,337.8
Total Expenditures	$1,697.4	$1,919.1	$2,106.1
Committed Reserves	$47.6	$15.2	$8.4
Ending Surplus, June 30	$45.0	$3.6	$4.0

Thank you for your consideration of these proposals. I submit them without regard for partisanship and trust that you will evaluate them in the same spirit.

They represent many hundreds of decisions, reached in an effort to answer the single most dominant question of modern California government: How can we maintain the quality of life in California at a time when momentous growth imposes a relentless pressure on all our resources?

Together, Republicans and Democrats, we have done remarkably well. And we have done best when we have avoided the rancors and bitterness of extreme partisanship.

Let us once more do our best. Let us once more act in California's traditional spirit of affirmation.

We are not here to turn back or stand still but to move boldly forward. This budget is designed to help us do just that, and I herewith submit it to you with pride and with confidence.

Respectfully submitted,

EDMUND G. BROWN, Governor

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Senators Regan, Rattigan, and O'Sullivan:

Senate Resolution No. 49

Relative to the duties of the Committee on Rules

WHEREAS, A lawsuit is now pending before the California Supreme Court entitled Yorty et al. v. Anderson et al., and another lawsuit, entitled Salvo v. Jordan et al., is pending before a three-judge court in the United States District Court for the Southern District of California, in both of which actions plaintiffs have challenged the validity of the election of the present membership of the California State Senate, the validity of the apportionment of the Senate, the validity of the statute which created the various existing Senatorial districts, and the validity of the provisions of the California Constitution pursuant to which these districts were created; and

WHEREAS, Other actions may be brought in the courts of California and of the United States in which the same issues will be raised, and other actions are now and will be pending in the courts of other States and of the United States in which substantially similar issues will be raised within the same subject matter of State legislative apportionment, the resolution of which issues will inevitably affect the apportionment of the California State Senate and the interests of the people of California; and

WHEREAS, The contentions made by plaintiffs in such actions bearing upon State legislative apportionment have brought into question the valid existence of the present California State Senate and its ability to perform its constitutional functions as a component body of the Legislature of this State; and

WHEREAS, The Senate, on behalf of the people of the State of California, has a vital and immediate interest in the resolution of the issues raised in such litigation, and it is imperative that the Senate, in the interests of the people of the State of California, participate and be represented in such actions to the fullest extent possible; and

WHEREAS, The heavy workload of the Legislative Counsel, and the extremely rigid time limitations he must meet in properly serving the needs of both houses of the Legislature and the 120 members thereof for bills, amendments, opinions and other matters related to the current 1963 General Session makes it impracticable for him and his staff to devote to such litigation the time and effort that their importance demands; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Senate Committee on Rules is hereby directed to employ legal counsel to represent the interests of the Senate in such pending or further legal actions, bearing upon the subject of State legislative apportionment, as the Senate Committee on Rules shall determine, and to spend such amounts of money as the Senate Committee on Rules determines to be necessary therefor, which amounts shall be payable out of the Senate Contingent Fund.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communications were received and read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

Hon. Glenn M. Anderson

Senate Chamber, Sacramento

Hon. Jesse M. Unruh
Speaker of the Assembly and
Members of the Assembly
Assembly Chamber, Sacramento

GENTLEMEN: During the 1962 Budget Session of the California State Legislature the Trustees of the California State Colleges were directed to study the library requirements of the state colleges and to report to the 1963 Regular Session of the Legislature.

In compliance with such request, I transmit herewith a copy of our report, entitled Proposed Program for Library Development—California State Colleges. This report was adopted by the Board of Trustees of the California State Colleges at its meeting in December, 1962. A copy of this resolution is attached to the report.

The report confirms my preliminary determination that the per capita book volume in the libraries of the State Colleges is below the median of comparable academic institutions. Accordingly, I am listing the primary features of the proposed plan which will form the basis for a long-range program of library development in the State Colleges:

1. Each new state college is to have a collection of 50,000 volumes by the time the college opens.
2. Each new state college is to be provided with a least 4,000 volumes annually until the enrollment reaches 1,000 FTE.
3. All colleges above 1,000 FTE are to be supported by a library book formula which will provide five volumes per graduate student, four volumes for each of the first 1,000 undergraduates, three volumes for each of the next 4,000 undergraduates, and two volumes for each undergraduate over 5,000, all on an annual basis.
4. Those state colleges which cannot reach 40 volumes per student by 1972-73 under the formulas are to be given a supplementary allowance to attain this level.

This desire for excellence and the growing size of the state colleges make it essential that a positive program of augmentation be undertaken. The library program, as approved by the trustees, represents an important step forward for the state colleges.

Sincerely,

GLENN S. DUMKE, Chancellor

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

House Joint Memorial No. 3

A Joint Memorial

By Chatburn, Winkler, Ravenscroft, Allen, Brassey,
Klingler, Permann, Mills (Ada), and Benson

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress Assembled:

We, your Memorialists, the Legislature of the State of Idaho, respectfully represent that:

WHEREAS, Approximately two-thirds of the land area of the State of Idaho is federally owned and contains approximately three and one-fourth million acres set aside for primitive and proposed wilderness areas; and

WHEREAS, The economy of the State of Idaho is based upon its agriculture, forest products, mining, sheep and cattle industries, and the use of its waters for irrigation and hydroelectric power; and

WHEREAS, Excessively large and unmanageable primitive and wilderness designations are very restrictive to full utilization and do not permit the federal government to develop wisely the natural resources of the State of Idaho for the continuation and expansion of its natural resource industries; and

WHEREAS, One of the great potential industries of the State of Idaho is its growing tourist trade and wild life attractions; and

WHEREAS, The denial of ready access to these areas to the tourist trade, to the citizens of Idaho and to industry is detrimental to the state's present and future growth and prosperity; and

WHEREAS, Water supply, game habitat, forest productivity and recreational opportunities for all are increased with good forest management in contrast to the very limited use of wilderness areas; and

WHEREAS, the State of Idaho needs the development of lands and its resources to create a broader base for its taxing units and to increase employment for its people;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives, State of Idaho, the Senate concurring, That we are most respectfully opposed to the dedication of additional lands as primitive or wilderness type areas in the State of Idaho and respectfully request that all primitive and wilderness areas in the State of Idaho be reviewed and studied to determine and establish their greatest use potential; and

Be it further resolved, That we oppose federal enactment of legislation, and existing rule and regulation designating authority, embodying the principle of establishing excessive wilderness areas of limited use which would deny to the natural resources industries, including recreation, the right to develop wisely natural resources and would also be to the detriment of the people of the State of Idaho and the nation; and

Be it further resolved, That the present agencies administering all federal lands do so with the view of developing the full multiple use of the lands to further the general welfare and the economy of the State of Idaho and the nation; and

Be it further resolved, That the Secretary of State of the State of Idaho be authorized and he is hereby directed to immediately forward certified copies of this memorial to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, the Secretary of Interior, the Secretary of Agriculture, and to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this state.

Be it further resolved, That the Secretary of State of the State of Idaho, be authorized and he is hereby directed to immediately forward certified copies of this memorial to the Speaker of the House and to the President of the Senate of the following states: Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, North Dakota and South Dakota, and that these states are hereby urged to take similar action in their respective legislative bodies.

This House Joint Memorial passed the House on the 21st day of January, 1963.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL
LIBRARY AND COURTS BUILDING
SACRAMENTO, February 4, 1963

The Honorable Glenn M. Anderson
President of the Senate
California State Legislature
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR SIR: During the 1961 Legislative Session, Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 97 was enacted. This resolution concerned the Walker River which, as you know, is an interstate stream. The head waters of this river are in California and it flows into Nevada.

The above-referred to concurrent resolution directed me to commence an action against the State of Nevada in the United States Supreme Court for an equitable apportionment of the waters of the Walker River when, in my judgment such an action is necessary in order to preserve the rights of the State of California. As you know, the California-Nevada Interstate Compact Commission is presently attempting to negotiate a water allocation between the states of California and Nevada of the waters of the Walker River. While these negotiations have not reached an agreement stage, I have been advised that they are progressing. At this time, it does not appear necessary to commence such a legal action, for it is possible, and I am hopeful, that the matter can be resolved by the negotiations which are in progress through California-Nevada Compact Commission.

I am personally keeping a close check on this matter and particularly on the negotiation progress and the possibility of any Nevada attempt to proceed with the contemplated Hoyo Canyon Dam. Should the occasion arise where it will be necessary to file such an action in the United States Supreme Court to protect those users of the waters of the Walker River in California, I will of course do so and advise you accordingly.

Very truly yours,

STANLEY MOSK, Attorney General

TORRANCE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
2204 TORRANCE BOULEVARD, TORRANCE, CALIFORNIA
February 4, 1963

The Honorable Glenn M. Anderson
President of Senate
Sacramento, California

SIR: You will find enclosed a resolution of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce which expresses the feelings of our membership with regard to the recent proposition of the Los Angeles Metropolitan Transit Authority that a tax levy be imposed on residents of Los Angeles County for the purpose of constructing a rapid transit system within the county.

Our membership is unalterably opposed to the authority's plans as now proposed. In addition to our concern that a dangerous precedent may be established, we also find the routing of the proposed transit lines to be without benefit to the population massed in the west and southwest portion of this county.

We trust that you, too, will decline to take any favorable action on the authority's proposition as now composed.

Very truly yours,

MARTIN M. DENN, President

Enc.

TORRANCE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
2204 TORRANCE BOULEVARD
TORRANCE, CALIFORNIA

A resolution of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce requesting the Legislature of the State of California to oppose any change in Los Angeles Metropolitan Transit Authority legislation which would permit the Metropolitan Transit Authority to levy a tax on Los Angeles County property

WHEREAS, The Metropolitan Transit Authority proposes to request the State Legislature to change the law to permit the Metropolitan Transit Authority to levy a tax on Los Angeles County property; and

WHEREAS, The Metropolitan Transit Authority proposed plan would authorize the Metropolitan Transit Authority to levy a tax on Los Angeles County property at a rate not to exceed fifteen cents per one hundred dollars assessed valuation; and

WHEREAS, If said proposed legislation were enacted it would cost the taxpayers of the City of Torrance an estimated three hundred seventy-five thousand dollars annually without commensurate or any benefit, and at the same time set a dangerous precedent;

Now, therefore, the Torrance Chamber of Commerce does resolve as follows:

That the Legislature of the State of California is hereby requested to oppose any change in legislation that would permit the Los Angeles Metropolitan Transit Authority to levy a tax on Los Angeles County property.

ADOPTED AND APPROVED this 15th day of January, 1963.

Senate Resolution No. 49

Relative to the duties of the Committee on Rules

WHEREAS, A lawsuit is now pending before the California Supreme Court entitled Yorty et al. v. Anderson et al., and another lawsuit, entitled Silver v. Jordan et al., is pending before a three-judge court in the United States District Court for the Southern District of California, in both of which actions plaintiffs have challenged the validity of the election of the present membership of the California State Senate, the validity of the apportionment of the Senate, the validity of the statute which created the various existing Senatorial districts, and the validity of the provisions of the California Constitution pursuant to which these districts were created; and

WHEREAS, Other actions may be brought in the courts of California and of the United States in which the same issues will be raised, and other actions are now and will be pending in the courts of other States and of the United States in which substantially similar issues will be raised within the same subject matter of State legislative apportionment, the resolution of which issues will inevitably affect the apportionment of the California State Senate and the interests of the people of California; and

WHEREAS, The contentions made by plaintiffs in such actions bearing upon State legislative apportionment have brought into question the valid existence of the present California State Senate and its ability to perform its constitutional functions as a component body of the Legislature of this State; and

WHEREAS, The Senate, on behalf of the people of the State of California, has a vital and immediate interest in the resolution of the issues raised in such litigation, and it is imperative that the Senate, in the interests of the people of the State of California, participate and be represented in such actions to the fullest extent possible; and

WHEREAS, The heavy workload of the Legislative Counsel, and the extremely rigid time limitations he must meet in properly serving the needs of both houses of the Legislature and the 120 members thereof for bills, amendments, opinions and other matters related to the current 1963 General Session makes it impracticable for him and his staff to devote to such litigation the time and effort that their importance demands; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Senate Committee on Rules is hereby directed to employ legal counsel to represent the interests of the Senate in such pending or further legal actions, bearing upon the subject of State legislative apportionment, as the Senate Committee on Rules shall determine, and to spend such amounts of money as the Senate Committee on Rules determines to be necessary therefor, which amounts shall be payable out of the Senate Contingent Fund.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Senator Stiern:

Senate Resolution No. 55

Commending Stanley Kramer for producing the film, "A Child is Waiting"

WHEREAS, Stanley Kramer has produced a film entitled "A Child is Waiting" which deals with the condition of mental retardation; and

WHEREAS, This film recognizes that mental retardation is not a hopeless condition and that proper treatment, care, and education can ameliorate the condition; and

WHEREAS, President John F. Kennedy in his message to Congress on February 6, 1963 outlined a program seeking to reduce by one-half the 126,000 persons born each year who are destined to be retarded. The President stated that 15 to 25 percent of the cases are caused by known or suspected factors; that recent studies show that adverse social, economic and cultural factors play a major causative role in mental retardation; and that retardation disables 10 times more persons than diabetes and 600 times more than polio, and thus ranks as a major national health, social and economic problem; and

WHEREAS, The film, "A Child is Waiting," brings forcefully to the the attention of the public the need for funds for research to prevent mental retardation and to care for the mentally retarded; and

WHEREAS, The film, "A Child is Waiting" brings to public consciousness a matter of national moral concern and does this in a forthright and educational manner; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That Stanley Kramer is to be commended for his courage in making this film and for the honesty and integrity of his production; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is hereby directed to transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to Mr. Stanley Kramer.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

By Senators Cobey, Sturgeon, Rattigan, Rodda, and Weingand (At request of Senate Factfinding Committee on Labor and Welfare):

Senate Resolution No. 56

Relating to continuation of a study by the Senate Factfinding Committee on Labor and Welfare of the need for residential care, treatment, and training of severely handicapped children and adults of normal mentality

WHEREAS, The Rules Committee of the California State Senate referred to the Senate Factfinding Committee on Labor and Welfare Senate Resolution 155 of the 1961 General Session, which authorized a study of the need for residential care, treatment, and training of severely handicapped children and adults of normal mentality; and

WHEREAS, The Senate Factfinding Committee on Labor and Welfare has initiated a study to specifically define "severely handicapped children and adults of normal mentality"; to secure the assistance of the California Department of Public Health in conducting a survey to determine the numbers and need for care of persons within this definition; and to identify and evaluate applicable services currently available through federal, state, and local governmental and private sources; and

WHEREAS, The development of such information will permit the Senate Factfinding Committee on Labor and Welfare to evaluate the necessity, desirability, and financial feasibility of co-ordinating or revising existing programs and services and establishing pilot projects or other new means to satisfy unmet needs, and to then report to the Senate its findings and recommendation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Senate Factfinding Committee on Labor and Welfare is authorized to continue its study of the need for residential care, treatment, and training of severely handicapped children and adults of normal mentality and report its findings, together with any recommendations for legislation, to the Senate by the 30th calendar day of the 1965 General Session of the Legislature.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

By Senator Cobey:

Senate Resolution No. 57

Relative to congratulating the 93d Bombardment Wing of the 47th Strategic Aerospace Division

WHEREAS, For the first time in the history of the Strategic Air Command of the United States Air Force, a unit has won the highly coveted Strategic Air Command's Base of the Year Award for two consecutive years; and

WHEREAS, It was with a sincere sense of pleasure and pride that the Members of the Senate of the State of California learned that the unit which accomplished this unparalleled feat, by winning the award for 1961 and again for 1962, is the 93d Bombardment Wing of the 47th Strategic Aerospace Division, which is stationed in California at Castle Air Force Base; and

WHEREAS, The Base of the Year Award is the trophy which is awarded on a rotating basis to the Strategic Air Command Base having the highest number of accident-free flying hours regardless of the type of aircraft; and

WHEREAS, The 93d Bombardment Wing, which is the largest B-52/KC-135 Wing in the Strategic Air Command, earned the award for 1962 by its amazing record of 48,511 flying hours in worldwide operations without an accident; and

WHEREAS, The flawless record of the 93d Bombardment Wing is particularly outstanding since the Wing not only maintains, with its 330th Bombardment Squadron and 93d Air Refueling Squadron, a capacity to conduct and support long-range bombardment operations, but also performs the mission of training combat crews for both the B-52 and the KC-135, a mission which poses safety problems not normally found elsewhere; and

WHEREAS, Colonel James V. Reardon, the Commanding Officer of the 93d Bombardment Wing, and each of the officers and enlisted men of the Wing are deserving of the highest commendation and honor for the exemplary record of the unit; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Members of the Senate of the State of California do hereby extend their heartiest congratulations to Colonel James V. Reardon, its Commanding Officer, and to each of the officers and enlisted men of the 93d Bombardment Wing of the 47th Strategic Aerospace Division for its unparalleled achievement in winning the Strategic Air Command's Base of the Year Award for the second consecutive year; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to Colonel James V. Reardon, the Commanding Officer of the 93d Bombardment Wing.

WHEREAS, The 25th of April, 1962, saw the passing of a faithful public servant, Charles J. Hagerty, who, but a short time before, retired after nearly 50 years service with the State of California; and

WHEREAS, Charles J. Hagerty entered the service of the State as a clerk in the office of the Secretary of State on November 1, 1912, and continued to serve in that office in various capacities until the 31st of October, 1959, at which time he retired; and

WHEREAS, The Senate of the State of California on June 19, 1959, adopted Senate Resolution No. 177, which registered appreciation of Charles J. Hagerty's service to the State in the following words:

"WHEREAS, During his many years of service to the people of the State of California he has earned the friendship, respect and admiration of all those who have been so fortunate as to know him; and

"WHEREAS, 'Charlie' Hagerty, as he is affectionately known, has demonstrated a remarkable memory for significant events and dates and has frequently surprised people who have called on him for information by being able to answer their inquiries from his own memory without reference to the multitudinous volumes stored in the archives; and

"WHEREAS, In addition to his rare ability and marked capacity, he has endeared himself to members and officers of the Senate and all others who have made frequent visits to his office, by this constant courtesy, his friendly disposition and his willingness to help in the solution of problems, in the solving of which his participation has been solicited; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That it congratulates Charles J. Hagerty on his outstanding service, commends him for a job well done, and desires to convey to him the thought that its members and officers will miss him from his accustomed office in the Capitol of the State of California; and be it further"; and

WHEREAS, Members of the Senate who knew Charles J. Hagerty and others who have heard of him are happy to endorse the expressions of friendship and admiration set forth in said Senate Resolution No. 177; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That its members deplore the passing of this fine patriotic public servant and desire by this resolution to convey their utmost sympathy to bereaved members of his family; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby directed to present a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to Mary Hagerty, widow of Charles J. Hagerty, and to his grandchildren Charles Mary Hagerty and Farrell Ann McKeag.

WHEREAS, This is reflected in the theme chosen for the 1963 Law Day observance: "LAW, Rule of Right, Not Might"; now, therefore, be it

Senate Resolution No. 61

Relative to congratulating William F. Knowland

WHEREAS, It is with the most sincere and profound pleasure that the Members of the Senate of the State of California have learned that William F. Knowland, the distinguished editor and assistant publisher of the Oakland Tribune, has been named Oakland's "Outstanding Citizen of 1962" for his long-standing personal efforts in the field of public service; and

WHEREAS, This award, which is sponsored by the Oakland Inter-Service Club Council and the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, is intended to give public recognition to citizens who give freely of their time, talents, and funds to civic work and to inspire others to enter this field of service; and

WHEREAS, There are but few men in the history of this State who have given so freely and unselfishly of their time, talents, and funds in the service of their fellow man, and but fewer still who have been as able and done as effective a job, as William F. Knowland; and

WHEREAS, His exemplary record of public service encompasses outstanding service as a Member of the Assembly and Senate of the California Legislature; a Member of the United States Senate for 13 years, during the course of which he served with distinction as both the majority and minority leader; and as Representative of the United States to the Eleventh Session of the General Assembly of the United Nations; and Without this publicity and encouragement, many of these all-important projects would have failed.

"To the solving of Oakland's civic and welfare problems he gave freely of the vast knowledge and experience he attained in a political career that was climaxed by his selection as the majority leader of the world's most powerful body, the United States Senate.

"His civic roles in 1962 included: Director and member of the executive committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; secretary of Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum Inc.; chairman of the Regional Committee for Better Service at Oakland Inter-

Bill read second time.

Motion to Amend

Senator Geddes moved the adoption of the following amendments.

Amendment No. 1

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out line 1. and insert:

"SECTION 1. Section 7071.5 of the Business and Professions Code is amended to read:

7071.5. If application for a license, or for restoration or renewal of a license, is made by any person whose license has been suspended or revoked as a result of disciplinary action for violation of this chapter, or is made by any copartnership, association or corporation whose license has been suspended or revoked as a result of disciplinary action for violation of this chapter, or by any person who may have been associated with such copartnership, association or corporation, the board shall require as a condition precedent to the issuance of a license to such applicant, or removal of suspension, that such applicant file or have on file with the registrar a bond issued by an admitted surety insurer in a sum to be fixed by the board based upon the magnitude of the operations of the applicant, but which sum shall not be less than two thousand dollars ($2,000) nor more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000), running to the State of California and conditioned upon his compliance with all the provisions of this chapter, or in lieu thereof that such applicant or licensee post with the registrar a cash deposit in an amount based upon the magnitude of the operations of the applicant but of a sum of not less than two thousand dollars ($2,000) nor more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000).

Every person injured as a result of a violation of this chapter by such contractor may bring an action in a proper court on the bond required to be posted by the contractor under the preceding paragraph, or a claim against the cash deposit for the amount of the damage he suffered as a result thereof to the extent covered by the bond or the cash deposit.

The claim of any employee of the contractor for wages shall be a preferred claim against any bond or cash deposit required by rule of the board.

The determination of the validity and priority of any such claim for wages shall be based upon a finding of fact made by the registrar in accordance with the provisions of Article 7, Section 7090 to 7120 of the chapter.

If any bond or cash deposit which may be required is insufficient to pay all claims for wages in full, the sum recovered shall be distributed among all claimants for wages in proportion to the amount of their respective claims. The partial payment of such claims shall not be considered as full payment and claimants may file for the completion of payment of any unpaid balance as otherwise provided, and the registrar may continue suspension or revocation of any license involved until such time as such claim or claims are satisfied in full.

Such bond or cash deposit shall remain in force and with the registrar for a period of one year and during such additional time as there may be unsatisfied claims outstanding against the same.

The failure of a licensee to maintain in full force and effect the bond or cash deposit required by this section shall result in the automatic suspension of his license, which shall not be reinstated until a new bond has been filed.

Any reference by a contractor in his advertising, soliciting, or other presentments to the public to any bond required to be filed pursuant to this chapter is a ground for the suspension of the license of such contractor.

Each licensee shall be required to file only one bond of the type described in this section.

Any honored claim against the bond or cash deposit shall constitute grounds for disciplinary action against such contractor. The board shall require the contractor to file a new bond in an amount not to exceed ten thousand dollars ($10,000).

Nothing contained in this section shall apply to a person or firm whose license has been suspended or revoked pursuant to Section 7124.1 or for a failure to comply with Section 7083.

Any violation of the provisions of Section 7120 or any conduct prohibited or proscribed by the provisions of Section 7120 shall cause immediate suspension of the contractor's license unless the contractor posts bond or cash deposit in the amounts and in the manner prescribed by this section within 30 days after such violation or conduct. Failure to post such bond or cash deposit shall cause revocation of the contractor's license, which shall not be restored or renewed until such time as such bond or cash deposit is posted."

Amendment No. 2

On page 1, strike out lines 2 to 23, inclusive; and strike out pages 2 and 3.

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered printed, and re-referred to Committee on Business and Professions.

STATEMENT OF GOVERNOR EDMUND G. BROWN
on HUMAN RIGHTS

To the Senate and Assembly of the Legislature of California:

I

I propose that at this session of the Legislature, we complete this State's unfinished business in guaranteeing equal rights and opportunity to every California citizen.

In 1959 and 1961, California made great strides toward our goal of full citizenship. The list of progressive laws which you passed at my request is an impressive one. It includes:

- The State's first Fair Employment Practices Commission;
- The Unruh Civil Rights Act;
- The Hawkins Housing Act;
- Old age and disability pensions for noncitizen residents;
- The end of a discriminatory challenge at the polls;
- Tighter antidiscrimination safeguards in urban redevelopment.

In addition, my administration has strengthened fair practices throughout the state government; has fought discrimination in apprenticeship training; has appointed many qualified members of minority groups to key positions; and has backed the FEPC in its effort to make California's position in human rights the first in the nation.

With so much accomplished, it might seem that we can now rest from our labors while the remaining problems solve themselves.

This will not happen.

Today, as the leading State in the nation, the State with the most flourishing economy, California shares with the other urban states the problems of crowded cities in which minority groups are forced to live in ghettos. Imposed segregation breeds further segregation in the schools. It breeds poverty, family breakdown, dependency and "social dynamite."

These questions threaten the very life of the central core of our cities. They will not right themselves; they demand a solution now.

It is to these questions that I ask that the Legislature address itself in 1963.

I intend to continue to take the actions appropriate to the Executive. Soon, for example, I will issue a formal directive to all state administrators in the form of a "Governor's Code of Fair Practices." It will contain new administrative guarantees of nondiscrimination within the state government, and we hope that it will prove to be a national model.

In other fields, however, only the Legislature may properly act. I shall accordingly offer or endorse a series of proposals, a few of which are now before you, with others to come in the days and weeks just ahead.

I earnestly hope that these proposals will draw strong support from the Legislature, without regard to partisan affiliation. Following are the measures which I consider most urgent:

II

I propose that you pass legislation to eliminate discrimination in the private housing market in California.

In 1961, a law to prevent discrimination in private housing failed to pass the Legislature. During the past two years, the need for such legislation has grown increasingly urgent. To those who argued that the existing laws and attitudes are adequate, I think we have demonstrated that they are not.

When discrimination exists in private housing, the disadvantages to our whole society are obvious:

Tensions are aggravated. Our American principles of equality are ignored. Urban renewal projects are largely thwarted. De facto segregation in the schools is encouraged.

The result is a serious injustice, which threatens the vitality of our cities, and proves costly to the entire population.

We have made a start toward solving this problem through the Hawkins Act and the Unruh Act. But we must do more. At present, a citizen who is prevented from buying a house because of discrimination must hire an attorney and go to court. And the unfortunate truth is that those who most frequently need to take such action are those who can least afford it. This is an expensive, time-consuming practice, and far less workable than solving the question through commission enforcement.

I ask that the commission be given the same authority with respect to housing that it has with respect to employment. This means commission administration, with emphasis on education and conciliation, and, when necessary, enforcement.

Experience in eight other states—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Minnesota, Colorado and Oregon—proves that properly drawn fair housing laws are effective. We should provide just as strong protection for citizens' rights in California.

I therefore ask that you broaden the present Hawkins Housing Act to cover most housing which goes on the market for sale or rental, and that you place administration of the new act under the commission.

III

Next, I ask that you broaden the scope of the present Fair Employment Practices Commission, giving the commission authority to move against other discriminatory practices than those involving employment. The name should be changed to the California Human Rights Commission.

Increasing the number of members from five to seven will give us broader representation in the commission, and the new name will reflect the increased responsibility which I believe should be vested in that body.

Further, I hope you will give the commission new authority to proceed on its own against discriminatory practices.

Under the present law, the commission cannot initiate complaints. The experience of other states proves that the commission will work more effectively if it can initiate complaints, and complete the process of investigation, hearing and enforcement.

IV

Next, I ask you to act to eliminate de facto segregation in our schools, and to assist students who come from unusually deprived backgrounds.

Already before you, at my request, is a bill providing that the existing commission on Equal Employment Opportunities for Teachers in the Department of Education be expanded into a Commission on Inter-Group Relations.

This is one important part of our effort to assist local school districts in the effort to eliminate de facto segregation. The new commission would help the districts develop new plans and procedures to prevent segregation, and I hope you will give it your support.

We must, however, go much farther in recognizing the problem posed by children from underprivileged homes—children who are ill-equipped to take advantage of our school curricula.

I urge you to give your support to legislation, already before you, providing compensatory funds for the disadvantaged children from poor social and economic backgrounds. We already recognize our obligation to provide assistance to physically handicapped or mentally retarded children. Just as clear is our obligation to the children who are so handicapped by background that they cannot take advantage of our system of education.

Many of these children become so discouraged that they end up as "dropouts." The next step, almost inevitably, is unemployment. Sometimes this is followed by delinquency and crime. I must stress the fact that the youth's lack of opportunity is expressed in incompetence and in misdeeds for which the rest of society pays a high price.

We should assist the schools so that they can furnish special services, including a higher ratio of school personnel, smaller classes, more remedial help in reading and mathematics, and more intensive counseling both of the child and his parents. We should, in short, do everything possible to develop the child's motivation so that he will see his education through and become an independent, contributing member of society.

An important feature of the bill is its provision for a permanent consultant service in the Department of Education. The consultant will work with school districts to assist in developing local programs. Through special research projects, we will develop new information to help us make progress in this pioneering program.

I strongly urge your support of this essential measure.

Further, we must now take legal steps to prevent discrimination by all persons and businesses licensed by the State.

If it is essential that we prevent discrimination in such fields as housing and employment, it is surely of equal importance that the State itself guard against discrimination in its own business.

I believe we must make sure that businesses and professions licensed by the State assure equality to all our citizens. The licensing agencies should, in the case of repeated offenses, have the power to suspend, and in some instances revoke, the business or professional license.

Here are some examples:

If trade, business or vocational schools are found to be engaging in discrimination, the Director of Professional and Vocational Standards should be empowered to take disciplinary action—through suspension or revocation of the license.

The same authority should be given to the Commissioner of Real Estate, with respect to licenses held by real estate brokers and salesmen.

Financial institutions, including savings and loan associations licensed by the State, should be subject to discipline if their lending practices discriminate against members of minority groups.

I therefore propose that you enact a reasonable law which will enable us to discharge our constitutional responsibility to all citizens, yet impose no unfair burden upon the licensee.

VI

In summary, then, I ask you to move against discrimination in private housing; broaden the scope of the Fair Employment Practices Commission, changing its name to the California Human Rights Commission, giving it two additional members and the authority to initiate complaints;

I urge that you move to prevent de facto segregation in our schools; that you begin a new program to help culturally deprived children; and that you pass legislation to eliminate discrimination in businesses and professions licensed by the State.

These steps, if you take them, will propel California a good distance toward its goal of national leadership in guaranteeing equal rights and opportunity.

I realize that virtually every one of these proposals will meet opposition. But I urge in the course of the legislative debate that you consider the alternatives to these actions.

The problems posed here are essentially urban in character. They are closely allied to the problems of crime and delinquency, poverty, overcrowding and unemployment that to some degree plague every American city.

If we do not act, the core areas of our great cities will deteriorate steadily, despite the best-intentioned local efforts toward urban renewal. If we do not act, the economy of the cities is certain to sicken, becoming a drag on the presently expanding and healthy economy of the State.

First and foremost, however, we must consider the humanitarian values involved. Justice demands that we act. Democratic values demand that in California we put to work the principles set forth in the Bill of Rights.

I am proud of our State's increasing momentum in these matters, but I am deeply conscious of the task yet ahead. Partisan considerations aside, I hope that your study of this legislation will convince you that the time for forthright action is now.

Years of controversy, you will remember, preceded our action in 1959 in establishing FEPC. That conflict has long since died down.

As you debate my housing proposal and the other measures involving human rights, let me remind you that the current conflicts will also fade away once the new laws have proved themselves.

We have the opportunity to give to our fellow citizens the guarantees of freedom and opportunity which have been denied them for a century. I hope you will join me in acting now to end the racial nightmare which has so long plagued our nation.

These laws will be testimony to the faith of California that all men are indeed created equal. I urge you to join me in my determination to uphold the dignity of every individual Californian. I urge you, following full legislative debate, to give your approval to these measures and send them to my desk.

Sincerely,

EDMUND G. (PAT) BROWN

on

SOCIAL WELFARE

To the Senate and Assembly of the Legislature of California:

Three years ago, I proposed to the Legislature that California undertake a thorough, intensive inspection of social welfare problems and programs. I was prompted by urgent concern over this paradox: in a basically healthy and expanding economy, the number of Californians requiring public assistance has not diminished and, following each recession, has reached successingly higher proportions of the working population.

This paradox has failed to yield to increasingly large expenditures on welfare programs and to the best efforts of the many dedicated men and women who carry them out, creating a mounting sense of public frustration with welfare, frustration which carries with it the potential of irresponsible action like that which took place in Newburgh, New York.

The need for action was obvious. But clearer still was the need for detailed facts and thoughtful, objective consideration from which we could proceed to responsible and effective action.

You shared my concern for this kind of action and authorized the establishment of a Welfare Study Commission. It was charged with three responsibilities. First, to determine the causes of dependency in California. Second, to define the goals for public welfare which are appropriate to the needs and the aspirations of the people of California and their financial resources. Third, to study the administration of welfare programs and recommend the reforms needed to make programs responsive to the needs they should serve.

In its report to the Legislature and the Governor, the commission has discharged its responsibility fully and with great distinction.

The men and women of the study commission devoted great amounts of time and effort to preparing this report and even greater amounts of serious thought and deliberation. The result is a landmark in California's welfare history and the first study of this depth and scope to be undertaken in any state.

In this effort, representatives of county government joined wholeheartedly with state officials and private citizens. Their accomplishment carries forward the tradition of active citizen participation in government which is one of California's great assets. It has gained the members of the commission the gratitude of their government and their fellow citizens.

In years past, it was not difficult for the citizen to see the reasons for the number of people on the welfare rolls. He had only to look in his newspaper to learn that "hard times" had come to the American economy and because of them, people were out of work and were turning to their fellow citizens for temporary help.

They got that help: food for the table and a little money—very little—to buy absolute necessities until the hard times were past and the family breadwinner could find a job.

This was the case in the early thirties when most of this country's social welfare legislation was enacted and when the single, clear purpose of public assistance was temporary aid to tide over the family of the man who was forced out of work.

What was the case in 1933 is not the case in 1963; and, though circumstances have changed, the goals of welfare programs have remained much the same.

It is between these two facts that the heart of the controversy over social welfare programs in California and the entire nation dwells.

The worker who lost his job in 1933 knew the reason. The factory was forced to shut down or cut back drastically because the economy of the area—if not of the whole country—was in a slump. When the slump ended, as everyone knew it would eventually, he could look forward to returning to work and to the dignity and self-supporting status which work brings to a man.

The California worker who loses his job in 1963 has no such clear understanding of his personal misfortune. His factory has not shut down. It has never been doing better. The economy of his state is not in a slump. It, too, has never been better.

He looks around him to see a state whose economy produces enough each year to care more than adequately for the needs of everyone. A billion pounds of cotton is grown every year. Three billion quarts of milk is produced. Five billion dollars worth of construction goes up every year and twelve billion dollars worth of manufactured goods rolls out of factories. He sees a state whose citizens earn enough money to put the average annual income for every man, woman, and child at $3,000 and the average annual family income at more than $7,000.

He understands clearly enough that his job has been taken by a machine or that the rapidly changing technology of his industry no longer requires his particular skill.

That understanding will not sustain him very long as his savings melt away and, at the end of them, he turns to his government for the wherewithal to keep his family and himself going.

Nor will it ease the frustration of being unable to find a new place of work in which his skill is useful.

More frustrating and even harder are the circumstances faced by the Californian who never had a skill, the man who since childhood has lacked education, training, encouragement, and opportunity. The only kind of job he can hold is the job which does not exist any more.

The plights of both these men illustrate a truth about poverty in modern California—a truth which we must grasp if we are to deal with the dependency which results from poverty. These twin plagues, poverty and dependency, do not stem from the ancient problem of an economy with low production levels.

They stem from the problem of individuals with low levels of production or none at all. Poverty and dependency in California today are as modern as the missile factory and de facto segregation; as up-to-date as the automatic ditchdigger and the zip gun. Of all the products of this State, they are the ugliest and the most costly.

Who are the nonproducers and the low-producers of California? What are the forces which impoverish them and make them dependent?

They are the workers whose skills and training do not match the jobs available.

They are the aged who have been unable to accumulate, in the productive years of their lives, the money to satisfy the needs which exist as much after retirement as before it, those inadequately covered by social security, those without money for the extremely high costs of medical care which age demands.

They are the mothers and their children who have lost their breadwinner or whose breadwinner can no longer provide for their needs.

They are the physically and mentally disabled without adequate financial resources.

They are those whose educations do not match the demands of an increasingly technical economy and an increasingly complex society. The likeliest recruits to their ranks are the 50 percent of our population 25 years and older who have less than a high school education; the 15 percent of the same age group who never even graduated from grade school, a group replenished annually by a distressingly high dropout rate in our schools.

They are those most vulnerable to a recession.

They are those whose low economic status, low educational status, and slight employment opportunity are matched by restricted opportunity for social contacts—those who are not permitted a full stake in our life as a community. These are the residents of the "trap" ghetto where the way out is blocked by racial restraints, by lack of economic opportunity, and by a circle of hopelessness bred of these two factors.

They are the half million Californians who have what can only be described as poverty incomes. There are another half million who have incomes which permit only bare subsistence. These are the men, women and children who form the leading edge of poverty and dependency in this State. Standing behind them are an additional three million whose incomes are barely adequate. In sum, they are the four million Californians who have no hedge, no cushion against loss of income or other financial catastrophe. They live precariously on the margin of our economy.

The forces which put them where they are—lack of training, education and a stake in our society—operate most forcefully among our minority citizens, specifically Negroes and Mexican-Americans.

At a time when the less skilled are increasingly liable to be without jobs, the Negro and the Mexican-American are disproportionately underskilled. And at a time when the less educated are increasingly liable to be without jobs, these same people are disproportionately undereducated.

The figures are clear: 60 percent of the Negroes in California 25 years old and older have not finished high school compared with 47 percent of whites in the same age group. The actual disparity here is concealed because the figures for whites include Mexican-Americans who are even more the victims of lack of education than the Negroes: in 1950, 50 percent of our population with Spanish surnames in the 25 years-or-older age bracket had less than eighth grade educations compared with 35 percent for the corresponding age bracket among Negroes and 15 percent for whites.

Whether white, Negro, Mexican-American, Japanese or Chinese, the poor of California face a common situation: increasingly they tend to be trapped in their poverty; increasingly they tend to be concentrated among definable groups; increasingly they tend to be insulated from the rest of the community.

As this insulation develops and poverty becomes more concentrated, it also becomes less visible to the rest of us. Those who live in the suburbs begin to think that poverty has been eradicated because they do not see it where it exists increasingly: in the central cities. In the midst of the Affluent Society, the presence of the Other America of poverty and dependence tends to slip from the consciousness and from the conscience of the community. If this happens, the problem slips, perhaps irretrievably, beyond the reach of timely corrective action.

California in 1963 faces modern problems of poverty and dependency which do not yield to the solutions applied in former days to other problems. It is clear that to continue to apply those solutions is to continue the waste of human and financial resources they entail.

There is an alternative: action which is keyed to present problems. This is the action I recommend to you. Its purpose is to get people off welfare rolls and back on their own feet.

First, we must complete the change in emphasis in our public assistance programs from the cash dole philosophy which has ruled them since their beginning in the 1930s. We must place the emphasis on restoring the individual's capacity to support himself and on preparing children for futures of self-reliance.

Second, we must seek out and correct the causes of poverty: lack of education, lack of training, and lack of economic opportunity.

Third, we must make our programs in the field of social welfare, and the administration of them, sounder fiscally, more effective, and more efficient.

These are the goals toward which the following recommendations are aimed.

I

I ask you to amend the Welfare and Institutions Code to state rehabilitation as a major objective of public assistance and the right of the State to require this as the objective in local administration of programs.

This new emphasis on self-reliance, self-care and self-support means more than vocational or physical restoration. It means helping individuals to understand social, physical, and psychological problems and to apply personal will to their solution so they may achieve their maximum potential for self-support and normal living. It means helping strengthen family life by assisting parents to understand the needs of their children and to improve the care of their children so they, in turn, may live normal lives, develop their capacities to the maximum, and achieve personal and economic independence.

It is my firm conviction, based on the best professional advice, that such programs will go far toward ending a sorrowful waste of human resources and, in the long run, reduce the taxpayers' welfare burden.

Putting the emphasis on rehabilitation will bring the goals of social welfare in California in line with the new goals of federal welfare programs and make available additional federal funds with which counties can double the amounts they can spend for rehabilitative programs.

This is an important first step, both legally and symbolically, toward placing the accent where it belongs in assistance programs. I urge you, as men responsible for welfare programs, to go out in your counties, as members of the study commission did, to see welfare recipients at first hand and get a clear idea of their needs. I also urge you and the welfare officials of the State and counties to join me in increasing public understanding of the practical benefits of aiding people to get off welfare and preventing dependency.

I ask you to authorize the payment of aid in federally assisted programs as soon as need and apparent eligibility are established. Present requirements mean that aid is delayed until the applicant's need is formally established or that county general relief funds are used in the interim. This change will allow speedier diagnosis and treatment of needs and will avoid the extreme hardship like that which recently caused one mother to throw a bottle through a shop window to attract attention and help to her family. This change is made necessary by the inadequacy of general relief programs in a number of counties. Aid paid as a result of the change would be chargeable against county general relief only if the applicant is later determined to be ineligible for a federally aided program. In such instances, I recommend that the State share assistance costs.

Through administrative action, I will seek the establishment in each county of a unit where the needs of aid recipients can be diagnosed and rehabilitative treatment begun as soon as application for aid is made.

Well trained social workers are the backbone of an effective restoration program. The training facilities in our state university and state colleges need substantial expansion. The study commission will report soon on discussions of this subject now underway with university and college officials. I expect this report to provide a basis for future proposals which will permit use of federal funds now available for training.

My administration will, in the coming months, increase its attention to the need for more preinduction training and on-the-job training of social workers and for stimulating social workers to take additional professional training.

The dependent family is the concern not only of the welfare agencies but also of probation officers, educators, health officials and employment and corrections agents. All of them share a responsibility to co-operate in planning needed programs and services. I will ask the Social Welfare Board and the appropriate government agencies to make an extensive study of the problems of families and the protection of children and to define more clearly the roles each agency should play. This study group also will be asked to consider the feasibility of a unified jurisdiction and body of procedure in cases involving families and children.

II

By far the larger part of California's welfare burden is carried in the federally aided categories of assistance. The State must conform to federal policies in these programs in order to get federal funds. Therefore, it must insure that the administration of these programs in the 58 counties meets federal requirements. This State responsibility to the federal government is balanced by its responsibility under California's strong tradition of home rule to promote and protect vigor, initiative and creativity in local administration of aid programs within the framework of the federal requirements.

In the interests of better and more efficient welfare administration, the relationship of state and county government must be more clearly stated. Therefore, I ask you to amend the Welfare and Institutions Code to:

1. Declare the administration of public welfare to be a matter of statewide concern.
2. Continue vesting county authority in the boards of supervisors with the provision that the boards shall assign the responsibility for administering this authority to a specified department of county government with a director who shall administer and enforce the law and the regulations of the State Department of Social Welfare.
3. Specify the methods by which the State shall meet its responsibility of securing statewide provision of assistance and service in these aid categories.

III

At present, state-county cost-sharing arrangements are a cumbersome patchwork of separate formulas negotiated individually over the years as long established welfare programs have been expanded. The result is that in our seven major aid categories, such as Old Age Security, Aid to the Needy Blind and so forth, there are some 20 different formulas governing the sharing of costs for assistance, medical care and administration where one formula would do.

This situation causes waste of administrative effort and makes sound fiscal planning difficult. Worse, the county contributions, and thus the property taxpayer's burden, are subject to startling fluctuations over short periods of time and to unfair variations from county to county.

The recommendations of the Welfare Study Commission do not go far in the direction of inter-county equalization of welfare burdens. Nevertheless, I urge adoption of the principles of those recommendations as an important measure of reform. A single formula should govern sharing of costs in all the federally aided welfare programs. County costs of administering those programs should be shared on the same basis. In each county, the State's proportionate contribution should increase by steps as county costs increase in terms of cents on the property tax rate.

I will offer this statutory revision in draft form so fiscal information which will become available during this session can be combined by state and county authorities with recommended program changes in the setting of a new cost-sharing arrangement.

IV

If we are to succeed in getting individuals off the welfare rolls and back to self-support, we must have continuous study of the needs of the poor and constant appraisal of how well our service programs meet those needs. We need a group of knowledgeable and dedicated citizens charged with the responsibility of guiding the Governor and the Legislature and serving as a sounding board for the social welfare needs in our State. In short, this group should serve as the conscience of the people of California in social welfare.

I firmly believe that this vital function is best performed by the State Social Welfare Board. The board should be freed of the day-to-day work which now consumes its time so the able men and women who are its members can concentrate on this task.

For these reasons, I ask you to transfer to the director of the Department of Social Welfare the board's functions of adopting regulations, setting personnel standards, hearing appeals and determining policy.

Such a change would vest the authority and responsibility for making social welfare policy in the director of social welfare who is responsible to the Governor. In the last analysis, it is the Governor whom the people hold responsible for the exercise of this authority.

We now have a number of different categories of need and corresponding categories of aid which often bear little relation to the actual needs and circumstances of the individual. This fact causes unnecessary complexity in our welfare programs and complications in their administration which might be remedied by adoption of a single classification of aid for adults and one for children. The problem merits close study and experiment before comprehensive changes can be recommended. In the meantime, I ask the Legislature to:

1. Provide for recodification of the Welfare and Institution Codes to consolidate and simplify legislative requirements for eligibility and standards.

2. Authorize the Department of Social Welfare to join the federal Department of Health Education and Welfare in an experiment with a single aid classification in selected counties. This entails allowing the department to waive or modify conflicting legal provision of the separate aid categories for the purpose of the experiment.

3. Adopt for all aid categories the plan now in effect in the Aid to the Totally Disabled program to control aid expenditures. In other programs, the Legislature has set arbitrary payment ceilings which cannot be exceeded. In the ATD plan, control is exerted through a ceiling on the average of all payments rather than on individual payments. This allows the department flexibility in meeting the needs of individuals in exceptional situations.

A prime purpose of achieving simplification and uniformity in programs is to free the social worker of paperwork and give him more time with people who need his help. I will instruct the Department of Social Welfare to do everything within its authority to achieve that end.

There are provisions in two of our categorical aid programs which, because they entirely overlook the economic causes of dependency, work unnecessary and harsh penalties upon those in need of aid. I refer to the Aid to Needy Children program, which does not recognize the parent's unemployment as a justification for aid; and the Aid to the Totally Disabled Program, which does not recognize unemployment due to permanent disability as justification for aid unless the disability is so severe that it requires personal care or supervision.

In both cases, the strictures of our laws, in addition to going against California's generally humane concept of public assistance, place many disabled citizens and unemployed breadwinners, and their families in dire circumstances. Unable to qualify for aid in the ATD or ANC programs, they are forced to apply for county general relief for their subsistence. In many instances, the study commission found that general relief levels meet so little need that they cannot be considered anything more than emergency programs. In addition, general relief carries fixed time limitations in most counties. When those limitations are reached the disabled and the unemployed breadwinner face the blank wall of privation for themselves and their families.

It is clear that in many areas of our State where general relief provisions are both inadequate and of fixed duration, the denial of ANC to the families of the unemployed promotes family disintegration and moral degradation.

The average amount of county general relief aid which a destitute California family can get is $66 a month for the entire family and this only for a limited time. Some counties offer no aid regardless of the intensity of the need. As a result, it is now the fact in California that a father who sees his children in want because he cannot find work knows that if he deserts his family, they will receive perhaps $160 a month plus medical care. That is a small amount. But it is enough to make up the mind of a father in those circumstances.

These legal strictures also make the State ineligible for large sums of federal money which would ease the burden of those counties which try to provide a reasonably high level of general relief out of their own resources.

For these reasons, I urge you to close the gaps in these two programs by:

1. Extending Aid to Needy Children to the children of unemployed parents subject to strict safeguards to prevent chiselling and coupled with a program of work relief, training, and rehabilitation

2. Widening the definition of disability in the Aid to the Totally Disabled program to cover persons unemployable because of permanent disability.

With the adoption of ANC and ATD extensions, a major portion of the present county general relief program caseload will be shifted to the federally aided categories. After the effects of these proposed shifts have been observed for a time, a new study of general relief should be made.

VI

In the face of the Welfare Study Commission's findings about poverty and the relationship of dependency to the broad problems of underprivilege and lack of opportunity, the problems of securing support from absent parents and preventing fraud appear in a new perspective. On the whole, the state and county officials responsible for welfare and law enforcement have done creditable and consistent work which ranks California high among the states in fraud prevention.

Although fraud and willful failure to provide are negligible factors in the high costs of dependency, the policing of them has caused occasional confusion and conflict between welfare and law enforcement officials. The study commission's work in this area has provided a much better understanding of the problems involved and a basis on which future work can proceed in harmony and with common purpose.

My recommendations for providing aid to families of the unemployed will make important contributions to preventing desertion and fraud.

With the co-operation of welfare officials, law enforcement agents and caseworkers, we can police our programs effectively and constructively without resorting to the unfortunate spectacles and unwarranted intrusions involved in so-called "mass raids."

I urge you to adopt the provisions of Assemblyman Crown's AB 366 and to adopt revisions of the Welfare and Institution Codes and the Penal Code which I will submit to you shortly.

These amendments aim to clarify the respective responsibilities of welfare departments and district attorneys and provide a base for their joint action to deal with chiselers; to assure the use of collected funds for the improvement of the family; and to co-ordinate action by the courts, prosecutors and welfare departments.

Your enactment of these recommendations will be a forward step in assuring strong action to protect the honest recipient, the taxpayer and the welfare system.

Dependency is an economic problem. Unless we work vigorously and effectively to correct the causes of dependency, we will fail in our efforts to restore people to dignity and self-support.

All the skill and best efforts of the most dedicated and talented social worker toward this goal cannot avail if the conditions which first created the dependency are left unreformed.

That is why I have coupled the proposals in this message with other programs of action which aim at the causes of dependency, programs which will continue the work in education, human rights, full employment, industrial development, and youth conservation in which you and I have engaged over the last four years.

Basic to the success of this new departure in social welfare is your approval of other measures which have been, or shortly will be, put before you in this session.

California's great system of public education is our most potent asset in reforming the causes of poverty and dependency. But that great force is seriously weakened if conditions at home and in the community result in grudging school attendance and early dropout. Without education and training, young people are likely to wander into the blind alleys of ignorance, uselessness and, ultimately, dependency.

I have proposed programs of compensatory education and youth conservation which bear directly on the dropout problem, as does the study of vocational training programs being undertaken by the Committee on Automation and Technological Changes.

I have asked you to give statutory status to that committee in recognition of the far-reaching importance of its work in searching out the tools with which we may harness the great power of automation and technological change for the benefit of all our people.

I have asked you to continue the job of rolling back the bounds of discrimination and prejudice which deny equal economic and social opportunity to all our citizens.

I have asked you for an Office of California Development to stimulate industrial expansion and employment.

I soon will ask you for the means of aiding our great private building industry to provide decent housing opportunities in a variety equal to the wide range of need which exists in our State.

I ask you, again, to join me in doing everything within our combined power to secure passage of a national program of health insurance for the aged under social security, the surest and best method of allowing our people to set aside during their productive years the reserves necessary to meet the high costs of medical care in later life and the method most in keeping with American ideals and traditions.

I ask your support of all these measures and the measures in this message as individual items of action and, together, as an assault on the roots of poverty, dependency, and suffering in our State.

It is our responsibility to act with courage and decisiveness "upon all these fundamental things which appeal, indeed, to our hearts, but which our minds perceive to be part of the fundamental justice of life."

Respectfully submitted,

EDMUND G. BROWN, Governor

Senate Resolution No. 67Relative to Brotherhood Week

WHEREAS, The week of February 17 through 24 has been proclaimed by President Kennedy as Brotherhood Week throughout the United States; and

WHEREAS, Brotherhood Week was initiated by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, an organization founded in 1928 by a number of distinguished Americans for the purpose of advancing mutual understanding and good will among Protestants, Catholics and Jews; and

WHEREAS, Through its wide range of programs for bettering intergroup relations, and its distribution of films and printed materials, this organization has done much to help eliminate prejudice and bigotry from our schools and national life; and

WHEREAS, The N.C.C.J. works unceasingly with fraternal, civic, welfare, labor, veteran, farm, women's and youth organizations to make democratic good will a pattern of American living in every community; and

WHEREAS, In a world tortured by misunderstanding, with members of the human family divided among themselves by barriers of ignorance, fear and tyranny, in which the sole hope of mankind's survival rests on a deepened sense of brotherhood, it is fitting that the Legislature of California take recognition of the high purpose and worthy achievements of the National Conference of Christians and Jews; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Members hereby commend the officers, members and staff of the National Conference of Christians and Jews for their splendid efforts in combating racial and religious intolerance and join with the President of the United States in proclaiming the week of February 17 through 24 as Brotherhood Week; and be it further

MOTION TO PRINT COMMUNICATION FROM LEGISLATIVE BUDGET COMMITTEE

Senator Miller moved that the following communication from the Joint Legislative Budget Committee regarding Teachers' Retirement System (out-of-state teaching experience) be printed in the Journal.

Motion carried.

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE, JOINT LEGISLATIVE BUDGET COMMITTEE
ROOM 306, STATE CAPITOL
SACRAMENTO, February 8, 1963

*Hon. George Miller, Jr., Chairman
Joint Legislative Budget Committee
Room 4048, State Capitol
Sacramento, California*

DEAR SENATOR MILLER: In regard to your request concerning the crediting of out-of-state teaching experience for members of the State Teachers' Retirement System, we are submitting the following information.

Prior to July 1, 1944, the State Teachers' Retirement System was financially unsound in that the only sources of funds for the payment of benefits consisted of the small contributions of the members, a $12-per-year contribution from the school district for each member employed, and an allocation of 5 percent of the inheritance tax collections of the State. During the time prior to 1944 credit was given for out-of-state teaching service. The benefit provided on all service, however, was a maximum of $50 per month on 30 or more years of service, 15 of which was required to have been in California. In some instances the out-of-state service had no effect on benefits although the member was required to pay contributions thereon.

Over the years between 1913 and 1943 there were a number of attempts to remedy the funding of the system. The remedies which were adopted by the Legislature were of a patchwork character, and did not correct the underlying weaknesses. In 1943 legislation was introduced which was of a far-reaching nature, and proposed to change the basic provisions governing the formulae regarding benefits and finances. The 1943 legislation was vetoed by the Governor, but with the understanding that a legislative subcommittee would study the subject and bring in new legislation at the 1944 session. The chairman of the subcommittee was Assemblyman Lee Bashore.

In the course of the committee's investigation it was considered that if the system was to be improved it would be necessary to eliminate the provision for granting out-of-state credit. The original intent of the committee was to eliminate all out-of-state credit, but there were doubts as to the legality of taking away the credits which had already been granted. When the 1944 legislation was adopted, it carried the provision that credit would be given for out-of-state service rendered prior to July 1, 1944, but only in the cases of persons who were members of the system on June 30 of that year.

Because of proposals which were brought before the Legislature in 1957, it was decided that the problem could only be resolved by a study of the cost which would be involved if credit were given for teaching service in the public schools and institutions of other states. The study was financed by contributions from those teachers who would be benefited by a change in the law with respect to this matter. A report, dated September 26, 1960, prepared by the actuarial firm of Coates, Herfurth and England, from information obtained by the State Teachers' Retirement System, has been presented to the Legislature. This report showed that in January of 1960 there were approximately 45,798 retired teachers and active teachers who would benefit by a change in law which would credit service rendered in other states. If these individuals were given credit for as much as ten years of out-of-state service, the total present value of such credits would be $237,213,823 or, in other words, this would be the cost of placing into the fund the amount required to fully meet the added liability. Of this amount, $23,738,585 would be funded by the contributions of the members receiving credit. The remaining $213,475,238 would have to be paid by the State. Such payment would have to be in the form of an immediate appropriation to be fully funded, or if extended into future years would increase on account of additional interest required.

Sincerely,

A. ALAN POST, Legislative Analyst

Remembering, O Lord, This day that we are dust, and that unto dust we shall return, we are mindful of the frailty of our nature, the weakness that has perhaps led us often to err, to fail, and which must of necessity lead us one day to submit to the inexorable law of death. Forgive us our faults, O Lord, ere we return to the primeval slime; that when this mortal coil is once again dust, and this entire globe has crumbled into ashes, we may live with Thee forever henceforward. AMEN.

RESOLUTIONS

By Senator Regan:

Senate Resolution No. 70

Relative to the Wildlife Conservation Board

WHEREAS, In pursuance of an application by a private individual seeking to acquire federal lands, the State Lands Commission can, in appropriate circumstances, acquire those lands through the exchange of state lands of equal value or under the so-called indemnity selection procedure, and make the lands available for sale under competitive bidding, in accordance with the provisions of law governing the sale of state lands; and

WHEREAS, An application was filed with the State Lands Commission asking the commission to secure for sale lands now held by the federal government which adjoin the Trinity River; and

WHEREAS, The application of the State Lands Commission to secure the land through its exchange procedure was rejected by the Sacramento Land Office of the United States Bureau of Land Management, an action which was subject to appeal; and

WHEREAS, A member of the staff of the Wildlife Conservation Board appeared before the State Lands Commission at the commission's hearing on September 14, 1961, when it was considering the advisability of pursuing an appeal of the Land Office decision; and

WHEREAS, The member of the staff of the Wildlife Conservation Board stated, among other things, that: "We consider this land has high value for public fishing access and other recreational use and would protest the sale into private ownership of such badly needed public land of this type" and that "In accordance with various requests from organizations, the Wildlife Conservation Board is interested in acquiring this land by lease or in fee and developing it for public purposes"; and

WHEREAS, In response to inquiries as to whether the Wildlife Conservation Board itself had specifically considered the value and desirability of acquiring this land and developing it for public purposes, said member of the staff stated: "No sir, it has not. This is in the planning level, normally handled on the staff level, and completed projects are presented"; and

WHEREAS, The Wildlife Conservation Board was created in 1947 pursuant to the Wildlife Conservation Act of 1947 (Chapter 1325, Statutes of 1947); and

WHEREAS, This important board, which is charged with the responsibility of establishing policies and acquiring lands for the preservation, protection, and restoration of wildlife within the State, is composed of the President of the Fish and Game Commission, the Director of Fish and Game, and the Director of Finance, with three Members of the Senate and three Members of the Assembly meeting with the board and participating in its activities to the extent that such participation is not incompatible with their positions as Members of the Legislature; and

WHEREAS, While the Wildlife Conservation Board is authorized to investigate, study and determine what areas within the State are most essential and suitable for wildlife production and preservation and to provide suitable recreation and could establish as a policy and advocate the retention in public ownership of property for use as access roads to water streams and campsites, the power to adopt such a policy may not be delegated by the board to its staff; and

WHEREAS, The Wildlife Conservation Board, at the time of the September 14, 1961, meeting of the State Lands Commission, had not adopted any policy with respect to such retention of public lands for access roads nor had it authorized itself to be represented with respect to that matter by its staff; and

WHEREAS, It is essential to the proper administration of the laws of this State and the protection of the public welfare that the boards and commissions of the State carry out their functions in accordance with law; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Wildlife Conservation Board is directed to proceed in accordance with law in carrying out its functions and to review the activities of the members of its staff to insure that they are not improperly and unlawfully making policy at the staff level.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

Senate Resolution No. 71

Relative to commending the Buddha's Universal Church of San Francisco

WHEREAS, On March 1, 1963, one of the most remarkable churches in the United States, the Buddha's Universal Church of San Francisco, will be dedicated; and

WHEREAS, The church is remarkable not only for its creed, or for its beautiful new building, or for its unique and priceless religious objects, but also for the fact that it was built by its own congregation during the past 11 years with the help of San Franciscans of diverse background; and

WHEREAS, The idea for the build-it-yourself project was conceived in desperation, for the building purchased by the congregation for a church was found to be unsafe, thus requiring that it be razed, and all funds which were in the church treasury had to be expended to pay the mortgage on the old building; and

WHEREAS, With courageous spirit and bold determination, the children, housewives, grocers, doctors and others who comprised the congregation banded together to build a church; and

WHEREAS, It was the most unusual collection of construction workers ever assembled, but it was also the most fortunate, for the group worked under the inspirational leadership and thoughtful guidance of Doctor Paul F. Fung, physician and surgeon, professor of Buddhism, and the head of the congregation; and

WHEREAS, The beautiful edifice which their labors produced is a monument to man's ingenuity, an unparalleled example of community effort, and a shining beacon of light illuminating the hearts of all who took part in this worthy project; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Members of this Senate congratulate the congregation of the Buddha's Universal Church on their remarkable achievement and commend everyone who extended his hand in friendship to assist in this unique endeavor; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to Doctor Paul F. Fung.

Their ceremonies express their loyalty and reverence for the Flag. The organization was instituted in Jackson 76 years ago. Their members have always been alert to the needs of California. One of their basic principles is love of home. In this respect, they have many subordinate projects, but the main one is their Children's Foundation, which is a philanthropic project, with a budget of $25,000 to $30,000 yearly, for the welfare of children through 16 years of age. The Native Daughters of the Golden West also maintains a home in San Francisco which is available to all members of the organization for a period of visitation or permanent residence.

Mrs. Roelling expressed her gratitude for the honor of addressing the Senate.

REASSEMBLED

COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS
February 7, 1963

The Honorable Glenn Anderson
President of the Senate
California State Senate
The Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT: I am writing to you with reference to the nationwide review, requested by the Appropriations Committee of the United States Senate, on eligibility under the program of Aid to Dependent Children. The review was prompted by the results of a special investigation of the Aid to Dependent Children Program in the District of Columbia and the General Public Assistance Program in the District of Columbia, such special investigation having been ordered by the Appropriations Committees of the Congress and having been conducted by District of Columbia Department of Welfare investigators and General Accounting Office personnel.

It occurs to me that the investigative findings in the District of Columbia may be informative and useful to the various states throughout the country, and it is for this reason that I am taking the liberty to enclose copies of three separate reports on the subject, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. A copy of Volume 2 of the 1962 Senate hearings on the District of Columbia budget requests is being sent to you under separate cover.

With kind wishes.

Sincerely yours,

ROBERT C. BYRD, U.S.S

Resolution Re: Withholding Tax Law

WHEREAS, The Withholding Tax Law is a plan whereby employers and their employees would pay their state income taxes monthly with the employer required to withhold the tax of each employee and remit it monthly to the California State Revenue Office; and

"SECTION 1. The Legislature of the State of California finds that

(a) The Board of Directors of Merced Irrigation District has over a period of years studied and investigated the feasibility of a proposed multipurpose project, including the proposed Bagley, New Exchequer and Snelling Dams and Reservoirs, for the further development, control and conservation of the water supply of the Merced River primarily for agricultural, flood control and power production purposes. Said project is designated by the district as the Merced River Development. This project involves the development of new basic water supplies which are a necessary and integral part of an overall water development without which the public health, safety and welfare may be jeopardized, both within the district and in adjoining areas subject to flooding by the Merced River.

(b) The State Water Rights Board of the State of California has duly authorized the issuance of permits to the district to appropriate and store water for the Merced River Development, and the district has applied to the Federal Power Commission for a permit to develop power from such water to assist in the payment of the cost of the Merced River Development.

(c) Full and adequate engineering reports, surveys, examinations and drawings have been prepared by Tudor Engineering Company, the Department of Water Resources of the State of California and the staff of the California Districts Securities Commission, from all of which full and adequate information has been obtained which is now available to or on file with the Department of Water Resources of the State of California covering all phases of the feasibility of the Merced River Development.

(d) The government of the United States has duly investigated the feasibility of the Merced River Development through the report of the Corps of Engineers and the Committee on Public Works of the Senate of the United States; and by Section 204 of the Flood Control Act of 1960 (Public Law 86-645) has authorized an appropriation of a currently estimated twelve million four hundred twenty thousand dollars ($12,420,000), and not exceeding nineteen million nine hundred thousand dollars ($19,900,000), to the Merced Irrigation District for the flood control benefits of said project.

(e) Merced Irrigation District duly called and held on June 20, 1961, an election for the issuance of revenue bonds in the principal amount of one hundred thirty million dollars ($130,000,000) for the purpose of financing the Merced River Development. Much more than a majority of the qualified electors of the Merced Irrigation District voting at said election voted in favor of the issuance of said revenue bonds. Said vote was 4,658 yes and 380 no. Said bonds were and now are duly authorized to be issued and sold in whole or in part for the purpose of financing the Merced River Development.

(f) The Legislature, being duly advised of the foregoing reports and investigations which have been made of the Merced River Development hereby finds and determines that: (1) it is in the best interest of the State to provide financial assistance to the Merced Irrigation District for the construction of the Merced River Development; (2) there is a statewide interest in said project; (3) such construction is to the interest of the State of California in carrying out the California Water Plan of which the Merced River Development is a part and to which said project conforms; (4) the Merced River Development is engineeringly feasible and economically justified; and (5) there is reasonable assurance, commensurate with the need for said project, that the loan herein provided for can be repaid in full by the Merced Irrigation District from moneys authorized under said Public Law 86-645.

SEC. 2. The Department of Water Resources is hereby".

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the supplementation of said loan by further advances within the limit of the maximum herein authorized, if required to meet additional project costs approved by the California Districts Securities Commission."

SEC. 3. The terms and conditions upon which said loan shall be made to Merced Irrigation District are hereby prescribed by the Legislature as follows:

(a) The reports herein referred to shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements of Section 12880 of the Water Code and no additional feasibility report or other reports shall be required as a condition to the making of such loan.

(b) The election heretofore held in Merced Irrigation District shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements of Section 12880 of the Water Code and no additional election shall be required to be held in the Merced Irrigation District to authorize the execution of the contract for the loan hereby authorized.

(c) Merced Irrigation District need not take any action nor do anything to qualify for the loan herein authorized other than to file an application with the Department of Water Resources for the determination of the amount of the loan, which application shall refer to this act in lieu of all other requirements for applications under the Davis-Grunsky Act.

(d) Said loan to the Merced Irrigation District shall be secured, as to both principal and interest, by the moneys received by the Merced Irrigation District under flood control appropriations made pursuant to Public Law 86 645 and the Merced Irrigation District shall apply such receipts exclusively to the repayment of the loan herein authorized. Resolved, That the Economic Development Agency be informed of this priority and be urged to direct its studies to this end; and be it further

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the State of California adopt as a portion of its personnel policy a statement recognizing government's proper role as the model employer, setting the pace and standards of enlightened personnel policies for the rest of the State; and be it further

By invitation of the President, prayer was offered by the guest Chaplain, Rev. Father Leo McAllister:

I asked God for strength, that I might achieve;
I was made weak, that I might learn humbly to obey.
I asked for health, that I might do greater things;
I was given infirmity, that I might do better things.
I asked for riches, that I might be happy;
I was given poverty, that I might be wise.
I asked for power, that I might have the praise of men;
I was given weakness, that I might feel the need of God.
I asked for all things, that I might enjoy life;
I was given life, that I might enjoy all things.
I got nothing that I asked for—but everything I had hoped for;
Almost despite myself, my unspoken prayers were answered.
I am among men, most richly blessed. AMEN.

History

An Assembly Interim Committee, after an exhaustive investigation into the field of state building regulations, concluded there was a great need for corrective legislation in this field.

The construction industry, second largest industry in our State, is faced with the burden of meeting the requirements of over 1,600 building regulations promulgated by various state agencies with enforcement authority.

Each agency prepares and enforces its own building requirements. Buildings, however, may serve more than one tenant or one purpose requiring regulation of construction by more than one agency. The resultant multiple requirement is wasteful and extremely costly to the designer, the builder and the owner. This waste is compounded when the regulations enforced conflict, duplicate and overlap.

Realizing that our State, with its ever-increasing population, must not be hampered by archaic and contradictory building regulations that waste millions of dollars and man-hours each year, the Legislature created the State Building Standards Commission. The purpose of the commission was to eliminate conflict, duplication and overlapping in building requirements prepared by state agencies.

The first commission was made up of ex officio members from the various state agencies that wrote and enforced building regulations. A budget and staff was not provided, consequently no progress was made in alleviating the problems created by conflicting regulations.

During the 1959 Regular Legislative Session, Senate Bill 1444 changed the membership of the commission. The result improved the organizational structure of the State Building Standards Commission by reducing the ex officio members. The new commission was made up of representatives from among the professions and industries concerned with building construction, of whom one was an architect, one a structural engineer, one a contractor and three members to be appointed from among local government officials.

Mr. Harry A. Cobden was appointed executive secretary. He was directed to compile an index of all then existing state building regulations. This project was completed with expediency. The completed index further supported the premise that there were too many regulations, too many places to look for them, and too many regulations that conflicted, duplicated and overlapped.

The commission, in working under the provisions of the amended act, determined that organizational problems still existed. The commission had been charged with a large responsibility. Each new set of building regulations submitted for approval indicated continued need for commission services. The statutes creating the commission had provided the responsibility but had failed to provide authority necessary to achieve the final goals of uniformity desired.

Lester McMillan, Chairman of the Assembly Committee of Governmental Efficiency and Economy, recognized the commission's problems. He introduced corrective legislation which was wholeheartedly endorsed by all segments of the building industry. The legislation was supported by Governor Brown and subsequently signed during the 1962 First Extraordinary Session of the Legislature.

The McMillan Bill, effective July 13, 1962, placed the commission in the Department of Finance, reorganized the commission membership to include representation from labor and the general public, and implemented its authority in the areas of regulation writing and preparation.

Activities

The commission has continued its program of thoroughly checking proposed regulations for conflict, duplication and overlapping. All submittals for approval are carefully analyzed and compared with existing regulations. The staff negotiates directly with the writing agencies during preparation and presentation of revised or new regulations. Although limited in staff and budget, attendance at meetings and hearings where new regulations are formulated is necessary. It is at this time that many unacceptable requirements are corrected and modified, reflecting in a great savings to the State. The staff is directed to act as a liaison between the commission and the agencies concerned and to report to the commission well in advance of requests for regulation approval.

Compilation of existing building regulations is a major project for the commission requiring consideration of over 4,600 administrative building regulations, plus numerous statutory provisions. However, a work projection program being prepared at the present time indicates that major portions of the code may be published within the year.

The commission, working under the provisions of the McMillan Bill, has initiated procedural regulations. These regulations, when approved by the commission, will be filed as administrative regulations in Title 24. They will clarify methods of commission action and designate responsibilities of both the commission and the agencies concerned with writing and enforcing building regulations. It is certain that this broadening of communications with the state agencies will alleviate many problems inherent to the commission's program expediting the cooperation necessary to complete the Single State Building Code.

The McMillan Bill further provides that the commission shall assist the legislature in eliminating conflict, duplication and overlapping in statutory building requirements. To effect this end, the commission offers its services to the legislature whenever it may be of assistance. The commission membership is representative of the construction industry, local jurisdiction enforcement, labor and the general public. It is easily seen that such representation, by a group whose primary concern is uniformity of building requirements, can be of valuable service in the preparation or correction of statutory building requirements.

The McMillan Bill provides that the commission will establish advisory panels made up of experts from the construction industry. The appointing of advisory panels from within the construction industry will provide an unlimited source of technical knowledge. New materials and methods are developed so quickly that building regulations must be the products of constant research. The construction industry, with technical knowledge accumulated from all its different facets, can provide the understanding of building requirements necessary to insure consistent and practical regulations.

Conclusion

The commission's investigation of existing conditions points up the necessity of providing one state agency with authority to write all state building regulations. The writing of state building regulations by one central agency in full cooperation with all concerned will present requirements that are uniform. One agency can provide the technical knowledge necessary to insure retention of practical and safe standards. In these times of onrushing technological advances, it will be possible for one agency to provide the research and time needed to keep abreast of the changes in methods of construction. Modern codes must be a product of constant research devoted to the evaluation of new products and methods. Modern codes must have flexibility so the new materials and methods can be used as soon as they are proved practical and safe. The day has passed when we must fear each new product and method.

The commission plans that the costs of preparing the intended code will be self-liquidating. There presently exists some 90,000 licensed building contractors, 4,000 licensed architects, and some 4,000 licensed professional engineers who are involved in building design.

The present State Building Standards Commission in the Department of Finance has established a workable program which the commission believes will give adequate help to all state agencies, the construction industry and the public.

Submitted under authority of Section 18009, Health and Safety Code (Statutes of 1953, Chapter 1500).

HARRY A. COBDEN
Executive Secretary

BAY AREA AIR POLLUTION CONTROL DISTRICT
1480 MISSION STREET, SAN FRANCISCO 3, CALIFORNIA
February 28, 1963

Hon. Joseph A. Beck
Secretary to the Senate
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR SIR: The Bay Area Air Pollution Control District was formed by the Legislature in 1955. At that time the amount which might be required to be raised in the six counties forming the district was limited to one cent on each $100 of assessed value of all property in the district. In the intervening years the budget of the district has varied from $156,350, an amount equal to 4 mills on each $100 of assessed valuation in 1956-57, to the maximum allowable of $646,868 in 1962-63.

The district has adopted and is enforcing two comprehensive regulations. The Board of Directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District anticipates that a more vigorous enforcement program will, in the future, require a budget that will exceed an amount that 1 cent will raise. The directors are also conscious of the problems presented by advancing taxes in local government.

The 12 new enforcement personnel recently added to the staff of the district are now, and in the future will be, increasing the effectiveness of the district.

The board of directors has effected economies resulting in an increase in the enforcement effort and desires to have a complete appraisal of what can be accomplished by a full and frugal use of funds now available to the district. The board of directors is not, in the 1963 Session of the Legislature, requesting any increase in the limit of its rate of requirement.

It is anticipated that the Board of Directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District will request the Governor and the State Legislature to consider legislation raising the 1-cent limit at the 1964 Budget Session.

Sincerely yours,

CLARENCE D. ERICKSON
Chairman, Board of Directors
Bay Area Air Pollution Control District

The board may, by resolution, amend the boundaries by annexing property to or by withdrawing property from said zones or may divide existing zones into two or more zones or may superimpose a new or amended zone on zones already in existence, setting forth in such resolutions descriptions of the amended, divided or superimposed zones by metes and bounds and entitle each of such zones by zone number.

Proceedings for the establishment of such zones may, but need not, be conducted concurrently with and as a part of proceedings for the instituting of projects relating to such zones, which proceedings shall be instituted in the manner prescribed in Sections 14 and following of this act.

SEC. 4. Section 4 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 4. [On or before January 1, 1956, the Board of Supervisors of Yolo County shall appoint a district board of directors of five members which shall exercise the powers of the district enumerated in this act, except as otherwise provided, and may perform all other acts necessary or proper, in their discretion, to accomplish the purposes of this act.

Of the members first appointed, one shall be appointed to serve for a term of one year, one for a term of two years, one for a term of three years, and two for a term of four years. Thereafter all members shall be appointed for a term of four years. Any member of the board of directors may be removed from office at any time, with or without cause, by the board of supervisors, a majority of the entire membership concurring. All vacancies in the membership of the board of directors shall be immediately filled by appointment by the board of supervisors for the unexpired portion of the term in which they occur.

The board of directors may adopt and enforce reasonable rules and regulations for the administration and government of the district and to facilitate the exercise of its powers and duties herein set forth and may employ and fix the compensation of all necessary agents and employees to look after the performance of any work or improvement provided in this act. Each member of the board of directors shall serve without compensation, but shall be allowed his actual, necessary, and reasonable expenses incurred in carrying out his duties under this act. The directors shall elect a chairman, who shall preside at all meetings of the board and in case of his absence or inability to act, the members present must, by an order entered in their minutes, select one of their number to act as chairman temporarily. Any member of the board may administer oaths, when necessary in the performance of his official duties. A majority of the members of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and no act of the board shall be valid or binding unless a majority of all members present concur therein.

Until the first board of directors are appointed pursuant to this section, the Board of Supervisors of Yolo County shall act, ex officio, as board of directors of the district and shall have and exercise all the powers and duties herein prescribed for that board. Each member of the board of supervisors shall serve without additional compensation for acting as member of the board of the district, but shall be allowed his actual, necessary and reasonable traveling expenses incurred in carrying out his duties in such capacity.]

The board shall have the power, in addition to the powers enumerated elsewhere in this act, to levy and collect a ground water charge for the production of water from the ground water supplies within a zone or zones of the district, as established pursuant to Section 3.6 of this act, which will benefit from the recharge of underground water supplies or the distribution of imported water in such zone or zones.

SEC. 5. Section 4.1 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.1. As used in connection with the ground water charge, the following words shall mean:

"Person" or "operator" means public agencies, federal, state, and local, private corporations, firms, partnerships, individuals or groups of individuals, whether legally organized or not; "owner" or "operator" also means the person to whom a water-producing facility is assessed by the county assessor, or, if not separately assessed, the person who owns the land upon which a water-producing facility is located.

"Ground water" means all water beneath the earth's surface, but does not include water which is produced with oil in the production of oil and gas, or in a bona fide mining operation, or during construction operations.

"Production" or "producing" means the act of extracting ground water by pumping or otherwise.

"Water-producing facility" means any device or method, mechanical or otherwise, for the production of water from the ground water supplies within the district or a zone thereof.

"Water year" means April 1 of one calendar year to March 31 of the following calendar year.

"Agricultural water" means water first used on lands in the production of plant crops or livestock for market.

SEC. 6. Section 4.2 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.2. Prior to the establishment of any ground water charge, the board shall adopt a resolution stating its intention to do so, describing the zone or zones of the district in which it is proposed that such charges be levied, and requiring the registration of all water producing facilities located within such zone or zones as provided in Section 4.4 of this act. Said resolution shall be published once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published in the district.

SEC. 7. Section 4.3 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.3. Ground water charges levied pursuant to this act are declared to be in furtherance of district activities in the protection and augmentation of the water supplies for users within a zone or zones of the district which are necessary for the public health, welfare and safety of the people of this State. The ground water charges are authorized to be levied upon the production of ground water from all water-producing facilities, whether public or private, within said zone or zones of the district for the benefit of all who rely directly or indirectly upon the ground water supplies of such zone or zones and water imported into such zone or zones.

The proceeds of ground water charges levied and collected upon the production of water from ground water supplies within such zone or zones of the district are authorized and shall be used exclusively by the board for the following purposes:

(a) To pay the costs of constructing, maintaining and operating facilities which will import water into the district which will benefit such zone or zones, including payments made under any contract between the district and the State of California, the United States of America, or any public, private or municipal utility.

(b) To pay the costs of purchasing water for importation into such zone or zones, including payments made under contract to the State of California, the United States of America, or any public, private, or municipal utility.

(c) To pay the costs of constructing, maintaining, and operating facilities which will conserve water for distribution, or which will distribute water within such zone or zones, including facilities for surface storage, ground water recharge, surface distribution, drainage of waste or return flow from such water, and the purification and treatment of such water.

(d) To pay the principal or interest of any bonded indebtedness or other obligations incurred by the district on behalf of such zone or zones for any of the purposes set forth in subdivisions (a), (b), and (c) of this section.

The district may apply to any one or more of the purposes set forth in subdivisions (a), (b), (c), and (d) of this section any or all revenues received by the district from the furnishing, selling, or leasing of any water, service or facilities pursuant to this act.

SEC. 8. Section 4.4 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.4. Within six months after the last date of publication of the notice provided for in Section 4.2 of this act, all water-producing facilities located within the boundaries of such zone or zones shall be registered with the district, and, if required by the board, measured with a water-measuring device satisfactory to the district by the operator thereof. Any new water-producing facility, constructed or re-established after such date, shall be registered with the district, and, if required by the board, measured with a water-measuring device satisfactory to the district within 30 days after the completion or re-establishment thereof.

Failure to register any water-producing facility, or provide a water-measurement device if required by the board, as provided by this act, is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500), or imprisonment in the county jail for not to exceed six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

In addition to other information which the district may determine is necessary and may require in the registration form provided, there shall also be given information as to the owner or owners of the land upon which each water-producing facility is located, a general description and location of each water-producing facility, the name and address of the person charged with the operation of each water-producing facility, and the name or names and addresses of all persons owning or claiming to own an interest in the water-producing facility.

SEC. 9. Section 4.5 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.5. After adoption of the resolution provided for in Section 4.2 of this act, the district engineer shall annually prepare an investigation and report upon ground water conditions of the district and the zones thereof. The investigation and report shall include, among other information which the district may desire, such information and recommendations on ground water conditions and the availability of surface and ground water in the district as will assist the board in providing for the most beneficial conjunctive operation of surface and ground water supplies of the district and in determining whether a ground water charge or charges shall be levied and what such charges shall be during the ensuing water year.

SEC. 10. Section 4.6 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.6. On the second Monday in December of each year the engineering investigation and report shall be delivered to the clerk of the district board in writing. Said clerk shall publish, pursuant to Section 6061 of the Government Code, a notice of the receipt of such report and of the public hearing to be held on the second Monday of January in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published within the district, at least 10 days prior to the date at which the public hearing regarding said engineering investigation and report shall be held. Said notice, among other information which the district may provide therein, shall contain an invitation to all operators of water-producing facilities within the district to call at the offices of the district to examine said engineering investigation and report.

There shall be held by the board on the second Monday of January of each year, in the chambers of the board, a public hearing at which time any operator of a water-producing facility within the district, or any person interested in the condition of the ground water supplies or the surface water supplies of the district, may in person, or by representative, appear and submit evidence concerning the ground water conditions and the surface water supplies of the district. Appearances also may be made supporting or protesting said written engineering investigation and report.

SEC. 11. Section 4.7 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.7. Within five weeks from the close of said hearing, the board shall determine whether or not, in the interests of the most beneficial conjunctive operation of the ground water and surface water supplies of the district, a ground water charge or charges should be levied in any zone or zones. If the board determines that a ground water charge or charges should be levied, it shall levy, assess, and affix such charge or charges against all persons operating ground water-producing facilities within such zone or zones during the ensuing water year. The charge shall be computed at a fixed and uniform rate per acre-foot for agricultural water, and at a fixed and uniform rate per acre-foot for all water other than agricultural water. Different rates may be established in different zones; provided, however, that in each zone the rate for agricultural water shall be fixed and uniform and the rate for water other than agricultural water shall be fixed and uniform.

Any ground water charge levied pursuant to this section shall be in addition to any general tax or assessment levied within the district or any zone or zones thereof.

Clerical errors occurring or appearing in the name of any person or in the description of the water-producing facility where the production of water therefrom is otherwise properly charged, or in the making or extension of any charge upon the records, which do not affect the substantial rights of the assessee or assesses, shall not invalidate the ground water charge.

SEC. 12. Section 4.8 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.8. The district, after the levying of the ground water charge, shall give notice thereof to each operator of each water-producing facility in the zone or zones as disclosed by the records of said district, which notice shall state the rate for each class of water of the ground water charge for each acre-foot of water to be produced during the ensuing water year. Said notice may be sent by postal card or by other first-class mail and with postage prepaid by the district.

SEC. 13. Section 4.9 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.9. After the publication of the resolution provided for in Section 4.2 of this act, each operator of a water-producing facility within the zone or zones described in such resolution, until such time as said water-producing facility has been permanently abandoned, shall file with the district, on or before the 31st day of October and on or before the 30th day of April in each year, a statement setting forth the total production in acre-feet of water for the preceding six-months period (excluding the month in which the statement is due), a general description or number locating each water-producing facility and the method or basis of the computation of such water production. If no water has been produced from said water-producing facility during the preceding six-months period, said statements shall be filed as provided for herein, setting forth that no water has been produced during said period. Said statement shall be verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalty of perjury. The ground water charge is payable to the district on or before the last date upon which the water production statements shall be filed, and is computed by multiplying the production in acre-feet of water for each classification as disclosed in the statement by the ground water charge for each classification of water. At such time as any said water-producing facility has been permanently abandoned, the operator thereof shall give written notice of such abandonment to the district. If any operator of a water-producing facility shall fail to pay the ground water charge when due, the district shall charge interest at the rate of one percent (1%) each month on the delinquent amount of the ground water charge.

Should any operator of a water-producing facility fail to register each water-producing facility or fail to file the water production statements as required by this act, the district shall, in addition to charging interest as provided herein, assess a penalty charge against such operator in an amount of ten percent (10%) of the amount found by said district to be due.

The board may, at the time of fixing the ground water charge, provide by resolution that the operator of any water-producing facility having a discharge opening not greater than a size specified by the board and which does not provide water for an area in excess of five acres, may pay a charge fixed by the board or pay no charge for each such water-producing facility, in lieu of filing a sworn statement as to the production of ground water.

SEC. 14. Section 4.10 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.10. Upon good cause shown, an amended statement of water production may be filed or a correction of the records may be made at any time prior to the final date for filing the next semiannual water production statement.

SEC. 15. Section 4.11 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.11. The district shall prepare each year a record called "The Record of Water Production and Ground Water Charges" in which shall be entered a general description of the property upon which each water-producing facility is located, an identifying number or code which is assigned to such facility, the annual water production for each class of water produced from each water-producing facility, and the ground water charge for each class of water.

SEC. 16. Section 4.12 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.12. The superior court of the county in which the district lies may issue a temporary restraining order upon the filing by the district with said court of a petition or complaint setting forth that the person named therein as defendant is the operator of a water-producing facility which has not been registered with the district, or that such defendant has not provided a water measuring device as required by the board, or that such defendant is delinquent in the payment of a ground water charge. Such temporary restraining order shall be returnable to said court on or before 10 days after its issuance.

The court may issue and grant an injunction restraining and prohibiting the named defendant from the operation of any water-producing facility when it is established at the hearing that the defendant has failed to register such water-producing facility with the district, or that such defendant has not provided a water measuring device as required by the board, or that the defendant is delinquent in payment of ground water charges thereon. Such court may provide that the injunction so made and issued shall be stayed for a period not to exceed 10 days to permit the defendant to register the water-producing facility, to provide the required water measuring device, or to pay the delinquent ground water charge.

Service of process is completed by posting a copy of the summons and complaint upon the water-producing facility or the parcel of land upon which it is located and by personal service upon the named defendant.

The right to proceed for injunctive relief granted herein is an additional right to those which may be provided elsewhere in this act or otherwise allowed by law. The procedure provided in Chapter 3 (commencing with Section 525), Title 7, Part 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure, regarding injunctions shall be followed except insofar as it may herein be otherwise provided. The district shall not be required to provide an undertaking or bond as a condition to granting injunctive relief.

SEC. 17. Section 4.13 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.13. If the district has probable cause to believe that the production of water from any water-producing facility is in excess of that disclosed by the sworn statements covering such water-producing facility, or if no statements are filed covering any water-producing facility, the district may cause an investigation and report to be made concerning the production of water from each such water-producing facility. The district may fix the amount of water production from any such water-producing facility at an amount not to exceed the maximum production capacity of such water-producing facility; provided, however, where a water-measuring device is permanently attached thereto, the record of production, as disclosed by such water-measuring device, shall be presumed to be accurate and the burden is upon the district to establish to the contrary.

After such determination has been made by the district, a written notice thereof shall be mailed to the person operating such water-producing facility at his address as shown by the district's records. Any such determination made by the district shall be conclusive on all persons having an interest in such water-producing facility, and the ground water charge, interest and penalties thereon, shall be paid forthwith, unless such person files with the board within 10 days after the mailing of such notice, a written protest setting forth the ground or grounds for protesting the amount of production so fixed. Upon the filing of such protest, the board thereafter shall hold a hearing at which time the total amount of the water production and the ground water charge thereon shall be determined, which shall be conclusive if based upon substantial evidence. A notice of such hearing shall be mailed to the protestant at least 10 days before the date fixed for the hearing. Notice of the determination by the board shall be mailed to each protestant, who shall have 20 days from the date of mailing to pay the ground water charge, interest or penalties provided by the provisions of this act.

Notice as required in this section shall be given by deposit thereof in any postal facility regularly maintained by the government of the United States in a sealed envelope with postage paid, addressed to the person on whom it is served at his name and address as disclosed by the records of the district. The service is complete at the time of deposit.

SEC. 18. Section 4.14 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.14. The district may bring a suit in the court having jurisdiction against any operator of a water-producing facility within the district for the collection of any delinquent ground water charge. The court having jurisdiction of said suit, may, in addition to allowing recovery of costs to said district as allowed by law, fix and allow as part of the judgment interest and penalties as provided in Section 4.9. Should the district, as a provisional remedy in bringing such suit, seek an attachment against the property of any named defendant therein, the district shall not be required to provide a bond or undertaking as is otherwise provided for in Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 537), Title 7, Part 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

SEC. 19. Section 4.15 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.15. It shall be unlawful to produce water from any water-producing facility required to be registered pursuant to the terms of this act unless such water-producing facility has been registered with the district within the time required by the provisions of this act and, if required by the board, has a water-measuring device affixed capable of registering the accumulated amount of water produced therefrom.

This section is not applicable to operators of water-producing facilities having a discharge opening not greater than the size specified by the board under Section 4.9 of this act, and which do not provide water for an area in excess of five acres.

Violation of this provision shall be punishable by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500), or imprisonment in the county jail for not to exceed six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Each day of operation in violation hereof shall constitute a separate offense.

SEC. 20. Section 4.16 is added to said act, to read:

Sec. 4.16. Any person who injures, alters, removes, resets, adjusts, manipulates, obstructs or in any manner interferes or tampers with or procures or causes or directs any person to injure, alter, remove, reset, adjust, manipulate, obstruct or in any manner interfere or tamper with any water-measuring device affixed to any water-producing facility as required by this act, so as to cause said water-measuring device to improperly or inaccurately measure and record said water production, or any person who with intent to evade any provision or requirement of this act files with the district any false or fraudulent water production statement is guilty of a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500), or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 21. Section 5 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 5. There is a district board of directors of five members appointed by the board of supervisors of Yolo County which shall exercise the powers of the district enumerated in this act, except as otherwise provided, and may perform all other acts necessary or proper, in their discretion, to accomplish the purposes of this act. Said directors shall be residents of the district.

Of the members first appointed, one shall be appointed to serve for a term of one year, one for a term of two years, one for a term of three years, and two for a term of four years. Thereafter all members shall be appointed for a term of four years. Any member of the board of directors may be removed from office at any time, with or without cause, by the board of supervisors, a majority of the entire membership concurring. All vacancies in the membership of the board of directors shall be immediately filled by appointment by the board of supervisors for the unexpired portion of the term in which they occur.

The board of directors may adopt and enforce reasonable rules and regulations for the administration and government of the district and to facilitate the exercise of its powers and duties herein set forth and may employ and fix the compensation of all necessary agents and employees to look after the performance of any work or improvement provided in this act. Each member of the board of directors shall serve without compensation, but shall be allowed his actual, necessary, and reasonable expenses incurred in carrying out his duties under this act. The directors shall elect a chairman, who shall preside at all meetings of the board and in case of his absence or inability to act, the members present must, by an order entered in their minutes, select one of their number to act as chairman temporarily. Any member of the board may administer oaths, when necessary in the performance of his official duties. A majority of the members of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and no act of the board shall be valid or binding unless a majority of all members present concur therein.

No director of the district shall in any manner be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract awarded or to be awarded by the board, or in the profits to be derived therefrom; and for any violation of this provision, such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall forfeit his office. This section shall not be construed to apply to any contract made with a corporation for its general benefit where such a director is a minority stockholder therein.

MOTION TO PRINT

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

3021 STATE CAPITOL

SACRAMENTO, March 4, 1963

Hon. J. Eugene McAteerSenate Chamber

State Park Commission—No. 10656

DEAR SENATOR MCATEER:

You have asked us to assume that, pursuant to Section 506 of the Public Resources Code, the State Park Commission establishes a general policy for the guidance of the Director of Parks and Recreation and the Chief of the Division of Beaches and Parks in the administration, protection, and development of the state park system which is clear and unambiguous and which the director and the chief understand completely.

Question

Can the Director of Parks and Recreation and the Chief of the Division of Beaches and Parks refuse to follow the policy?

Opinion

While the matter is not free from doubt, we do not think, in view of the legislative history of the bill which imposed the duty upon the commission to establish such general policies, that the director or the chief can refuse to follow such a general policy.

Analysis

Section 506 of the Public Resources Code provides that the State Park Commission "... shall establish general policies for the guidance of the Director of Natural Resources, and the Chief of the Division of Beaches and Parks in the administration, protection, and development of the state park system."

The Division of Beaches and Parks and the duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities and jurisdiction of the Department of Natural Resources and the Director of Natural Resources with regard to the state park system were, however, transferred in 1961 to the Department of Parks and Recreation (see Sec. 501.1, P.R.C., as added by Ch. 2037, Stats. 1961). Any reference to the Director of Natural Resources with regard to the matters transferred to the Department of Parks and Recreation is required "... to be deemed to be a reference to, and to mean the Department of Parks and Recreation." (Sec. 501.1, P.R.C.). The new Department of Parks and Recreation is under the control of an executive officer known as the Director of Parks and Recreation (Sec. 501, P.R.C.).

In view of the changes made in 1961, we would conclude that Section 506 of the Public Resources Code now requires the State Park Commission to establish general policies for the guidance of the Director of Parks and Recreation and the Chief of the Division of Beaches and Parks in the administration, protection, and development of the state park system.

The Legislature has provided that the general policies established by the commission shall be for the "guidance" of the director and the chief. Whether or not the director and chief can refuse to follow such policies would, therefore, appear to depend upon the meaning which is to be attributed to the term "guidance." The term has not been defined by the Legislature. In the absence of such a definition, the words of a statute must be given their ordinarily and commonly understood meaning (Honnegger v. Reclamation Dist. No. 1619, 190 Cal. App. 2d 684, 691).

Webster's defines "guidance" to mean: "Act of guiding." (Webster's New International Dictionary, 2d Ed.) "The primary signification of the term 'guide' is to conduct, lead, or show the way to; and its secondary meaning is to control, to direct, or regulate; to manage or give direction to. Sometimes, however, it may be used in the sense of advise, negating any implication of pointing out with authority and directing as a superior, and, in this sense has been distinguished from 'direct'" (39 C.J.S. Guide).

The bill that imposed the duty upon the State Park Commission to establish general policies for the guidance of the director and the chief, as originally introduced, would have required that the State Park Commission "... consult with and advise the director and the Chief of the Division of Parks and Recreation in connection with the administration, protection, and development of the state park system." (Sec. 2, A.B. 720, as introduced) The bill, however, was amended on April 24, 1959, to delete this provision and provide instead, as does the present law, that the State Park Commission "... shall establish general policies for the guidance of the ..." director and the chief in the administration, protection, and development of the state park system (Sec. 1, A.B. 720, as amended in Senate, April 24, 1959). We think that it is probable that this change would be construed by the courts to reflect a legislative intent that the policies established by the commission for the guidance of the director and the chief should not be merely advisory, but should control, direct, and regulate the actions of the director and the chief.

Thus, while the matter is not free from doubt, we do not think that the Director of Parks and Recreation or the Chief of the Division of Beaches and Parks can refuse to follow a general policy established by the State Park Commission for the guidance of the director and the chief in the administration, protection, and development of the state park system.

Very truly yours,

A. C. MORRISON, Legislative Counsel

RECESS

At 3.30 p.m., on motion of Senator McCarthy, the Senate recessed, to introduce Lorie Burton, Governor Brown, and former Senator Thompson.

COMMITTEE OF ESCORT

The President appointed Senators Bradley, Stiern, and McCarthy, Governor Brown, and former Senator Thompson, as a Committee to escort Lorie Burton, the 1963 Easter Seal Child, to the rostrum.

INTRODUCTIONS

The President introduced Senator Bradley, who then introduced former Senator John F. Thompson of San Jose, who made the following remarks:

Governor Brown, President of the Senate Anderson, former colleagues and members of the Senate, and honored guests of the day:

I feel like I did at my first talk in the Legislature 20 years ago.

I can't tell you how pleased I am to be back here in the Senate Chamber with so many of my old friends and colleagues, the greatest guys in the world, especially since I'm here today as your guest . . . and even more especially since it gives me a chance again to take up a cause that was so dear to me during all of those 12 years I served with you as a member of this very body.

I think that one of the things I look back on that gives me the most personal satisfaction and pride from all of those 12 years is the record of our accomplishments on behalf of our physically handicapped, disabled and crippled children and adults here in California. I still look back with pride and pleasure on the years of service I put in as a member of the Joint Interim Committee on Rehabilitation and Education of the Physically Handicapped . . . years of working with our own Jim McBride, with Assemblywoman Dorothy Donahoe, and with the other members of that committee. And I hope you are all as proud as I am of the leadership we showed to the whole nation in providing the services and programs that protect the rights of California's physically handicapped to the full privileges of citizenship and useful lives.

But I think you and I both know that I wouldn't be telling the whole story if we took full credit for these accomplishments by ourselves. Every step of the way—and this goes back to long before my own first term as a Member of this Senate—the Members of this Legislature were aided, encouraged, and even educated, by an organization of private citizens dedicated to the cause of service to the crippled and handicapped. As a consultant to us in our deliberations, in helping us to find out what and where the needs really were, and in creating a public climate that made it possible for us to legislate these programs, the California Society for Crippled Children and Adults has been one of the most valuable allies and friends this Senate has ever had.

I know most of you are as familiar with the history of our state agencies as I am . . . Crippled Children's Services, Vocational Rehabilitation Services, special schools and classes for crippled children and all the rest. But even as important—and as comprehensive—as these state-operated programs are, they cannot meet all of the needs of our handicapped youngsters and adults. These agencies still, today, rely on the California Society—most of you probably know it better as the Easter Seal Society—for guidance, for advice, for consultation, and for pointing the way to new and better (and even more economical!) ways of doing their job.

Because I learned over the years just how important the Easter Seal Society is to all of us, I consider it a privilege to have this chance to talk to you, not just as a former fellow Senator, but as a spokesman for the Easter Seal Society myself.

As Easter Seal Campaign Chairman for the Santa Clara County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, it was my rare honor to be invited here by Senator Clark Bradley and the California Society to speak to you, to remind you that the 1963 Easter Seal Campaign will get underway all over the State tomorrow. And I was given the additional honor of accompanying our State Easter Seal Child, Lorie Burton of my own home town, here to be presented to you. (Let me just add something personal here—if any of you think that being a Senator is hard work, that your committee assignments take a lot of time and energy, you ought to learn what work really is by taking on the job of Easter Seal campaign chairman for the local society in your own home county!)

I really didn't come here to make a speech. I think I've done my share of that from down there on the floor. But what I do want to do is to reassure you—from my own first-hand experience—that the Easter Seal Society is just as much on the job for all of us right now as it has been down through the years.

The number of handicapped children and adults served by Easter Seals this year increased considerably over the number served last year. And in the coming years it will increase again and again. The number of private citizens who take part in the Easter Seal Society's work increased last year, and it will increase again and again.

And as long as there are children like our own little Lorie here, who look to us for a helping hand toward a useful and happy growing-up, we can all rest assured that we will be able to count on the Easter Seal Society to serve for us . . . as our consciences, as our hearts, and as our own helping hand.

Thank you.

INTRODUCTION OF GOVERNOR BROWN

Senator Bradley introduced the Honorable Edmund G. Brown, Governor of the State of California, who addressed the Senate, and Lorie Burton, remarking that it was a great honor to appear before the distinguished gentlemen of the Senate who are responsible for creating all the laws of this great State. He reaffirmed the sympathies of the Senate and the leaders of California for the crippled children, and their intention of furthering an outstanding program of assistance for the handicapped of the State of California.

The Governor then presented to Lorie Burton Senate Resolution No. 30 relating to proclaiming Easter Seal Month.

Senator Bradley introduced the following members of the party: Mrs. Lon G. Burton, mother; Mr. Lon G. Burton, father; Dorinda Burton, sister; Mrs. Esther Elder Smith, Executive Director; Mr. Luther Bergdall, Assistant Executive Director; Mr. Alvin Derre, Treasurer; Mr. Henry Horowitz, Consultant, all of the California Society for Crippled Children and Adults; Mr. W. Wesley Percy, President of Sacramento County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and a member of the Board of Directors of the California Society; and Mr. Duane Holiday, Executive Director, and Miss Virginia Rich, Assistant Executive Director, Sacramento County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

REASSEMBLED

At 3.50 p.m., the Senate reconvened.

Hon. Glenn M. Anderson, President of the Senate, presiding.

Secretary J. A. Beek at the desk.

Assistant Secretary George B. Beattie at the Desk

It was thought that this article would be of special interest to Members of your Legislature and would appreciate it if you would arrange for its distribution.

Amendment No. 2

Strike out lines 1 through 23 on page 1, and lines 1 through 9 on page 2, and insert "SECTION 1. Section 2943 of the Civil Code is amended to read:

2943. A mortgagee or beneficiary of a deed of trust, or his assignee, or his authorized agent, shall, on the written demand of the mortgagor or trustor, or his authorized agent or his successor in interest, made before the recording of a notice of default under a deed of trust containing a power of sale or before the commencement of a foreclosure proceeding or recording of notice of default, prepare and deliver to him a written statement showing the amount of the unpaid balance of the obligation secured by the mortgage or deed of trust and the interest rate, the amounts of periodic payments, if any, and the date on which the obligation is due in whole or in part.

The written demand of the mortgagor or trustor or his successor in interest shall be in substantially the following form:

In accordance with Section 2943, Civil Code, demand is hereby made that a statement pertaining to that certain promissory note, $----- dated----- executed by ----- to----- secured by deed of trust affecting the property more commonly known as-----or described as follows:

(Street address)

(Legal description of trust property)

be mailed to----- at -----

Name

Address

Signature

If demand is made by an agent of the trustor or by the successor in interest of the trustor, the beneficiary may, before delivering a statement, require reasonable proof that the person making the demand is, in fact, an authorized agent or a successor in interest, in which event the beneficiary shall not be subject to the penalties of this section until [30] 21 days after receipt of statement by the trustor or his successor in interest appointing the authorized agent or successor in interest. A statement in writing signed by the trustor or his successor in interest appointing an authorized agent when delivered personally to the mortgagee or beneficiary or delivered by registered return receipt mail shall constitute reasonable proof as to the identity of an agent. Similar delivery of a policy of title insurance, preliminary report issued by a title insurance company, original or photographic copy of a grant deed or certified copy of letters testamentary, guardianship, or conservatorship shall constitute reasonable proof as to the identity of a successor of interest, provided the person demanding a statement is named as successor in interest in the document.

Delivery of the statement by the mortgagee or beneficiary, as herein referred to, shall mean depositing or causing to be deposited in the United States mail an envelope, registered return receipt requested and with postage prepaid, containing a copy of the statement, addressed to the person whose name and address is set forth in the demand therefor.

If a mortgagee or beneficiary under a deed of trust, or his assignee, for a period of [30] 21 days after receipt of such written demand willfully fails to prepare and deliver such statement, he is liable to the mortgagor or trustor or his successor in interest for all damages which he may sustain by reason of such refusal and, whether or not actual damages are sustained, he shall forfeit to the mortgagor or trustor the sum of one hundred dollars ($100). Each such failure to prepare and deliver such a statement, occurring at a time when, pursuant to this section, the mortgagee or trustee, is required to prepare and deliver the statement, creates a separate cause of action, but a judgment awarding a mortgagor or trustor such forfeiture, or damages and forfeiture, for any such failure to prepare and deliver a statement bars recovery of such damages and forfeiture for any other failure to prepare and deliver a statement, with respect to the same obligation, in compliance with a demand therefor made within six months before or after the demand as to which the award was made.

[Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, a mortgagee or beneficiary of a deed of trust, or his assignee, who has furnished one such statement as herein required need not furnish another until a period of six months has elapsed.] If the mortgagee or beneficiary of a deed of trust, or his assignee, has more than one branch, office or other place of business, then the demand shall be made to the branch or office at which the payments of the obligation are made, and the statement, unless it specifies otherwise, shall be deemed to apply only to the unpaid balance owing to or payable at the branch or office secured by the mortgage or deed of trust.

The mortgagee or beneficiary of a deed of trust, or his assignees, may make a [reasonable] charge not to exceed fifteen dollars ($15) for furnishing the required statement, except that no charge shall be made for such statement unless such charge has been specifically provided for in such mortgage or deed of trust.

This section applies only to mortgages and deeds of trust executed on or after [the effective date of this section] January 1, 1964.

Sec. 2. Section 2954 of said code, as added by Chapter 1561, Statutes of 1961, is repealed.

[2954. No person may charge any mortgagor or trustor of the real property subject to the mortgage or deed of trust more than fifteen dollars ($15) for a statement regarding the obligation secured by the mortgage or deed of trust, except that no charge shall be made for such settlement unless such charge has been specifically provided for in such mortgage or deed of trust.

The statement shall include the following, or so much thereof as shall be requested by the lender or trustor:

- (a) The present unpaid balance.
- (b) The interest rate and the date to which interest has been paid.
- (c) The amounts of the periodic payments, if any.
- (d) Other than regular periodic payments, the date on which any principal obligation is due in whole or in part and the approximate amount of the payment.
- (e) The date to which real estate taxes and special assessments have been paid to the extent such information is known to the lender.
- (f) The amount of hazard insurance in effect and the term and premium of such insurance.

(g) The amount in an account, if any, maintained for the accumulation of funds with which to pay taxes and insurance premiums.

As used in this section, "person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, or any other entity.

This section shall not apply to mortgages or deeds of trust originated prior to December 31, 1961.]

Amendments read, and adopted.

RECESS

At 3.30 p.m., on motion of Senator Cobey, the Senate recessed to introduce Nick Tehin, winner of the Voice of Democracy Contest.

COMMITTEE OF ESCORT

The President appointed Senators Cobey, Arnold, and Way as a committee to escort the following distinguished guests to the rostrum: Nick Tehin, J. W. Straley, State Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; and Ed Meyers, Chairman of the State Veterans of Foreign Wars Contest.

INTRODUCTIONS

Senator Cobey introduced the distinguished guests, and stated that Nick Tehin had won the Voice of Democracy Contest, in which over 3,000 high school students in the State had prepared and entered their own speeches on the subject of "What Freedom Means to Me." Nick Tehin is from Kerman. Senator Cobey expressed the regret of Senator Burns at his inability to be present today to introduce Mr. Tehin on this auspicious occasion.

Mr. Tehin addressed the Senate as follows:

WHAT FREEDOM MEANS TO ME

BY

NICK TEHIN

Let's take a journey into the past; let's go back to the year 1917. The setting is a small cossack village in Russia, just a few miles from the Don River; it is a beautiful time of year; everything is green as far as the eye can see. Underneath the clear blue sky runs the Don with its rippling white waters. As you look out over the village, a feeling of peace and serenity enters you. You can see small children playing in the streets, and in the distance you can see the men leaving for the fields under white, wispy clouds. And in the evening as the men return from the fields, you can hear them singing the old cossack songs. As the men near the village, you can see a small boy running out to meet his father. The man takes his son by the hand and walks with him to his house. Such a happy and tranquil scene no one would ever think that the dark clouds of terror, hatred, and cruelty could ever descend on such an innocent scene. It would seem that that small boy who played in the streets of the peaceful village and along the banks of the beautiful river—that small boy—the one who romped through the luscious green fields that surrounded his home, would be able to partake of the peace and serenity and prosperity of his village and home. We could now leave this story, for why would history or fate ever want to tamper with such a scene. It would be a shame and a crime if it could not be left as it was. Who was to know that that small happy boy was destined to travel throughout Europe and see it in all its hatred, cruelty, and shame.

The scene was from my father's boyhood home; the small boy was my father. What happened to disturb that tranquil scene? A revolution erupted in Russia; the dreaded terror came to the small peaceful village. The communists had arrived, taking what little the people had and leaving nothing but despair and ruin; they also took my grandfather, the father of that little boy. Never again was that little boy to see him. Things were then very difficult for the small boy and his mother, always on the brink of starvation. With the passing of a few years, we find that the small boy—a young man—things are very difficult for him, for he is designated as a "Kolack," an enemy of the revolution, merely because his father had a small piece of land and, working hard, became prosperous. Now we find him living in constant fear of being taken to prison—always on the move, staying in one place 'til it is discovered that he is an enemy of the revolution. And so he leads a life of terror and fear, but always with a thought and many questions puzzling him. Why must man be so cruel to his fellow man?

Why did they take my father away? Why can't I speak my mind? Why can't I be free? These were the questions, and the thought was the thought of a free man, the hope that some day he would be able to walk and stand proud; some day he would speak his mind freely; some day he would be free.

And then World War II broke out. Terrible invaders entered his homeland, and he went to war to drive them out. What followed this was a story of terror too long to be told here. The war took him throughout Europe and to a hellhole prison camp where a hundred men died a day. At the end of the war he found himself in the American sector of Germany, and so he stayed. There was no reason for him to return. His family and his land were gone. My father was one of the more fortunate ones, for his story did not end here. He was to marry and have two children and start life over again in a new land.

The love of freedom, which my father gained through his life experiences, provided a heritage of freedom for me. What does freedom mean to me? To me freedom stands for everything that my father did not have; to me freedom stands opposed to all that my father suffered. I feel that through his life experiences I have gained a greater understanding and a greater appreciation for those rights and privileges which so many Americans take for granted.

I live in no fear of men coming in the night and taking my father.

I have no fear of the confiscation of my property.

I can stand tall and proud like a man and speak my mind openly and without fear.

As Americans, you and I have the privilege of living in a land where all men are free and equal—a land where all men have the right to life, liberty, property, and the pursuit of happiness.

Let us thank God that we have such a privilege and that it cannot be taken from us.

REASSEMBLED

At 3.38 p.m., the Senate reconvened.

Hon. Glenn M. Anderson, President of the Senate, presiding.

Secretary J. A. Beek at the desk.

The terms "applicant" and "recipient," as used in this chapter, refer to any person applying for or receiving aid under any such public assistance program.

Sections 433 through 437 do not apply to medical assistance for the aged as provided for in Chapter 1 (commencing with Section 4700) of Part 4 of Division 5 of this Code.

SEC. 1.3. Section 433 is added to said code, to read:

433. During such time as grants-in-aid are provided or made available by the United States government for public assistance in this State, the State Treasurer shall pay to each county from the sums so granted (1) an amount which shall be used exclusively as public assistance equal to the full amount of any sums received from the United States government as public assistance in respect to recipients within the provisions of this chapter maintained or supported by the county; and (2) an additional amount equal to such county's proportionate share of any amount so granted or made available to this State by the United States government for the costs of administering such aid, which additional amount shall be used exclusively for paying such administration costs. (c) The State Controller shall thereupon draw the necessary warrants, and prior to audit or settlement by the State Department of Social Welfare, and the State Controller, the State Treasurer shall pay to the treasurer of each county the amount so certified.

"SEC. 1.14. Section 2020 of said code is amended to read:

2020. Amount of Aid Allowed. Any applicant shall be entitled to an amount of aid which, when added to the income of the applicant, equals one hundred five dollars ($105) [dollars ($100)] per month.

The amount of the grant as set forth in this section and Section 2020.002 shall be adjusted annually by the State Social Welfare Board to reflect any increases in cost of living occurring after January 1, 1962. The average of the separate indices of the cost of living for Los Angeles and San Francisco, as published by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics shall be used as the basis for determining the changes in the cost of living. Whenever the cost of living increases by a percentage which when multiplied by one hundred dollars ($100) results in a product of one dollar ($1) or more, this product adjusted to the nearer dollar amount shall be added to one hundred dollars ($100) and to the maximum grant payable under Section 2020.002. The resultant sum shall be declared by formal action of the State Social Welfare Board to be the monthly grants payable under this section and Section 2020.002, respectively. In giving effect to the cost of living increase feature of this section the State Social Welfare Board shall select a base month for computation of the percentage change in the cost of living after January 1, 1962. The same month shall be used annually thereafter. The ordered change in the maximum grant shall become effective on the first day of the month following the expiration of a ninety (90) day period following the date of the formal action of the board directing the change.

In computing the amount of income determined to be available to support a recipient under this chapter the value of currently used resources shall be included but the value of casual income and inconsequential resources shall be excluded.

In any case where it is found that the need of an applicant exceeds the maximum provided by this section an additional amount of aid shall be paid as provided by Section 2020.002 of this chapter.

SEC. 1.15. Section 2020.002 of said code is amended to read:

2020.002. Any recipient whose need exceeds the amount of the maximum grant payable under Section 2020 shall be entitled to receive an additional amount as necessary to meet his need but in no event shall the sum of his grant and income exceed [one hundred sixty-five dollars ($165)] one hundred seventy dollars ($170) per month.

The additional grant provided by this section is to provide additional aid to persons with needs arising because of circumstances and situations not common to all recipients and not included or adequately covered by the allowance provided by Section 2020.

In determining the amount of grant payable under this section no consideration shall be given to voluntary contributions or grants from other public sources, private agencies, friends or relatives when such contributions or grants meet the following conditions:

1. The service to be provided is designated by the State Social Welfare Board and is not covered by an assistance allowance under this chapter, and

2. The contribution or grant would not be available for expenditure by or in behalf of the recipient unless it is used in accordance with the conditions imposed by the donor.

SEC. 1.16. Section 2025 of said code is repealed.

[2025. Increase or Decrease of Federal Contributions: Change in Amount of Aid: Maximum and Minimum: Legislative Intent. If, when, and during such times as the United States government increases or decreases its contributions in assistance of the aged in this State above or below the amount being paid on January 1, 1961, or above or below the amount payable as a result of any such increase or decrease, the maximum grant of aid provided in each of Sections 2020 and 2020.002 of this chapter shall be increased or decreased by an amount equal to the nearer dollar of such increase or decrease by the United States government. It is the intent of the Legislature that any change in contributions by the United States government, whether increase or decrease, shall result in a corresponding change in the amount of the maximum grant prescribed in Section 2020.

It is also the intent of the Legislature that should the federal government require that any increase in assistance to the aged in this State granted by it after May 1, 1955 be considered necessary to meet medical or health needs of the applicant or recipient, such increase shall be considered necessary to meet such medical or health needs.]”.

COMMUNICATIONS

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, COMMISSION ON CALIFORNIA STATE GOVERNMENT ORGANIZATION AND ECONOMY
SACRAMENTO, March 11, 1963

Letter of Transmittal and

Summary of Findings and Recommendations Organization for Central Staff Services

Hon. Edmund G. Brown
Governor, State of California

Hon. Bush M. Burns
President pro Tempore, and 16 Members of the Senate

Hon. Jesse M. Unruh
Speaker, and 16 Members of the Assembly

GENTLEMEN: The report of this commission to the Governor and the Legislature released on January 21, 1963. Findings and Recommendations Concerning Reorganization of the Executive Branch of California State Government") stated that the commission was engaged in a review of draft proposals leading to the transfer of units of the Department of Finance to a proposed Executive Office and a separate Department of General Services. These proposals were based on the earlier recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Organization of State Government which delivered its report, The Agency Plan for California, in December 1959. The drafts were presented by the administration to the commission for study and recommendation prior to decision by the Governor as to the measures he would propose for legislative consideration. Testimony has now been received and evaluated, and considerable independent analysis completed on these proposals. This memorandum report presents the commission's conclusions and recommendations on these matters for action by the Governor and the 1963 Legislature.

In summary, the commission concurs that a basic reorganization of the Department of Finance is both necessary and desirable if the Executive Branch of the State Government is to meet effectively the present and future needs of the State Government and in turn the needs of the people of California. It is recommended, for the reasons stated herein, that steps be taken by the Legislature and the Governor to establish a Department of General Services separate from the Department of Finance. Such a proposal has been regularly and responsibly put forward for the past 25 years. In the commission's view, it is time to act. This action, in the judgment of the commission, will not only facilitate an improved level of general services administration but will permit the Director of Finance to devote his energy and talent to his principal assignment—that of being the Governor's chief fiscal, planning and program adviser.

Separation of general services management from the Department of Finance will, in our judgment, provide an adequate administrative framework to meet the objective of strengthening the program, fiscal management and policy advisory services to the Governor. Accordingly, the commission recommends that no action be taken at this time to dissolve the Department of Finance through the establishment of an Executive Office. The commission does not oppose administrative action at this time by the Governor which would better co-ordinate the work of his office with related programs in the Department of Finance. This traditionally has been and should be one of the important prerogatives of the Chief Executive of this State. Nor does the commission oppose statutory action at this time by the Legislature which would improve the organization of the department and enable both the Governor and the Director of Finance to meet their responsibilities more effectively. There may well be occasion now for detailed changes, including the transfer of functions to or from the Department of Finance in addition to general services.

In short, the commission endorses the basic objective of strengthening the program, fiscal management and policy advisory services to the Governor. It is believed, however, that these objectives can be attained, at this time, through the continued existence of a reoriented Department of Finance as a separately identified department. After sufficient experience with the operation of a General Services Department and the new agencies, together with related internal reorganization and changed emphasis in the Department of Finance and the Governor's Office, judgments concerning the need for further major reorganization of the central executive offices can then be reached on the basis of much more additional evidence than is now available.

In presenting this report, the commission expresses its appreciation to the Governor, the Director of Finance, the Legislative Analyst, the Auditor General and to many others who have met with us to discuss the question of how the executive branch can best be organized to meet the needs of the people of California. In its deliberations, we have met with the complete cooperation of a large number of public-spirited citizens both in and out of state government. A continuance of this same spirit of dedication and interest will do much to insure that the framework for action here recommended will lead to more effective, efficient and responsible state government.

Respectfully,

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Gibson:

Senate Resolution No. 83

Relating to congratulations to personnel of the United States Marine Corps on the 100th Anniversary of the establishment of the first Marine Corps installation on the West Coast at the Mare Island Navy Yard, Vallejo, California

WHEREAS, Personnel of the United States Marine Corps performed duty in California waters as members of detachments aboard United States naval vessels both prior and subsequent to the raising of the United States Flag at Monterey in 1846, and personnel of this fighting service were present at the Mare Island Navy Yard, Vallejo, California, in similar capacities after the establishment of that first naval installation on the West Coast on September 16, 1854; and

WHEREAS, The first permanent contingent of United States Marines ordered to duty on the West Coast established the Marine Barracks at Mare Island, Vallejo, California, on December 27, 1862—the first Marine installation on the Pacific Coast—and the assigned mission of that first contingent was to provide security for the Navy Yard as the only facility in the Pacific capable of maintaining naval vessels, against the threats to that facility posed by groups known as Copperheads, whose avowed intention was to secure this facility for the use of the Confederate Navy; and

WHEREAS, The first quarters of this Marine contingent were aboard the USS Independence, one of the most famous ships in the fighting history of the United States Navy, which was then serving as station ship at the Mare Island Navy Yard; and permanent barracks for the Marine detachment were authorized by Congress by an appropriation signed by President Abraham Lincoln in 1863; and

WHEREAS, The personnel of the Marine Barracks at Mare Island have furnished distinguished service to this nation and this State throughout their history of 100 years in providing security not only for the naval installations adjacent to their base, but for the people of that area of this State, and personnel have been mobilized at the Mare Island Marine Barracks for numerous Marine expeditions to all areas of the Pacific; and

WHEREAS, The Mare Island Marine Barracks served as the West Coast recruit training center for the United States Marine Corps during World War I and thousands of California and other West Coast men received their training at this station preparatory to service in France and other points throughout the world—and incidentally, furnished the West Coast participating football team for the only two inter-service Rose Bowl Games which were held in 1917 and 1918; and

WHEREAS, The personnel of the United States Marine Corps have just observed the centennial of the establishment of this first installation on the West Coast of this most distinguished and renowned corps of United States fighting men; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the congratulations of the Senate are extended to the personnel of the United States Marine Corps, and particularly to the personnel of the Marine Barracks at Mare Island, Vallejo, California, on the observance of its centennial as the first Marine Corps installation on the West Coast; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate does extend the thanks of the people of California to the Marine Corps for the splendid service which they have provided to this nation, this State, and all of its citizens through this 100 years of duty which has been performed in an outstanding manner; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is instructed to deliver an appropriately engrossed copy of this resolution to the Commanding Officer, Marine Barracks, Mare Island, Vallejo, California.

Resolution read, and unanimously adopted on motion of Senator Gibson.

By Senators Miller, Arnold, Backstrand, Begovich, Burns, Cameron, Christensen, Cobey, Collier, Dolwig, Donnelly, Geddes, Gibson, Holmdahl, Lagomarsino, McCarthy, O'Sullivan, Petersen, Pittman, Regan, Short, Stiern, Sturgeon, Symons, and Williams:

Senate Resolution No. 84

Relative to the proposed issuance and sale of revenue bonds pursuant to the Central Valley Project Act to finance the construction of Oroville Dam

WHEREAS, At the general election held on November 8, 1960, the people of California approved the Burns-Porter Act (Chapter 8 (commencing with Section 12930), Part 6, Division 6, Water Code). In so doing, they authorized the issuance and sale of $1,750,000,000 of general obligation bonds "to provide funds to assist in the construction of a State Water Resources Development System for the State of California." Under Section 12931 of the Water Code, said system includes "the State Water Facilities . . . and such additional facilities as may now or hereafter be authorized by the Legislature as a part of (1) the Central Valley Project . . ."; and

WHEREAS, Any facility now or hereafter authorized as a part of the Central Valley Project would therefore be a part of the State Water Resources Development System and subject to the provisions of the Burns-Porter Act; and

WHEREAS, The multipurpose dam and reservoir on the Feather River in the vicinity of Oroville, Butte County, is specifically designated as one of the "State Water Facilities" by Section 12934 of the Burns-Porter Act. It is also authorized as a part of the Feather River and Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta Diversion Projects unit of the Central Valley Project by Section 11260 of the Water Code; and

WHEREAS, The Department of Water Resources now proposes to issue revenue bonds in the amount of $325,000,000 pursuant to the Central Valley Project Act to finance the construction of the Oroville Dam, which revenue bonds will be payable from, and constitute a first lien on, the revenues derived from the sale of electric power generated at the Oroville Dam; and

WHEREAS, Under the provisions of the Burns-Porter Act, "all revenues derived from the sale, delivery or use of water or power, and all other income or revenues, derived by the State, from the State Water Resources Development System" can be used only for:

"1. The payment of the reasonable costs of the annual maintenance and operation of the State Water Resources Development System and the replacement of any parts thereof.

"2. The annual payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds issued pursuant to this chapter.

"3. Transfer to the California Water Fund as reimbursement for funds utilized from said fund for construction of the State Water Resources Development System.

"4. Any surplus revenues in each year not required for the purpose specified in the foregoing subparagraphs (1), (2) and (3) of this subdivision (b) of Section 12937 and not required to be transferred to the General Fund pursuant to subparagraph (a) of this Section 12937 shall, during the time any of the bonds authorized herein are outstanding, be deposited in a special account in the California Water Resources Development Bond Fund and are hereby appropriated for use and shall be available for expenditure by the department for acquisition and construction of the State Water Resources Development System as described in Section 12931 hereof." (Sec. 12937 (b), Wat. C.; emphasis added);

WHEREAS, It is thus evident that the Oroville Dam, whether constructed as a State Water Facility or as a unit of the Central Valley Project, is a part of the State Water Resources Development System, all revenues from which are irrevocably dedicated to expenditure in strict accordance with the provisions of the Burns-Porter Act; and

WHEREAS, As the Attorney General has stated (see 36 Ops. Cal. Atty. Gen. 163) "If the portion of § 12937 (b) quoted above were applied literally, no facilities not fully financed by the Burns-Porter Act could be funded by debt financing except in subordination to the bonds issued under the Act"; and

WHEREAS, This admission by the Attorney General of the plain, ordinarily accepted meaning of the language submitted to the voters is further supported by the Analysis of the measure by the Legislative Counsel, printed in the ballot pamphlet at the time the Burns-Porter Act was submitted to the people for their approval, the pertinent portion of which reads as follows:

"This bond act would pledge the full faith and credit of the State for the payment of the bonds and would appropriate from the General Fund the sum necessary to pay the principal and interest on the bonds. Annual transfers of project revenues to the General Fund would be made to meet bond service payments. If project revenues in any year were insufficient to meet such payment, an amount of money equal to the deficiency would be transferred to the General Fund from project revenues as soon as it became available, with simple interest thereon at the same rate as borne by the bonds."; and

WHEREAS, That the voters understood this language to mean what the Attorney General concedes is its literal meaning is also apparent from the fact that the argument in favor of the measure, submitted to the voters in the ballot pamphlet, specifically declared as follows:

"... no new taxes are involved; the bonds are repaid from project revenues, through the sale of water and power. In other words, it will pay for itself. . . . The bonds will finance completion of all facilities needed, as described in the Act . . ."; and

WHEREAS, These, the express and unambiguous provisions of the act and the statements made to the people when they voted their approval of the act, not only reflected the intent of the Legislature in submitting the measure, but also constituted the terms of the agreement between the people and their State pursuant to which bonds were to be issued; and

WHEREAS, It is well settled that the voters' approval of a bond issue creates an obligation in the nature of a contract that must be respected, and a material departure from the proposition as voted will not be upheld (see Golden Gate Bridge etc. Dist. v. Felt, 214 Cal. 308, 339; Skinner v. City of Santa Rosa, 107 Cal. 464, 465; Peery v. City of Los Angeles, 187 Cal. 753; O'Farrell v. County of Sonoma, 189 Cal. 343, 348); and

WHEREAS, If the Burns-Porter Act were to be construed as permitting the use of revenues from any of the facilities of the State Water Resources Development System to repay revenue bonds issued and sold pursuant to the Central Valley Project Act, the terms of the agreement under which the people have extended their approval for the issuance of general obligation bonds will be rendered meaningless; the revenues they are entitled to look to for repayment of those bonds could be diverted to other uses at the will of the Department of Water Resources; and, with the authority to issue unlimited amounts of revenue bonds pursuant to the Central Valley Project Act, the department could issue revenue bonds not only in the proposed amount of the $325,000,000, but for any greater amounts, so as to even further destroy the financial stability imposed by the Burns-Porter Act with respect to the bonds issued thereunder; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Senate of the State of California hereby declares that it is not now, and was not at the time of the proposal and adoption of the Burns-Porter Act, the intent of the Legislature or of the people of the State of California that the Department of Water Resources should be authorized to issue revenue bonds pursuant to the Central Valley Project Act to finance the construction of the Oroville Dam and to pledge the revenues derived from the sale of electric power generated at said dam for the payment of such revenue bonds; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Water Resources is hereby directed to refrain from issuing and selling any revenue bonds pursuant to the Central Valley Project Act for the purpose of financing the Oroville Dam; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Director of the Department of Water Resources and to each member of the California Water Commission.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Water Resources.
